HOOVER AGREES ON CUTS IN PAY, WOOD ASSERTS

Indiana Leader in Salary Slash Efforts Hurls "Bomb" in House.

PRESIDENT'S VIEWS OCCASION SURPRISE

By J. B. McDONNELL.

President Hoover is not opposed to slashing the salaries of Government employes, Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), of Indiana, told the House yesterday.

Coming on the heels of recent published statements emanating from the White House that the President did not look with favor on proposals to reduce Government salaries, the statement of Representative Wood came as a surprise, not only to Government workers but to other House members who have been counting on President Hoover's support in their fight against the salary cutting proposed by Mr. Wood and others.

The fact that Mr. Wood is the ranking Republican member on the House appropriations committee and chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee lent weight to the assurance given the House that "the President of the United States is not opposed to a reduction of these salaries."

Willing for Budget Slashes.

Mr. Wood directly quoted the President as having assured Representative Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), of Tennessee, chairman of the appropriations committee, he would accept any slashes Congress might make in his budget figures.

"Wherever there is a chance," Mr. Wood said, "as the President of the United States said the other day, we should cut and cut to the bone. He said to me, and he said to our splendid chairman, Joe Byrns, 'You need not be guided by the budget I sent to you. Wherever you want to make a cut, do so, and I will approve of any cut you make.'

"He said another thing we should bear in mind, that we can not relieve this depression by riotous spending, because that it is what got us into it, and it is time we were curbing and curtailing these expenditures wherever there is a possibility of doing so."

Part of General Attack.

Representative Wood's attack on Government salaries was a part of a general attack on various Government expenditures, and he suggested elimination of various expenditures which he estimated would save a total of $161,400,000. When asked just what his proposal for pay slashes was, however, he was not definite.

Senator William E. Borah (Republican), Idaho, however, proposed a definite scale of pay cuts in a bill introduced in the Senate. Senator Borah said that "reasonable" reductions in Government pay would save the taxpayers from $200,000,000 to $225,000,000. There was a great willingness among members of Congress to have their pay cut and all other Federal officials should be equally willing, Mr. Borah said.

The Borah pay cut bill provided that salaries between $5,000 and $7,500 should be cut 6 per cent; those from $7,500 to $10,000 by 10 per cent and those over $10,000 be cut 20 per cent.

Would Include Retired List.

The Borah measure would apply the graduated reductions to the pay of retired Government employes just as to those in active service.

The personal fortune of President Hoover, his donations to charity and relief funds and the cost of his Palo Alto, Calif., home, together with a prediction that the President would

Quake Rocks Lima; Buildings Damaged

No Casualties Reported as City Is Shaken and Terror Prevails.

Lima, Peru, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—A strong earthquake shook Lima tonight, terrorizing the inhabitants, cracking the walls of buildings and plunging the city into darkness. It was not immediately ascertained whether there had been any casualties.

The quake moved the ground in sealike waves. Electric lights went out, adding to the terror of a screaming populace. The crash of breaking glass added to the tumult. Balconies and cornices fell. The old Church of San Francisco, famed for its architecture, was damaged.

The shock sent the inhabitants, most of them at dinner or filling the seats in movie theaters, into the streets, plazas and other open places in search of shelter. Women screamed and fainted. Others prayed. Drivers of taxicabs and private motor cars were unable to control their cars, which ran wildly, while passersby dodged them as best they could.

First-aid stations reported that many women were attended for heart attacks and hysteria, while many other persons were bruised.

Hoover No Millionaire, Wood Tells Colleagues

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's private fortune was estimated at less than a million dollars in the House yesterday by Representative Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee.

Mr. Wood is ranking Republican member of the House appropriations committee. He opened the debate on the Agriculture Department's $175,000,000 supply bill for the next fiscal year with a demand for a reduction in salaries of Government employes.

Asked by Representative Shannon (Democrat), Missouri, whether President Hoover would approve a reduction in his salary and what was the extent of the Chief Executive's private fortune, Mr. Wood answered:

"He has made a lot of money, but he has given it away. My information, from a reliable source, is that the President today is not worth a million dollars."

LOUISIANA GOVERNOR VOTE LED BY ALLEN

Candidate Backed by Long to Fore in Primary; Disorders Are Few.

New Orleans, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—O. K. Allen, Huey Long's candidate for governor, swept the city of New Orleans by nearly 30,000 majority over the combined opposition on incomplete and unofficial figures from today's Democratic primary. Returns from the country parishes were awaited to see if his lead would be pulled down.

On returns from 200 of the 262 precincts in New Orleans Allen polled 51,485; George Seth Quion, 9,694; Dudley Le Blanc, 12,050; Senator William C. Boon, 74; William L. Clark, jr., 60.

Counting the country parishes available, the tabulation from 212 precincts out of 1,441 in the State stood: Allen, 52,056; Le Blanc, 12,598; Guion, 9,910; Boone, 74; Clark, 60.

Returns from twelve scattered precincts over the State gave a lead in the lieutenant governor's race to John B. Fournet, Allen's running mate, the count standing: Fournet, 188; R. D. Hendrick, 133; Earl Long, 53; Lee Lanier, 13.

Spokesmen for the anti-Long factions claim that returns from the country parishes will cut the Allen lead and they still hold hopes that the election will be thrown into a second primary. Returns from the parishes were being counted slowly.

Reports of disorders were few, but in the Barataria section of Jefferson Parish, the attorney general's office was advised that a shotgun brigade had surrounded a voting booth illegally set up in a barn with cheese cloth surrounding the voter through which Long workers could observe the marking of the ballot. The informant said voters were warned in advance that they "had better vote the Long ticket."

In New Orleans, two complaints were received by the attorney general of police interference at the polls, the claim being made that the police favored the Long ticket.

At his headquarters here, Long said: "This is a quiet election. Everything is quiet everywhere."

Long was elected to the Senate many months ago but he refused to quit the governorship until after the regular primary. He said he wanted to elect a successor who would carry on his program of development in the State.

Abyssinia to Punish Envoy's Assailants

Government Promises to Take Drastic Steps in Southard Case.

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Abyssinian government promised today to take drastic steps against several police officers who knocked down American Minister Addison E. Southard Sunday, including public punishment of the offenders.

The Addis Ababa correspondent of the Reuter's (British) News Agency sent a dispatch to London in which he said, "Sunday's assault on American Minister Southard has served to focus attention on the generally offensive attitude of Abyssinians toward Europeans and whites."

"There are fears that antiforeign feeling is becoming more intense. Incidents like that of Sunday have been all too frequent recently due principally to lack of control by the police and failure on the part of responsible authorities to deal adequately with them."

AUTO MAKERS PLAN ASSAULT ON SALES TAX

Will Begin Gathering in Capital Today for First Attack.

LEVY WOULD RETARD RECOVERY, THEY SAY

Manufacturers to Appear Before House Group on Saturday.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Leaders of the American automobile industry, the largest manufacturing industry in the country, will begin gathering in Washington today for the first grand assault on the Mellon tax plan.

These men—Walter P. Chrysler, Alfred P. Sloan, C. W. Nash and others—contend that the proposed manufacturer's sales tax will slow down the selling of cars, trucks and accessories, and will result in unemployment. Thus, they argue, national economic recovery will be retarded.

A tax increase of $25 per car, they contend, is more than the budget of the average car buyer can stand in these lean days, when gasoline and other taxes are on the ascendancy.

Passed on to Owner.

Under the tax increase plan of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the manufacturer would pay Uncle Sam 5 per cent of what he receives for every automobile he sells to a dealer; 3 per cent of what he receives for every truck, and 2½ per cent of what he receives for every accessory.

Naturally, this tax would be passed on to the ultimate owner.

To End Hearings Monday.

The committee agreed yesterday to conclude hearings on the tax plan Monday. It will then begin whipping a tax bill into shape with a view to introducing it by February 1.

The automobile people insist that theirs is a key industry, one that has led the way to business recovery in past depressions. There are many economists who agree with them.

At Saturday's meeting, the argument of the motor car manufacturers will be backed up by the manufacturers and producers of steel, rubber, glass, gasoline, cotton and other products.

Others to Arrive.

After him will come Mr. Chrysler, of New York, president of the Chrysler Corporation; Mr. Sloan, of New York, president of the General Motors Corporation; Mr. Nash, of Kenosha, Wis., president of the Nash Motors Co.; Alvan Macauley, of Detroit, president of the Packard Motor Car Co.; Roy D. Chapin, of Detroit, chairman of the board of the Hudson Motor Car Co.; W. S. Cowling, general sales manager of the Ford Motor Co.; E. L. Cord, of Auburn, Ind., president of the Auburn Automobile Co.; Alfred H. Swayne, of New York, vice president of the General Motors Corporation; Paul Seiler, of Pontiac, Mich., president of the General Motors Truck Corporation; Paul G. Hoffman, of South Bend, Ind., vice president of the Studebaker Corporation; A. J. Brosseau, of New York, president of the Mack Trucks, Inc.; M. L. Pulcher, of Detroit, president of the Federal Motor Truck Corporation; T. R. Dahl, of Cleveland, vice president of the White Motor Co.

Douglas Fairbanks Gets $61,416 Taxes Refund

(Associated Press.)

A refund of $61,416 to Douglas Fairbanks, movie actor, Hollywood, Calif., for overassessment of income tax in 1927, 1928 and 1929, was announced yesterday by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The overassessments of $53,231, in 1927; $7,507, in 1928, and $678 in 1929, resulted from recomputation of gain from disposition of certain assets, and the allowance of additional deductions for expenses. The bureau said this action followed an extensive investigation of the actor's records.

Poe's Victory in 1833 Cited To Post Essay Contestants

In many schools yesterday the students were told of the first literary victory of Edgar Allan Poe, the American poet, whose 123d birthday anniversary was celebrated with special exercises in a number of classrooms.

This story was of particular interest to contestants in The Post Washington Essay Contest because they were told how Poe entered a contest of the Baltimore Saturday Evening Visitor in 1833 and through an entry marked "Tales of the Folio Club," beautifully written, neat and bearing every sign of the most careful preparation, won the first prize of $50.

But more than the careful preparation, the neat presentation of the story and the script-like hand in which he penned it was the fact that the "MS Found in a Bottle," the prize winning story, was original in theme and treatment and bore every evidence of being the fruit of long thought and hard work.

For every contestant in The Post Washington Essay Contest there is a lesson in the experience of this poet of yesterday. Poe did not think only a few hours scanty preparation would

U. S. DECLARES DEBT PROBLEM UP TO EUROPE

STATEMENT REPLIES TO LAVAL PROPOSAL

Premier Tells Chamber His Country Will Insist on Reich Payments.

Paris, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—The United States informally advised France today that responsibility for settlement of the German war reparations tangle rests with Europe.

At the same time Premier Pierre Laval, declaring the policy of his new cabinet in the Chamber of Deputies, declared that France will permit reduction of German reparations payments only in proportion to reduction of war debts which France owes Great Britain and the United States.

The United States' reply was to suggestions made by Laval in a conversation with Ambassador Walter E. Edge last Saturday, when there were indications that postponement of the forthcoming Lausanne reparations conference would be sought.

The cardinal points of the United States' policy were enumerated, as follows:

Points of U. S. Policy.

1. The United States considers each nation's debt must depend on the merits of the individual cases and the Government will not rush into a collective resettlement of all the war debts.

2. The United States does not consider the debt problem pressing because no payments are due until December 15.

3. Under the understanding reached by President Hoover and Premier Laval in Washington, any initiative toward readjustment of debts must come from Europe. The European nations have not yet formally approached Washington on the subject.

In connection with the second point it has been pointed out that the American presidential election will be held in November and therefore man, consider December 15 an ideal time to reconsider debts, if reconsideration becomes necessary.

Despite the apparent coolness of Americans toward suggestions for extension of the debt holiday, it was learned that France and Britain are again close to agreement on a policy to be pursued toward an adjustment of the problem at the Lausanne conference, which may lead to a request for an extension.

Divergences in Opinion.

The two main divergences of opinion are (1) The British desire for a six months' extension and the French desire for a one year extenson; (2) The British desire to suspend all German payments and the French demand that the unconditional reparations continue on the ground that France reloan the money to Germany.

Most observers believed an agreement for a six months' extension would be reached with unconditional payments continued.

J. I. France Enters North Dakota Race

First Presidential Candidate in State Primary on March 15.

Bismarck, N. Dak., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Joseph I. France, former Maryland senator, today became the first presidential candidate for the State primary election, March 15. His name was filed for the Republican nomination by H. N. Tucker, of Courtenay, secretary of the newly formed progressive wing of the State party.

The Progressives, whose executive committee has indorsed France for the Presidency, will have a State convention at Valley City Monday.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Former United States Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland will oppose President Hoover as a Republican candidate for President at the New Jersey Republican primaries, May 17 France's intention to run, as a wet, was revealed today by his friend, former Representative Edward W. Gray, who said France would be a candidate in at least a dozen other States.

Hatfield Succeeds Moses As G.O.P. Body Leader

(Associated Press.)

The Republican Young Guard will run the senatorial campaign committee this year by appointment of Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader.

Senator Hatfield, of West Virginia, succeeds Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, as chairman. Senator Hebert, Rhode Island, is vice chairman. Other members include Robinson, Indiana; Patterson, Missouri; Goldsborough, Maryland; Kean, New Jersey; Carey, Wyoming, and Dickinson, Iowa. Senator Moses is up for reelection this year, and therefore must retire from the committee.

HOOVER PICKS DAWES TO HEAD HUGE U. S. FINANCE COMPANY; STIMSON LEADS GENEVA GROUP

ALSO DUE TO ATTEND PARIS-LONDON TALKS

Selection Viewed as Boon to Chances for Accord on World Problems.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Secretary Stimson by a last-minute change in the plans of President Hoover has taken over Gen. Dawes' place as chairman of the American delegation to the General Disarmament Conference and will leave for Geneva about the end of February. However, the Secretary of State will be conveniently in Europe for any meeting which may take place between Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Laval regarding any of the economic problems which also now demand international cooperation for solution.

The sudden switch will find Secretary Stimson in his old position as head of the American delegation as he was at London last year. The rest of the delegation will leave on the President Harding today and will be met on their arrival by the vice chairman, Hugh Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, who will make the opening address and carry on until Col. Stimson arrives.

Chief interest yesterday, however, was not so much in the presence of the Secretary of State at the disarmament conference but the influence which his presence may have in solving the deadlock in which the British and French find themselves on the question of continuing the Hoover moratorium.

U. S. Replies to Laval.

This quickening of American interest in the discussions between French and British statesmen which has been going on in Paris for the past few days was brought about by the note which American Ambassador Edge transmitted to the State Department yesterday as a result of his conversations with Premier Laval.

The new government of French Premier Laval went before the Chamber of Deputies yesterday two days after he called in American Ambassador Edge and requested him to sound out the State Department for any change of official views on the question of debts, reparations and the Hoover moratorium.

Ambassador Edge, it is understood, replied very properly that the Government of the United States maintained its traditional attitude of unremitting distinction between reparations and war debts. One was a problem which was exclusively European and the other concerned the United States and Europe, but no connection was possible between the two.

Waits Settlement in Europe.

In reply to Premier Laval's inquiries regarding the possible attitude of this Government to an appeal to President Hoover for an extension of his moratorium for another year or more, Ambassador Edge was equally correct, it was stated, in assuring the French statesman that no commitments would be made by this Government until Europe first put her own house in order.

The exchange of communications between the American Embassy in Paris and the State Department here was caused by these incidents. The American Ambassador was anxious to secure the corroborative action of his superiors in Washington. The Secretary of State, it became known here last night, sent back to Ambassador Edge the immediate approval of the American Government and author-

Arms Forwarded By Cuban Embassy

U. S. Attorney and Aid Are Silent on Incident in New York.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Twelve cases, large and small, containing rifles, rapid-fire guns, pistols and ammunition were delivered today at the Federal Building under consignment to "Judge Z. Medalie" by E. A. Prieto, military attache of the Cuban Embassy at Washington.

The cases, loaded upon hand trucks, were taken to the second floor, where United States Attorney George Z. Medalie's office is located. Then it was noted that the word "Attention, Mr. Todarelli," appear on each case. Assistant United States Attorney Thomas J. Todarelli noted the character of the cases and contents before entering the grand jury room, where the Federal grand jury was considering charges that shipments of arms and ammunition had been forwarded from New York to Cuban rebels during the recent insurrection.

Todarelli and Medalie refused to discuss the matter, but it was learned that the arms and munitions had been seized by Cuban regulars and forwarded to the Cuban Embassy in Washington.

Naming Blocks His Plan to Retire From Public Life Shortly.

HAILED AS ASSURING RAPID END OF SLUMP

Surprises Financial Circles; Eugene Meyer Will Be Board Chairman.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The long-cherished plans of Charles Gates Dawes to retire from public life were once more set aside yesterday in response to the urgent demand of the Nation for emergency service.

Ten days after he had announced in dramatic fashion his determination to relinquish his post as Ambassador to Great Britain and devote himself to private affairs in Chicago, Gen. Dawes was selected by President Hoover to serve as president of the new $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation. His new job will be to guide the operations of the greatest peace-time financial institution in the history of the world, an organization which is being set up specifically to ease America's acute case of economic shell shock.

With half a billion dollars of Treasury capital at his back and bonding power for a billion and a half more, America's Mr. Fixit will roll up his shirt sleeves to a lot of frozen assets, hoarding deflation and depression psychosis.

Meyer to Head Board.

At the same time, the White House announced that Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, would be chairman of the board of the new corporation. The Secretary of the Treasury and the chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board are to be the other Republican members of the board. The three Democratic members required by the law will be selected in conference with party leaders after the House and Senate complete legislative work on the measure, probably this week. Conference between the two houses on the bill began yesterday.

Announcement of Mr. Dawes' selection for the important financial place came only a day before he was scheduled to sail for Europe with the United States delegation to the Geneva arms conference. Although Republican leaders in the Senate had been consulted on the appointment, the announcement was a complete surprise to the New York financial community. In both political and financial circles, however, the nomination was acclaimed as one calculated to insure the success of the administration's elaborate reconstruction program. Quick ratification by the Senate is anticipated.

Quickly Quits Diplomatic Role.

Gen. Dawes, who has been a White House guest for several days, was with Secretary of State Stimson when the President announced his new assignment, at the noon press conference. Fifteen minutes later he had stepped out of the role of diplomat to receive newspapermen in Secretary Stimson's reception room. His press conference was a series of short, explosive sentences accompanied by some very business-like pounding on the table.

"Now this is going to be brief," he began. And crash went the fist. "I do not consider this a talking job." Bang, bang! "When one is beginning an important work is not the time to talk about it. And when we have accomplished the job it's

DYNAMITE IS FOUND IN AUTO FIRM'S FLUE

Discovery of 17 sticks of dynamite in an abandoned stove flue at the Barry-Pate Motor Co., 2525 Sherman avenue northwest, last night conjured up memories of the "box of hate" which on New Year's Day, 1930, caused the death of three members of the Hall family at Seat Pleasant, Md. Four other members of the family were injured severely.

Lawrence Leroy Brady, young Washington mechanic, who is serving a ten-year sentence in Maryland Penitentiary on charges of having been the perpetrator of the outrage, was employed at the automobile concern, it was recalled last night.

The dynamite was found by a colored porter, William Spencer, who was cleaning out the flue of an old abandoned stove at the garage. The explosive was wrapped in an afternoon newspaper dated November 27, 1929, which was about the time that fellow employes testified that Leroy Brady was working with a trigger arrangement from a trap gun.

There were no concussion caps or fuses with the dynamite and apparently it had been merely hidden in the flue and was not an attempt to bomb Barry-Pate's, police said.

Detective Sergt. Thomas Sullivan, who is investigating the dynamite cache, said last night that he plans to question Leroy Brady regarding the dynamite. The date on the newspaper definitely puts the hiding of the dynamite at a period shortly before the bombing. The appearance of the wrapper indicates that the package has been undisturbed for a long time.

Naomi Hall Brady, 18-year-old expectant mother; her sister, Dorothy Hall, 4, and baby brother, Samuel Hall, 19 months, were killed as a result of the explosion of a package which had been delivered to a neigh-

ANTISALOONISTS RAP RASKOB'S RUM PLAN

Opposition to All Who Favor Law Change Pledged as Session Closes.

(Associated Press.)

Opposition to the home rule liquor control proposal of Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee was expressed yesterday by the Antisaloon League in a formal declaration.

The league, which said "prohibition is not a partisan politic issue," expressed "confidence in the President of the United States" as the chief law-enforcement officer.

"Let there be no mistake," Raskobian 'home rule' means eventually saloon rule," the league's declaration said.

The declaration of policy was made public last night at a banquet closing the prohibition organization's five-day convention.

It covered six primary points, opposing repeal, referendums, resubmission, State control, modification and beer proposals, and said "wets are trying to saddle on the taxpayers" expenses of their "futile and hopeless" campaigns.

Director Woodcock of the Prohibition Bureau told the delegates enforcement was improving but was not perfect and ed education to control the demand for liquor while prohibition enforcement agencies went after the supply.

Applause interrupted Dr. A. J. Barton, chairman of the league executive committee, several times during his address on "What Will Dixie Do in 1932." Barton said "it is well known and well understood by all thoughtful and observant people that prohibition was the chief issue" in the 1928 campaign and that "the religious issue was not the major factor."

He assailed statements by former Gov. Cox, of Ohio, before the Democratic Jackson Day dinner here. He quoted Cox as saying "that the people should call the preachers back to their pulpits so that the people may get the truth about prohibition."

"The South will not repudiate the moral and religious leadership of the pastors and ministers of the churches and of the people as represented by the churches. * * * Another thing the people of the South will not do is to submit to the political domination and leadership of corrupt and infamous political organizations and machines, such as Tammany Hall. * * * No candidate for the Presidency can or will receive the support of the Southern people who

Mayor Takes Step to Give City's Tension Chance to Calm Down.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—A five-day "business moratorium" began today in this university city of 13,000 as a psychological sedative for jangled financial nerves.

It was the prescription of Urbana's youthful bachelor mayor, Reginald Harmon, himself less than five years out of the University of Illinois Law School, for community worries that developed yesterday with the closing of two banks in Champaign, Urbana's sister city, "just across the street."

All Urbana's business houses, except food and drug stores, were closed following Harmon's proclamation at 5 o'clock this morning of an "emergency holiday" to last the rest of the week. Circuit and county courts were adjourned until Monday.

Urbana's two banks, which staved off runs yesterday with the aid of currency brought by armored car and

Banks Lend $12,500,000 at 6 Per Cent and Say "Go to Work."

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

New York, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—Eight banks today lent the City of New York $12,500,000 as pocket money to tide the municipal corporation over the most serious financial crisis in its history.

The loan, to run until February 1, was made at 6 per cent. This is the highest interest he city has ever paid. And it was made with a definite understanding that the city fathers will introduce slashing economies in their municipal housekeeping.

Although New York has not yet reached the bankruptcy point achieved by some other American cities, Comptroller Charles W. Berry, balancing his books early this month, discovered that he had only $20,000,000 with which to pay $32,500,000 in short-term obligations due tomorrow.

Nor was there any hope of cleaning up approximately $150,000,000 more in similar notes, due before May 1.

Senate to Act on Alien Seamen Measure Soon

(Associated Press.)

The Senate agreed yesterday to take up on January 26 the King bill for deportation of alien seamen and continue consideration of it until a vote is reached.

The measure, introduced by Senator King (Democrat), Utah, is designed to prevent aliens from entering the United States as seamen. It has been pending since 1924. The Senate adopted an amendment to exclude Great Lakes shipping from its provisions.

HOUSE JURY DELAYS DECISION ON MELLON

Judiciary Committee Closes Impeachment Hearings; To Await Printing.

(Associated Press.)

A congressional jury of 23 yesterday held in obeyance its verdict on whether impeachment charges against Andrew W. Mellon warrant an investigation of the Treasury Secretary's official conduct.

Just after a cable from President Olaya of Colombia was read repeating Mr. Mellon's own denial of any conversations between the two on the Barco oil concession, the House judiciary committee concluded hearings on Representative Wright Patman's resolution seeking the Secretary's removal on an allegation of illegal business connections.

The committee met briefly behind closed doors and Chairman Sumners then announced:

"We are going to await the printing of the hearings."

It was estimated this would require at least a week and perhaps longer. Still to be supplied for the record is a copy of the original of President Olaya's cable and a list of the purchasers of the bank stock sold by Mellon when he took office in 1921.

Deny Subject Pigeonholed.

Committee members, however, were quick to deny inferences that the subject had been pigeonholed.

Alexander W. Gregg, youthful attorney for Mr. Mellon, read the cable from Olaya. He said it had been sent the Colombian Legation voluntarily and a copy given the State Department.

Gregg's translation of it was as follows:

"I never discussed nor even spoke with Secretary Mellon regarding the Barco concession nor regarding any matters of the American Government in order that Colombia might obtain credits, and the conversation with Mr. Mellon referred to in the report of El Tiempo of Bogota of August 8 of last year was in the nature of general appreciations regarding economic conditions in Colombia and the mention made in it by the Secretary regarding the possibilities that the petroleum riches of Colombia offer for its economic restoration were incidental, and I considered it then and have considered it ever since a mere general opinion in estimating the elements which constitute the riches available for the progress of the country but never as a hint or suggestion regarding a specific litigation.

Only Talk About Colombia.

"This is the only time I have talked with Secretary Mellon regarding matters referring to Colombia."

Representative LaGuardia, New York Republican, immediately called the cable "the most damaging piece of evidence in the whole hearing. It shows solicitude," he said, "on the part of the head of a foreign government for something entirely domestic."

In a brief concluding argument, Patman, a Texas Democrat, said the Colombian concession "is not the only case where he (Mellon) had used his official position to promote the interests of himself and his companies." He added:

"However, sufficient evidence has already been presented to the committee to justify impeachment action."

AUTO MAKERS PLAN FIGHT ON SALES TAX

be the spokesman for the group at the Capitol hearing. After telling the committee that a sales tax will slow up the selling of cars, throw men and women out of work, and consequently retard economic recovery, Mr. Graham will present these facts:

More than 4,000,000 persons earn their living from the production and use of motor vehicles.

Forty-one States have automotive plants.

Steel, petroleum, railroads, rubber, plate glass and a thousand other industries depend upon the production and use of motor vehicles for their prosperity.

Two-thirds of all car buyers have annual incomes of $3,000 or less. More cars are sold to persons having incomes of $1,400 or less per year than to those having $7,000 or more.

Owners of 26,000,000 motor vehicles paid almost $1,000,000,000 in special motor taxes in 1931. In addition they paid large sums in personal property and other general taxes. They are subjected now to gasoline registration, wheelage, and other special taxes, including such levies as those on drivers' permits and license tags.

Four million cars and 26 per cent of all motor trucks are owned by farmers.

An automobile owner pays taxes amounting to 18 per cent annually on the average value of the vehicle during its lifetime, as compared with annual real estate taxes on urban land of 2.4 per cent and farm land of 1.6 per cent.

Among the witnesses before the House ways and means committee yesterday were James A. Emery, of this city, representing the National Association of Manufactures, and Representative Clarke (Republican) New York.

Emery proposed a graduated income tax, a "reasonable" increase in surtaxes, and an adjustment of the difference existing between the corporation income tax and that on individuals in partnerships.

Representative Clarke opposed the proposed stamp tax on bank checks, arguing that it would discourage the flow of money.

League Group Suggests That U. S. Lower Tariff

Geneva, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—In a report to the league council issued tonight, the League of Nations economic committee cited tariffs as an obstacle to the payment of international debts and suggested that if the United States wants to collect war debts it would be an excellent idea to lower the protective tariff.

Such nationalist measures as tariffs merely prolong and aggravate the present economic crisis, the group of experts reported, adding: "Either the creditor countries must lower their barriers against imports from the debtor countries, or the prospects for recovering their debts will be reduced."

U. S. Now Is Likely to Get Scotch Banking-Conscious

By JOHN J. DALY

UNTIL William Alfalfa Bill Murray, the two-gun Governor of Oklahoma, no less, came to Washington, sipped black coffee and puffed cigaros before the House ways and means committee, few had heard of the Scotch banking system.

Even now, with all the publicity, only a relatively small portion of the populace realizes what the Scotch banking system means. Most people, in their innocence, believe that the Scotch banking system is just another one of those Scotch jokes: When he opened his pocketbook a moth flew out.

Well, it seems the Scotch banking system is not a money saving scheme at all, nor a savings bank.

According to the governor, who has a way of making things quite clear, the Scotch banking system is what this country needs, along with a good 5-cent cigar, the return of prosperity, and an outstanding man in the White House; preferably one who wears a long mustache, a wide-brimmed hat, flowing tie, white cotton sox and high laced shoes. Oh, yes—and who smokes a big black 10-cent cigar.

* * * *

WHAT the governor, suh, wants to do is simply this: Remove the 10 per cent tax on State bank note issues and fix the law so that Scotch banks in the various States may issue notes on stored agricultural and similar products. That is the technical explanation.

It will be news to most people that Scotch banks ever flourished in our American States. Naturally, it would be supposed that such institutions functioned only in Scotland.

We live and learn.

Rearing back in an easy swivel chair—an old Oklahoma custom—the governor, Alfalfa Bill, crossed his legs and showed part of the cotton crop—his white sox from dear old Dixie. Then he launched into a detailed account of the general and Scotch banking systems in England, Scotland and Wales, comparing them to the Reserve Bank system in America.

It seems, from the record, that the Scotch banking system went out of fashion in this country along about 1875. This may or may not account for the loose banking business being done nowadays. All a man has to do, to get money, is to hold up a bank.

Under the Scotch banking system a teller looked at a dollar six times before he passed it over the counter. Thus came into the language the saying, Money is tight. In truth, it was the cashier who was tight.

* * * *

TIGHT or loose, a Scotch bank is what this country needs, to prevent another wild debauch in Wall street. Under the Scotch banking system the stock market would be known as the Scotch market, and there would be precious little Scotch bought in this country with money from the Scotch banks.

Now that Alfalfa Bill has aired his views on this momentous question, his followers have every reason to believe that the Nation will become Scotch bank conscious. In this case, members of the Federal Reserve System may eventually wear kilts and hold onto dollars till the eagles scream.

A Scotch bank note is a good thing for safe keeping, if the country intends to give up its spending habits and go in for savings. Again, the Scotch banking system may be just another way of getting Uncle Sam to hold the bag-pipes.

Murray Plans to Announce For Presidency on Feb. 20

May Issue Statement Before State Convention If Advisers Insist; Spends Most of Day at Capitol; Is Congratulated on Rum Control Idea.

(United Press.)

Gov. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray plans to announce his presidential candidacy at the Oklahoma State convention February 20, it was learned yesterday.

If the Oklahoma governor's advisers think they see a popular demand for an earlier announcement, he may make one.

"Alfalfa Bill," wearing the frock coat he usually saves for State occasions, spent most of yesterday at the Capitol letting Democratic senators and representatives look him over—and congratulate him on the liquor control plan he had the temerity to suggest to the bone dry Antisaloon League Monday night.

First at the House end of the Capitol, then at the Senate end, Murray, his unruly gray hair proclaiming his unfamiliarity with the funeral black of his statesman's ensemble, received nearly all Democrats in the cloakrooms.

There was not much time for talk. The idea was to let the politicians get a view of another presidential possibility, which "Alfalfa Bill" has decidedly become during his three-day visit.

His friends believe that with his speeches, notably the liquor speech before the dry convention, he is the strongest candidate in the field at the moment, with the Roosevelt star showing signs of waning.

He has spoken here on all major political problems, and people who laughed at newspaper descriptions of his rumpled blue serge suit and homely talk have listened to him with respect. He has talked at length on banking and currency, and not wildly; and his liquor speech made him about what he calls himself, practical dry.

Murray stuck yesterday to the text of his liquor speech. The Antisaloon League dismissed it with the statement of F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, that it was an old wet argument.

"Alfalfa Bill" told the United Press that he knew it was not going to be popular, but that he was addressing "not fanatics but the people of the country." He did not mean that Antisaloon League members were fanatics; he thinks many of them may visualize as he does the possibility that an alternative to absolute legal prohibition may be necessary.

"Some day they may find that there will be no appropriation for Volstead act enforcement," he explained. "What will they do if they aren't prepared? I am a temperance man; I'm against liquor. But I can not ignore facts."

The Murray plan is for a series of treaties among groups of States for liquor control. States that might favor wines and beer would not be able to ship intoxicants to dry States.

Murray's battered brown Fedora, with the wide brim, was taken from him yesterday afternoon at the Capitol. Representative Tom McKeown and Representative W. Hastings, along with a couple of other Oklahomans, decided that "Alfalfa Bill" needed a black hat to go with his frock coat, and chipped in and bought him one. Mrs. Hastings selected it.

"I won't wear it," Murray said when they told him they were getting it. But he did. They hid the other hat.

Yesterday afternoon Gov. Murray was accorded the honor of a sitting for his portrait. Rodolphe Kiss, Hungarian painter of notables, dashed off a good likeness in the tsudio of his Mayflower Hotel suite in 55 minutes.

Among those the governor met at the Capitol were Senators Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, and J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, both Democratic presidential possibilities. He also shook hands with Charles G. Dawes, resigning Ambassador to England and former Vice President, who was sitting in the rear of the Senate chamber, talking to Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, when "Alfalfa Bill" passed through.

U. S. SAYS DEBT PROBLEM IS FOR EUROPE TO SETTLE

him a vote of confidence when debate is concluded Thursday or Friday, was chiefly a restatement of his former policies.

"The world is anxious to find a cure for its ills," he said. "Unfortunately it grasps at theories promising salvation without penance. Annulmen of reparations and war debts comes from such theories.

Duty Is Stressed.

"We could not accept a solution which would strike at the essential interests and rights of France. We have a double duty toward the generation which suffered in the war. We must not sacrifice sums due us without corresponding reduction of our debts. Also the future generations must be considered. The balance of our future production would be upset if, once the present crisis is passed, we would be placed in an inferior position because our financial overhead would exceed our neighbors'.

"The government in forthcoming negotiations will adhere strictly to principles which Parliament often has approved."

The premier also said the French thesis on disarmament—demanding security treaties prior to limitation of arms—was unchanged.

He said the world has a false impression that France is bursting with gold, whereas actually the 2,000,000,000 franc project for development of national resources has been made necessary to aid domestic markets and end unemployment.

The speech was received without any display of enthusiasm by the chamber. Laval and the new cabinet sat on the government benches, but the former foreign minister, Aristide Briand, was absent.

London, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Satisfaction was expressed in British political circles today over reports that an inquiry addressed by Premier Laval of France to the United States regarding the possibility of extending the Hoover moratorium met with the answer that European statesmen themselves must settle the problems now facing them.

The London view was described thus: It is Europe's task to straighten out her own affairs, to work out her own salvation as far as possible, before attempting any negotiations with the United States.

The belief was expressed that the air had been cleared for carrying through the Lausanne conference as originally planned.

Berlin, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—Germany was understood today to have notified the ambassadors of interested nations that the government is unwilling to agree to postponement of the Lausanne reparations conference more than three or four days after January 25.

German Trade Balance Gains.

Berlin, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Germany boosted her favorable trade balance for 1931 to $719,275,000 by exporting $55,925,000 more than she imported during last December. This includes reparations payments. The year's exports, including reparations, amounted to $2,399,650,000 against $1,680,375,000 imports. December exports were $177,975,000 and imports $122,050,000.

Reparations payments in kind for the year were $98,175,000 and for December $6,100,000.

Germany's favorable balance for 1930 was $410,750,000, with exports of $3,009,000,000 and imports $2,598,250,000. The 1931 figures show exports dropped $609,350,000 and imports were off by $917,875,000.

Spanish Mine Blast Kills Four.

Oviedo, Spain, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Four miners were killed, fifteen injured and an undetermined number trapped in an explosion at the Boo Aller Coal Mine today.

CHINA SAYS JAPAN INSULTED AMERICA

Hopes for Further Action by U. S. in Settling Manchurian Row.

(Associated Press.)

China shortly will sever diplomatic relations with Japan, the Kuomin—official Chinese news agency—announced in Nanking last night.

Meanwhile Chinese officials hoped for further action by the United States in the Manchurian conflict. "A new Washington conference" to discuss such action was advocated by Sun Fo, premier of the Nanking government.

An official Chinese spokesman declared Japan had been "impertinent" to the United States and "insulting" to China in its reply to Secretary of State Stimson's note invoking the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg pact in the Manchurian affair.

Henry Pu-Yi, former boy Emperor of China, came back in the picture again by way of Shanghai dispatches reporting the Chinese government had decided to order his arrest.

The order might be difficult to carry out, as Pu-Yi is in closely guarded retirement near Port Arthur in Manchuria, far away from Chinese authority. Mukden dispatches said he was being advocated for the post of first president of the new Manchurian government to be established, if present negotiations are successful, with the advice and assistance of Japan.

Japanese dispatches to Shanghai declared that the new Manchurian state would be "a worldly paradise" and that many "white" Russians were seeking to become citizens.

Senator Johnson protested in the Senate yesterday against failure of Secretary Stimson to produce the diplomatic correspondence on Manchuria as requested by a Senate resolution. Calling attention to the fact that the resolution was approved December 17, the California Republican asked and was advised by the chair that the information had not yet been furnished.

Youthful Bicyclist Hurt When Hit by an Auto

A 14-year-old bicyclist was slightly injured last night when his wheel was struck by an automobile on the Capitol Grounds. The boy, George Franklin Beck, of 1443 F street northeast, was treated at Casualty Hospital for shock and contusions on his right leg.

Rush Laughlin, 40 years old, of 1443 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, driver of the automobile which struck Beck, told police that dirt left from repairs near the East Capitol street exit to the grounds partly obscured his vision, and he did not see Beck until the youth swung in front of him.

Death of Aviator Still Is Mystery

Body of Californian Is Sent West as Probers of Fall Meet Silence.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The body of William C. Smith, jr., 36, California aviator, was sent back to Santa Barbara today with the mystery of how he met his death still unsolved.

Smith died yesterday in Polyclinic Hospital of pneumonia, superinduced, according to the medical examiner's report, by injuries suffered in a fall from a window of the Hotel Savoy-Plaza on January 15. His ribs and legs were fractured.

The official report said simply he "fell or jumped," but Dr. Henry Weinberg, assistant medical examiner, said a friend of Smith's, whose name he did not recall, told him the aviator "must have fallen while walking in his sleep."

The hotel management would not comment beyond the statement that Smith was not registered there, but was visiting friends, whose names they would not reveal.

Absentees Block Wisconsin Senate

Progressives Bolt, Demanding Relief Bill to Suit Their Ideas.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Progressive-Republican wing of the State Senate, comprising thirteen members, bolted the Legislature today, and refused voluntarily to attend the sessions on unemployment relief until the Conservative Republicans are ready to act on what they consider an adequate relief bill.

The result was that the Senate began the ninth week of the special session, called by Gov. Philip F. La Follette, without a quorum and adjourned without transacting any business.

Emil Hartman, sergeant-at-arms, was a busy man serving notice on the absentees that they must come back. Mr. Hartman said tonight he had communicated with all but one, and had received assurances they would return tomorrow. But if they are not in their seats when the Wednesday session opens, it was understood subpenas would be issued for them.

U.S. Troubles Cited In Debt-Cut Appeal

Italian Press Lays Stress on Unfavorable Trends in Backing Duce.

Rome, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Today's newspapers, in conjunction with their campaign supporting Premier Mussolini's declarations for cancellation of reparations and war debts, made much of American news items indicative of troubles in the United States.

There were heavy headlines over the investigation of New York City's administration, and articles on the reduction of America's foreign trade. Several papers quoted Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, as describing the whole international debt structure as a "monstrosity."

United States Ambassador Garrett, who returned from America on Sunday, was quoted by two newspapers as saying that the premier's debts articles in his newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, would arouse a favorable impression in the United States. He issued a denial as soon as he had seen the articles in today's papers.

Hounds Trail Man In Homes' Burning

Special to The Washington Post.

Colonial Beach, Va., Jan. 19.—Bloodhounds this morning led a 2-mile trail to a man accused by Colonial Beach authorities of setting fire to the home of Mrs. Charles W. Bowie, 7 miles west of here, last night. The home burned to the ground with a loss of $10,000 and was another of a series of incendiary blazes which started with the $50,000 fire which destroyed three hotels last week.

After the blaze at the Bowie home, started by gasoline soaked rags, T. K. Boulware, who lives nearby, brought his hounds to the scene. Authorities said the dogs picked up the scent and led them to the home of Philip Pollard, colored, 2 miles away.

Pollard is said to have signed a written confession that he started the fire in the Bowie home and had planned, with another man, to burn down the Boulware home before Saturday night. The man, authorities said, told them he started the fire because a white man ordered him to, saying he would be shot on sight, if he failed in the arson attempts. Pollard was held to the grand jury after a preliminary hearing.

JESUITS ARE BARRED BY DECREE IN SPAIN

Property to Be Confiscated Under Edict; Cabinet Acts on Rioters.

Madrid, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—It was learned today from a high government source that President Alcala Zamora had signed a decree dissolving the Jesuit order and confiscating its property in the name of the state.

The imformant said the decree, probably to be published in tomorrow's official gazette, also would prohibit the Jesuits from living together as chapters of their order.

The cabinet discussed the decree today, it was said, but made no announcement of its deliberations because of a wish to speak only through the official gazette.

The Jesuits, who have been expecting such an order for some time, have made preparations in many cases to leave Spain with their personal effects as soon as the decree is published.

According to officials of the order, the amount of Jesuit property which may be confiscated totals roughly about $30,000,000, and consists principally of churches, schools and their contents. The total holdings are estimated at about $100,000,000, but this includes stock and bond holdings which are held in the name of private individuals and companies and hence cannot be confiscated.

Dissolution of the Jesuit order would end 400 years of virtually uninterrupted existence. The order was founded in Spain in the Sixteenth Century by Ignatius Loyola, who later became St. Ignatius.

The religious and labor disorders that have caused turmoil in many parts of Spain during the last few weeks resulted today in a cabinet order that Santiago Casares, minister of interior, use the defense law with "all severity" to preserve the peace.

The disturbances have constituted a revolutionary movement on the part of communistic elements, government officers declared. Communists and syndicalists were reported organizing to implant "liberal communism." One phase of the movement, government authorities said, has been the succession of riots between Catholics and anti-Catholics and numerous attempts in various parts of Spain to burn churches.

Several Hurt When Reds Start Riot in New York

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Two hundred communists sought to break up a meeting of fur workers in Bryant hall tonight and several persons were injured, including homebound office workers, in the mele that followed.

Three emergency squads of police were dispatched to the park outside the hall. Two men arrested on charges of attacking a policeman gave the names of Regina Schepper, 28, and Max Kapp, 38.

WIDOWS' NEED HELD EQUAL TO VETERANS'

Cutting Holds Same Amount Demanded as Soldiers Asked 2 Years Ago.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Cutting said yesterday the American Legion and other service organizations are demanding the same relief measures for their widows and orphans as the veterans themselves received two years ago.

The New Mexico Republican demanded that the Senate create a veterans committee to handle legislation dealing with the former service men, such as the House now has.

He announced that unless the rules committee acts soon on resolution to create such a committee, he will endeavor to bring the measure up on the Senate floor.

Cutting said legion officials had asked him to deny published reports they had assured the White House they would not press for action on the $200,000,000 bill for relief of widows and orphans.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, told the House veterans committee yesterday that the bill before it to provide allowances for widows and orphans of veterans was "not in accord with the President's financial policy."

Gen. Hines said he had no formal report from the Budget Bureau, but felt sure the attitude there would be the same. Most of the widows were comparatively young, he said, and their cases might wait until another session.

"What the President said in his message covers the ground better than I can for him," Hines said.

His advice to the committee was that they ask allowances at the present time "only for that group of veterans' widows with dependent children."

Chairman Rankin of the veterans committee said he "could not subscribe to the attitude of the President on this proposition." Rankin said the needs of widows and orphans of veterans had been growing during the depression.

Man, 27, Shot in Fight, Has Chance to Recover

Physicians at Sibley Hospital last night said Temple Newell, 27, wounded Monday night in a quarrel with Gilbert Ward Lewis, 38, probably would recover. His condition was described as still serious, however.

Lewis, who surrendered to police seevral hours after the shooting, was being held at the Twelfth Precinct on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Electric Supply Firm Strong-Box Is Stolen

The disappearance of a strong box, containing $430 and a number of checks from the office of Carroll Electric Supply Co., 727 Twelfth street northwest, was being investigated by police last night.

Harry L. Carroll, treasurer of the firm, discovered the theft of the box when he opened the office yesterday morning. He told police he believed an employe, who did not appear for work yesterday, was responsible for the robbery. The checks aggregated several hundred dollars.

Veterans' Bureau Party Is Tonight

Noted Speakers Will Be Heard at Workers' Celebration.

The annual "get-together" meeting, card party and dance of the Veterans' Administration Branch, Federal Employes Union, No. 2, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the main ballroom of the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

Many interesting speakers have been obtained for this gathering, including Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia; John J. Cochran, of Missouri; Fiorella LaGuardia, of New York; Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, and Frank Oliver, of New York.

Gen. Frank Hines, director of the Veterans' Administration, and his administrative staff, will be honor guests. President D. R. Glass, of the veterans' branch of Federal Employes Union, No. 2, announced that all arrangements had been perfected, and added entertainment features will be presented. The master of ceremonies will be Billy LaSalle, well-known minstrel and stage star, and the meeting will be under the general direction of a committee comprising the officers of the branch.

Senate Confirms Naming of Elgen

Selection as Successor to Hartman Is Approved Without Objection.

The Senate yesterday confirmed President Hoover's appointment of Riley E. Elgen, Interstate Commerce Commission valuation engineer, to succeed Harleigh H. Hartman on the District Public Utilities Commission.

The nomination, favorably reported by Senator Arthur Capper's District committee, was approved without objection. Following opposition to the recess appointment of Hartman, who resigned shortly after Congress convened, President Hoover made certain that Elgen had an ironclad record before his name was forwarded to the Senate.

Elgen, who is now chief of cost work in the Interstate Commerce Commission's valuation department, has been with the commission since 1916. He was a civil engineer prior to that time. Highly recommended by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Ernest I. Lewis and Assistant Corporation Counsel William A. Roberts, he was examined by the Senate District committee at hearings held Friday.

Columnist Amuses Capital Audience

Stoddard King Lectures on Daily Task of Filling Newspaper Space.

Some of the secrets about that national institution, the newspaper columnist, were revealed to an audience of several hundred persons at Central High School last night when one of them, Stoddard King, of the Spokane Spokesman Review, spoke on the daily job of filling a column with humorous matter.

Mr. King described himself as belonging to "the quantity production school of verse." As an illustration of the type of verse with which he fills his column, he read poems on subjects, ranging from kitchen sinks to neckties, poking gentle fun at domesticity, radio announcers, President Hoover and literary tea parties.

Mr. King's verse jingles and sings; it sparkles with a lively wit, and wins generous laughter from his hearers. "I start off with a jingle, add a rhyme here, a pun there, and there you are," he explained. "When I have a lot of space to fill, I write a long narrative poem, such as this." And he read one. His audience rocked with laughter. The lecture was unanimously voted the most entertaining that the Community Institute has brought to Washington this season.

2 UNION MEMBERS TELL OF FLOGGING

National Representatives Say They Were Cruelly Beaten in Kentucky.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Two representatives of the National Miners Union, Joe Weber and Bill Duncan, came here today with a story that they were arrested by officers in Tennessee last Friday, taken to Harlan County, Ky., and flogged near the Town of Lynch.

They said they were beaten into insensibility and displayed wounds on their bodies which they claimed were inflicted with clubs and sandbags.

Weber said he and Duncan were arrested at Cumberland Gap, Tenn., by Deputy Sheriff Hugh Ryder, of Claiborne County, who called Harlan, Ky., on the telephone and said "we've got your two men."

Sheriff Frank Riley, of Claiborne County, was notified and he also talked with Harlan, Weber said.

Three men then came from Harlan and took them to that town, continued Weber, where they were turned over to four men "dressed in leather coats and carrying two pistols apiece."

"This is the end of you," Weber quoted one of the men as saying. Another group joined their captors at Lynch, he said, and conducted him and Duncan up the side of a mountain and beat them.

He declared the men left them on the mountainside and they remained there until daylight, finally making their way to Appalachia, Va. In that town they were given succor by friends and remained until their wounds improved.

Sheriff John H. Blair, of Harlan County, said their story was "all news to this office." He said neither had been arrested or held in Harlan County this year.

Lyon Will Bequeaths Estate of $515,897

SENATOR REED SMOOT.

REED SMOOT, the senior and Republican senator from Utah, comes nearer to representing a straight line than any other man on the public stage of the National Capital.

Physically he is like a long, perpendicular, straight line, without noticeable bulges nor any bends despite the weight of 70 years in the course of which he has amassed a fortune, won increasing recognition in the Mormon Church until today he is the apostle next to the head of the church, engaged in banking, manufacturing, mining, and has remained as undeviatingly Republican as a theoretical line can be straight.

He has been one of the powerful figures in the Senate and was a powerful figure in the days when their opponents were complaining that the Republican Old Guard constituted a Senate oligarchy imposing its will on a helpless and unwitting Nation.

But those who would find the secret of Senator Smoot's power and strength certainly would have to look to other things than oratory. He is probably the least oratorical and least impressive speaker in the Senate, except for one thing: he confines his efforts to a recitation of facts and long ago he won a reputation for knowing his facts before he undertook to emphasize his recital with a mild, but none the less definite, rise and fall of his long forefinger. It is doubtful if the senator in all his life reached for the sky or assumed the posture of old Dr. Munyon to impress his auditors.

After his first wife died Senator Smoot remarried in Salt Lake City in July, 1930. His Washington address is 4500 Garfield street and his home is in Provo, Utah. He is chairman of the powerful finance committee and is a veteran of various tariff, tax and other battles. He probably has a wider and more detailed knowledge of the workings of the vast machinery of the Federal Government than any other person in either House or Senate.

Hindu's American Wife Back Home and Happy, She Says

Modishly Dressed as She Disembarks, Former Nancy Miller Declares East Has Met West and She Has No Regrets.

New York, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—An American girl with a $300,000,000 husband, a royal chateau in France and a palace in India, stood on the boat deck of an incoming ocean liner today and smiled happily, almost wistfully, at New York's fog-bound skyline.

The former Nancy Miller, of Seattle, was coming home on her first visit since her marriage four years ago to the former Maharajah of Indore, Sir Tukaji Rao Holkar.

She left his highness in Egypt to mind their two babies and will rejoin him after a two weeks' visit in Seattle.

Except for a tiny red spot on her forehead, the mark of her husband's Hindu caste, there were no outward signs of her conversion to the Indian faith. She was dressed in the smartest of Parisian traveling suits with a tight-fitting black coat topped with an astrakhan collar. A close-fitting French hat, a model from Paris, was set jauntily on the side of her head.

Her highness laughed at reports that her husband was displeased with her because she presented him only with girl babies.

"It makes no difference," she said "My husband's son by his first marriage is now on the throne of Indore. We are happy with what we have."

The maharajah abdicated in favor of this son in 1926, after the British government accused him of mutilating a beautiful nautch girl who had thrown him over in favor of a Bombay merchant. The abdication halted a proposed British investigation into the affairs of Indore.

It was soon after this that the maharajah met Nancy Miller in Switzerland, and their romance flowered.

"I haven't been in India long enough to understand conditions there," she said today. "Most of our time has been spent on the French Riviera or in our chateau at St. Germaine-en-Laye. It is just outside Paris."

She has no regret for the life she has chosen nor for the Hindu faith she embraced, discarding Christianity in the holy Hindu waters which run near the Indore palace.

"If I were to live my life again I should do just the same thing," she said. "East may be East and West may be West, but I have found that the two can meet. My husband and I are as happy walking together in the Rue de la Paix as we are under the shining stars of an Indian night."

HOUSE GROUP PLANS REFERENDUM STUDY

Judiciary Committee Will Consider Proposal on February 16.

(Associated Press.)

The House judiciary committee yesterday decided to consider on February 16 the referendum proposal of the organized House members opposed to prohibition.

The measure has the support of the Republican antiprohibitionist group led by Representative Beck, of Pennsylvania, and that of the Democratic wet group led by Representative Linthicum, of Maryland.

It calls for a constitutional amendment which, if ratified by the people through conventions called for the purpose, would give the States control over liquor.

Would Regulate Flow.

The Federal Government would regulate liquor in interstate commerce. Shipments from wet States into those having prohibition would be prohibited.

Chairman Sumners of the judiciary committee said the proposals would be considered in executive session.

Meanwhile several members of the House antiprohibition bloc testified before a Senate committee yesterday in favor of bills introduced by Senator Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, proposing that 4 per cent beer be legalized.

Among them were Representative Dickstein (Democrat), New York; Representative Sweeney (Democrat), Ohio; Representative Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, and Representative Sabath (Democrat), Illinois.

Points Out Chicago.

Sabath said no other city in the Nation had suffered as much as Chicago from prohibition, adding it was one of the most law-abiding and sober places in this country before enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

Dickstein said an army could not enforce prohibition and urged the return of beer.

After testifying in favor of the Bingham bills, Cochran returned to the House floor where, in an address, he contended prohibition "had brought ruin" to the American farmer.

The Missouri Democrat said prohibition had deprived farmers of a market for 1,296,000,000 bushels of grain since 1920.

Opponents of the Bingham bill will be heard later.

French Murder Victim Identified as American

Mantes, France, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The unclothed body of a man, taken Sunday from the Seine at Mousseaux, near Versailles, was identified today as that of an American known as Richard Wall, who was slain last month.

The identification was made by friends at an autopsy. Three bullets were found in the body, tending to corroborate a statement of Guy Davin, Frenchman, to police that he killed Wall on December 16 and threw his body into the river. No relatives appeared to claim the body and it will be buried here.

Attorney Upheld On Gas Payment

Supreme Court Approves Plant Sale Judgment at Alexandria.

The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, sitting in Richmond, yesterday refused a writ of error to the Alexandria Gas Co. from a judgment of the Corporation Court of Alexandria awarding Maurice Judd, Washington attorney, for $4,000 claimed to be due him for services rendered in connection with the sale of the formerly municipally owned Alexandria gas plant by the City Council of Alexandria.

Attorney Judd claimed he was retained to negotiate with the Alexandria Council for the sale of the plant and had practically completed arrangements for the transfer, the understanding being that he should receive for his services a stated fee.

The sale was eventually handled through another attorney, and Mr. Judd claimed he had been paid only a part of the fee, and filed suit for the alleged unpaid balance, obtaining judgment in the Alexandria court for the full amount of his claim.

Illinois Pay-Cut Study Is Urged on Assembly

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Illinois General Assembly, in special session on Cook County relief since November, went into a second special session to run concurrently with the first tonight and received Gov. L. L. Emmerson's message suggesting measures to repair State financial troubles.

The governor asked the legislators to consider reduction of salaries and the advisability of submitting to voters a resolution for a constitutional convention as needed steps toward rehabilitation.

Pay Scale Ignored, Labor Man States

Says Communism Flourishes in Midwest Largely Because of Wages.

(Associated Press.)

The house labor committee yesterday heard a statement that "communism is flourishing in the Midwest," largely because of low wages.

The witness was Ray King, of Rock Island, Ill., secretary of a Midwest waterway protective labor association. He cited salaries being paid by the Merrick, Chapman & Whitney Corporation, for work on a dam and lock in the Mississippi, near Davenport, Iowa. In many instances, he said, prevailing wage scales are not being followed on that job as required by law. King added that Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army engineers, had been asked to make an investigation, but held the wages were not unduly low.

"I don't know where he got that information in his investigation, if any," King said. "He didn't consult us; he didn't consult our mayor or our Chamber of Commerce."

Waldorf-Astoria Has $40,000 Theft

Showcase Lock Is Smashed in Elite "Peacock Alley" of New York Hotel.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Luxurious "Peacock Alley," in the new Waldorf-Astoria, was the scene last night of a $40,000 jewel robbery.

The gems were in a large showcase owned by Cecil Partridge, of London, who has a shop several blocks north of the hotel. Some time during the night a thief smashed the lock and went away with what he could carry.

The theft was discovered by an employe, Charles Fox, when he arrived at 10:30 a. m. today to rearrange the exhibit. The loss was covered by insurance, a member of the firm said. He estimated the value of the missing pieces at $40,000, describing them as a "few antique pieces and some pewter."

WAR ON HYPOCRISY ADVOCATED BY HORR

House Member's Address Opens Membership Drive by Women's Wet Group.

Officially opening the membership drive of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform at temporary headquarters, 709 Fourteenth street northwest, yesterday, Representative Ralph Horr, of Washington, urged all citizens to unite in eliminating the "hypocrisy which is today the controlling element in our Government."

Public opinion gradually is crystallizing against the obvious hypocrisy of existing prohibition laws, he said, pointing to the fact that his own State is now considering a repeal of its bone dry laws. While he recognizes the sincerity of the leaders of the prohibition forces, he added, thinking citizens could scarcely advocate their stand of "not voting for any man who takes a drink," for this would exclude not only most of the able men and those in high official places today, "but the Father of His Country himself as well as all of our great statesmen of the past."

Representative Horr was the first recruit of the membership committee, signing the card which admits him as a Crusader, the cooperating men's organization which is working with the women for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. John W. Dryden, director of the Crusaders, and Mr. Rufus Lusk, executive vice chairman, addressed the meeting briefly, each congratulating the women upon their efforts and predicting the ultimate success of the movement.

Miss Bell Gurnee, chairman of the D. C. Council, introduced the speakers. Following the program, Mrs. Frederick Solger, chairman of the membership committee, assisted by a group of volunteer workers, were kept busy enrolling new members.

Mrs. Solger and her membership committee will be assisted in the drive by officers of the local council who include Miss Gurnee, chairman; Representative Mary T. Norton, Miss Elizabeth Harris, Mrs. Henry Leonard, vice chairmen; Mrs. W. B. Mason, secretary, and Mrs. John F. Dryden, treasurer.

Sister Ship of DO-X Launched in Germany

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—A new Dornier flying boat DO-X III, sister ship of the craft that flew the South Atlantic, was launched today on Lake Constance and will be tested tomorrow for delivery to an Italian concern.

BANKS' LOAN AVERTS CRISIS IN NEW YORK

The first of the 1932 taxes are not due until that date, and the size of the anticipated collections is purely one of speculation.

Meanwhile, the police, school teachers and other city employes are assured of their wages, although more than 2,000 temporary workers have not been paid since January 1.

In the matter of telling New York to economize, the bankers were as stern as a country financier advising a client that he can't afford a new flivver. They were particularly insistent that certain institutions, such as the ferries and subways, should be put on a paying basis. It was hinted that an increase in the subway fare, now 5 cents, might be one solution of the problem. The city is part owner and part operator of the lines.

The proposal to boost fares brought wails of anguish from the politician-financiers. Subway fares always have been a matter of politics. John F. Hylan went into office on the issue time after time. Mayor James J. Walker and his cabinet do not dare to raise them, but they have promised other economies, and began the reduction a few days ago by slicing $110,000,000 worth of contemplated public projects from their program.

The school department will save $1,380,000 by eliminating repairs—however badly they are needed.

And one department head—not named—announced he could save $33, and that was the best he could do.

The size of New York City's financial problem is such as to warrant an international consortium of bankers to handle it. Funded indebtedness has reached nearly $2,500,000,000, and on this sum the city pays in interest each year $92,435,000.

Here is a debt larger than that of the entire Argentine Republic; larger than Austria's internal and external debts combined; half as great as the Kingdom of Italy's obligations; greater than the debts of Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

The unfortunate phase of this poverty is that public improvements, which should be made at this time, when costs of material are low and the labor market is flooded, will have to await money. And there is no money.

New York is far behind of its program for construction of a modernized sewerage system. Its water sources need replenishing. It has only recently taken up the problem of ending beach contamination, and this health measure will have to be shelved.

But because the bankers kindly accommodated at 6 per cent, the city will be able to pay, until May 1, its rents and its contractors' bills.

Irked Union Car Drivers Halt Woman's Funeral

Chicago, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson today felt the force of an edict of a livery chauffeurs' union that private automobiles shall not take part in funeral corteges in which union drivers participate.

The funeral of his mother, Mrs. Mathilda Johnson, was halted temporarily midway to the cemetery by the union drivers until owners of private cars agreed to drop out of the procession and follow at a distance no closer than three blocks.

URBANA DECLARES BUSINESS HOLIDAY

airplane from the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago, declared a holiday with other business establishments. Their officers, however, maintained they had ample funds to meet liabilities and keep open.

Closing of the two Champaign banks yesterday, including the city's largest financial institution, the First National, brought to three the number of banks in that city to close within 60 days. The University State, principally a student depository, closed shortly before Christmas. Many students also had funds in Champaign's First National.

Business continued as usual in Champaign today in the face of Urbana's decision to close shop and give the community's tension a chance to calm down. No heavy withdrawals were reported from the two Champaign banks which are still open.

Akron Mooring Tests Postponed.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Further mooring experiments between the dirigible Akron and the mooring ship Patoka, planned for today, have been postponed indefinitely.

ANTISALOONISTS RAP RASKOB'S RUM PLAN

Opposition to All Who Favor Law Change Pledged as Session Closes.

comes forth in the campaign with the badge and smell of Tammany Hall upon him. * * *

"The South will not give its support to any candidate for the Presidency who is nominated on a wet platform or who himself is wet. * * *

"If the South is forced to a choice, it will stand in the future, as it stood in the past, firm and true to its highest and best convictions on a great social, economic and moral issue and will cast its vote for a presidential candidate committed to the maintenance, protection and promotion of prohibition regardless of party label."

Barton, who is from Wilmington, N. C., said the South hoped "the political party with which it is always affiliated" would not "under the influence of an evil and alien leadership betray the moral convictions of the South, and force upon it any choice or alternative."

He said he wanted to warn all political party leaders that if they desired or expected Southern support they must "stand before the South with clean hands" on the subject of prohibition.

Barton added he thought the South knew that resubmission would be a step toward repeal, and would not be "misled by the hue and cry about States' rights." He also said Southern voters would not be "deceived or misled" by talk of a referendum.

Regret that Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, of Philadelphia, the new president of the league, had said he had no objections to State-wide prohibition referenda was expressed by Dr. L. W. Sloan, superintendent of the Louisiana Antisaloon League, in making his State report to the league.

Sloan said he did not know whether Richardson's remarks, made in a press interview, had been correctly quoted, but added "as sure as you live, if we adopt the policy of even favoring State referenda it is going to hurt us."

Assures Hoover of Support.

The league's declaration of policy said it did not hesitate to leave prohibition questions "in the hands of the people, to be settled by them in the constitutional way by an expression of their views in the election of members of Congress and of State Legislatures."

It assured President Hoover of the league's support as to necessary appropriations and legislation to make effective his program of enforcement.

The resolution termed 4 per cent beer intoxicating and said legislation calling it nonintoxicating "would be a legislative lie."

The declaration of policy was agreed upon by the directors last week and read at the banquet last night.

No names were mentioned in the resolution except those of Federal enforcement directors and league officials.

Excerpts From Policy.

Excerpts from the official policy follow:

"The same enemies of society which so bitterly fought the adoption of prohibition for selfish reasons are angry, insolent and openly advocate lawlessness. Even governors of States practically advocate State nullification of the Constitution.

"The air is filled with the clamor of jangling voices with various forms of destructive proposals—to repeal or to fatally emasculate the Volstead act; to legalize the sale of beer and wine; to leave to every State the enforcement of prohibition to State law alone; to empower Congress to regulate the whole question of intoxicating liquors, giving to each State, in addition, the right to determine its own laws.

"Underlying all this clamor and these proposals the real purpose is to remove the brand of the criminal from the traffic in intoxicating liquor. * * *

"Concerning certain phases of the present tuation, we declare:

"First. Prohibition is not a partisan political issue. It has never been so treated by the national conventions of the major political parties, but has been supported and opposed by members of both political parties. * * * Any question of the repeal or of the modification of the eighteenth amendment is not, therefore, a matter to be determined by party platforms or on party lines.

"The Antisaloon League of America will oppose any effort to short circuit the regular constitutional process of changing the prohibition statutory law or for amending the Constitution of the United States. * * *

Shams Are Cited.

"Second—Among the shams which would deceive no one is the claim that the real purpose of those who have proposed resubmission of the eighteenth amendment is something other than repeal. Resubmission certainly invites repeal and to call it anything else than an invitation to repeal is a misnomer. * * *

"Third—Another sham is a demand for a national referendum when no such thing is possible under the Constitution of the United States. * * *

"Fourth—Another sham is a definite proposal introduced recently in Congress, which calls saloon rule 'home rule.' Such proposals are plausibly phrased to appeal to those who advocate State autonomy. Actually these proposals mean saloons for all States that want them. * * *

"Let there be no mistake, Raskobian 'home rule' means eventually saloon rule.

"If 'home rule' means saloon rule as a fact then it declares for sectionalism as a policy. * * * The proposed home rule amendment recently introduced in Congress catapults the prohibition issue necessarily into politics and keeps it there for it will make it an issue in every election. The 'home rule' saloon plan is a completely planless plan. * * *

"Five—The demand for beer is conceived in deceit * * * really a plea for more alcohol * * * something that will stimulate and something which in sufficient quantity will intoxicate. * * *

"Sixth—We decry the unpatriotic attitude of those who seek to profit by the present extremity of the American people to advance their own selfish ends to secure the reduction of the taxes of the rich by liquor taxes from the poor * * * wets are trying to saddle on the taxpayers a burden of expenditures running into the millions of dollars for holding futile and hopeless conventions, elections, hearings, and straw votes."

Senator Sheppard, of Texas, coauthor of the eighteenth amendment, told the delegates "perhaps the most astounding fact is that men of wealth and business ability are found every few years willing to sink hundreds of thousands of dollars in pursuit of phantoms such as the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and restoration of wine and beer."

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, said "the question we must decide today is, shall we surrender to a wet rich group of outlaws and nullifiers?" She added:

"We say no resubmission until the wets give us a better plan * * *. The time has come in America for Democracy to choose between America and the Constitution on the one hand and of nullification and the wets on the other. * * * Let us give prohibition a chance—the wets have had their day and failed."

Cites "Contradiction."

Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton, of Cambridge, Mass., chairman of the woman's national committee for education against alcohol, described resubmission as "a wooden horse filled with saloons * * * playing up to the people in the big cities," and added that "State option but no saloon is a contradiction in terms."

She said the South "is the key to the whole situation," adding if it gives in, throws away principle for patronage, we shall have to go all over this fight again."

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, a prohibitionist, said in an address prepared for delivery, the "most dangerous opposition to prohibition is the official element that disregards its oath of office.

"Too many judges of the courts," he added, "choose to follow their private desires and habits rather than the mandates of the law. It is my opinion that an impeachment of the Federal judges who are disregarding this law would contribute very greatly to its enforcement and enforcement means temperance."

Brookhart was not able to attend the session last night and his address was canceled.

Denounces Tactics of Wets.

Bishop Edward H. Hughes, of Chicago, presented what he considered to be the four main phases of anti-prohibition tactics. These, he said, were: Anonymousness, indefiniteness, untruthfulness and unlawfulness.

Hughes assailed the Crusaders, an antiprohibition organization, as "represented in the theft of a holy name out of history, until a lot of our young people walk under that stolen banner."

"The wets are always presenting manufactured statistics," he said.

"They are the slanderers of the young people by asserting the youth of this country is drinking more. If all the wet liars go to perdition, it will have Japan's problem of overpopulation."

ROOSEVELT NAMING QUICKLY APPROVED

New Governor General of Philippines Will Sail for Islands February 6.

Theodore Roosevelt received his appointment yesterday from President Hoover as Governor General of the Philippines and the appointment was approved in exactly ten seconds by the Senate, a record for that deliberative body.

He will sail from Seattle, Wash., on February 6, on the steamship President Taft to take up his new duties. His wife and daughter, Grace, will accompany him.

The Philippine mission to the United States gave a dinner in his honor yesterday afternoon, and after a few days of conferences he will leave for Seattle.

Gov. Roosevelt's career has many parallels with that of his father. He was wounded and decorated for gallantry in the World War; he held a seat in the New York State Assembly; he served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy; hunted big game in the Himilayas and gave up other expeditions to accept the position of Governor of Porto Rico in 1927, a position he held until selected for the Philippine government by President Hoover.

The War Department announced the date of his sailing yesterday and also said that Mr. Roosevelt is anxious to get to the islands as quickly as possible.

Collection of $8 Bill Nets Verdict of $2,000

A verdict awarding Mrs. Sarah Morganstein, 503 Four-and-a-Half street southwest, $2,000 was returned in the court of Justice Oscar R. Luhring yesterday against Meyer Cohen and his wife, Bessie, storekeepers of 2326 Georgia avenue northwest.

The case involved an attempt by the Cohens to collect an $8 bill from Mrs. Morganstein, who charged, through Attorneys Welch, Dailey & Welch, that she had been beaten and verbally abused by the Cohens in their store on June 29, 1929.

District Man Will Get Decoration From Navy

"For distinguished service in the line of his profession in connection with the preliminary stages of development and testing of the submarine escape device known as the 'lung,'" Chief Boatswain's Mate Roy Harrison Syphax, 1640 W street southeast, of the Naval Reserves, will be awarded a Navy Cross next Monday night at the Washington Navy Yard.

Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, commandant of the navy yard, will make the presentation in the name of the President. An inspection of the First Battalion will precede the ceremony.

Employe Sent to Bank With $114 Is Missing

A youthful employe of John E. Pope, operator of a plumbing shop at 1637 Dix street northeast, was being sought last night after he had left the shop to go to a bank and failed to return.

Mr. Pope told police he had given the boy, who is 19 years of age, $114 to deposit to the firm's account in the Southern Maryland Trust Co. The boy did not return to the shop and never reached the bank, according to the report to the police.

Traffic on G Street Tied Up by Shop Fire

Traffic on downtown G street was tied up more than fifteen minutes last night while firemen fought a stubborn blaze in the rear of Stanley's millinery shop at 1207 G street.

A passerby discovered the fire and summoned apparatus. Firemen were forced to break a large plate-glass door to gain entrance. The fire was extinguished, with only slight damage.

Women Fill Court To Hear Mrs. Judd

Trunk Slayer's Face Blank While Phoenix Jurors Are Chosen.

Courthouse, Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Faces were scratched and clothes torn today as spectators fought to see the start of the Winnie Ruth Judd murder trial. Only 35 men and 27 women were able to get into the courtroom, already crowded with prospective jurors.

Counsel for Mrs. Judd, laying the foundation for their intended insanity defense, struck sparks quickly from the prosecution as the confessed slayer of Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson spent her first day before the court which holds for her life or death.

Mrs. Judd is being tried for murder of Mrs. Leroi, whose body, with that of Miss Samuelson, was found in a Los Angeles railway station last October 19, having been sent from Phoenix by Mrs. Judd as baggage.

At the end of the first trial session 14 tentative jurors had been accepted. Five had been rejected. Under Arizona law, a panel of 23 must be seated before either prosecution or defense may exercise peremptory challenges. From the tentative panel of 29 the defense peremptorily may remove 10 and the prosecution 7.

Mrs. Judd's face remained blank and her large pale blue eyes expressionless as the crowd scrambled and surged about her during her short journey from the county jail to the courtroom. Once free of the mob she walked alone to her seat at the counsel table.

Dramatic Group to Hear Dr. Wilbur.

Dr. William Allen Wilbur, professor of literature at George Washington University, will address the weekly meeting of the Dramatic Society at the Jewish Community Center at 8:15 tonight. He has chosen as his subject, Robert Browning's literary epic, "The Ring and the Book." Milton Sacks will act as chairman of the evening and will lead the discussion which is to follow. The meeting is open to the public.

Excise Tax on Autos Attacked.

PHILIPPINE GROUP HONORS NEW GOVERNOR

KEYNOTE IS SOUNDED FOR DRIVE OF CHEST

"None Who Deserves Shall Suffer" to Be Stressed in 1932 Campaign.

Quoting from a speech by President Hoover that "none who deserves shall suffer," Edward F. Colladay, chairman of the Community Chest campaign committee, told members of the speakers' unit at their final rally at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday that this expression should be the keynote of every address made between now and the end of the campaign. Mr. Colladay advised against generalities and urged the speakers to use specific instances showing how the Community Chest provides that "none in Washington who deserves shall suffer."

Chairman Joseph D. (Radio Joe) Kaufman in calling the meeting to order pointed out that the work of the unit embraces over 1,500 speaking engagements, almost twice as many as last year.

Newbold Noyes, vice chairman of the special gifts unit, pointed out that the public will not understand cold, economic figures and told the speakers that they must vividly picture the desperate need.

Walter B. Clarkson, vice chairman of the group solicitation unit, stated that this group had to solicit more than 600 places of business employing 20 or more people, with a total of 63,000 employes. He pointed out that last year's results showed increased gifts where a speaker was used and urged members of the unit to appear before as many of these groups as possible.

The invocation was delivered by the Right Rev. William F. McDowell, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and at the conclusion of the meeting the group stood for a moment in respect to the late William Knowles Cooper, who before his recent death was prominently associated with the speakers unit.

Final instruction meetings were held last night by regions 2, 3 and 5, of the Metropolitan unit of the Community Chest campaign committee. Regions 2 and 3, with Chairmen Mark Lansburgh and James E. Colliflower, respectively, presiding, met in separate rooms at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building. Region 5, of which Dr. Kelly Miller, of Howard University, is chairman, met at the Whitelaw Hotel.

A flying squadron, composed of H. L. Rust, jr., chairman of the metropolitan unit; Joseph D. (Radio Joe) Kaufman, chairman of the speakers' unit, and Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, made the rounds of the three meetings, each making a talk at each meeting.

Maurice Bisgyer, Adjt. Charles Dodd and Maj. Campbell C. Johnson, secretaries, respectively, of regions 2, 3 and 5, reported that supplies for the workers were ready for distribution and that each region is practically organized and ready for the campaign, which starts Sunday.

Herbert L. Willett, jr., assistant director of the Community Chest, will broadcast at 10 o'clock this morning from Station WJSV about the Chest.

Further Cut in Sugar Crop Sought.

The Hague, Holland, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Expressing grave fears of a further fall in prices, Mynheer Hartman, head of the Java delegation to the international sugar council, said today that the question of restricting more severely the production of sugar would be reopened.

Brotherhood to Stage Prohibition Discussion

The economic side of antiprohibition and of prohibition will be discussed by Capt. William H. Stayton, founder and chairman of the Board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Temperance Society for Prohibition and Public Morals, respectively, at a meeting of the Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the Eighth Street Temple.

Announcement is made that this will not be a debate. Each speaker will express his own views, and there will be rebuttal. Capt. Stayton will speak on the economic phase of antiprohibition, while Dr. Wilson will discuss the economic phase of prohibition.

GOTWALS IS CALLED FOR PHYSICAL TEST

Engineer Greatly Improved; Friends Say He Will Not Be Forced to Retire.

Colleagues of Maj. John C. Gotwals, District Engineer Commissioner, were taken by surprise yesterday with the announcement from the War Department that the Army retiring board had ordered him to appear for a physical examination. They expressed the belief, however, that the board would find him so improved that retirement would not be necessary.

Despite Maj. Gotwals' prolonged absence from his post, Maj. D. A. Davison, Acting Engineer Commissioner, and the other two Commissioners have insisted throughout that he would be able to return to his duties eventually. They discredited reports that he was to be retired.

Should a new engineer commissioner be appointed, however, one of the two assistants with the rank of major probably would be named to fill the unexpired term. Maj. Davison would be the logical choice, but Maj. H. L. Robb, assistant in charge of construction work, would doubtless be given consideration because of his outstanding work.

The order calling Maj. Gotwals before the Army board came as a result of a report by Walter Reed Hospital physicians who have had the Engineer Commissioner under their care for the last six months. No date has been set for the examination.

Maj. Gotwals is reported to have improved greatly within the past few months, and yesterday at his home he was said to be "doing fine." He expressed belief that he ultimately will be able to return to his post.

Maj. Gotwals is 49 years old and has been in the Engineer Corps of the Army only since 1913. Previously, he was graduated from Pennsylvania State College with the degree of bachelor of science in civil engineering and was in private practice. Overseas he served as commander of the searchlight depot, A. E. F. He was also awarded a distinguished service medal.

Upon his return to the United States he was assigned to the eastern division of the Engineer Corps. Afterward he was appointed president of the Board of Commissioners of Alaska and later was district engineer at St. Louis. It was while holding this post that he was named a member of the District Board of Commissioners by President Hoover.

ARGENTINA IMPOSES DRASTIC INCOME TAX

Levies Made Also on Property to Balance Budget and Avoid Moratorium.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Argentine government imposed emergency taxes on incomes, property and business today in one of the most drastic steps of Argentina's financial history.

The taxes were imposed to balance the country's budget, put its finances on a permanently sound basis and silence talk of a moratorium.

Shifting from customs duties, upon which the government has depended for revenue for more than half a century, the cabinet of Provisional President Jose F. Uriburu issued a decree for an emergency period of five years, taxes ranging from one-half of 1 per cent to 7 per cent on salaries, lands, property, securities, commerce and industry.

Graduated Income Tax.

Special graduated taxes on all personal incomes over 25,000 pesos—about $6,500—were imposed, as well as increased levies on gasoline, insurance, matches, cigarettes, tobacco, business licenses, perfume, pharmaceutical products and foreign exchange transactions.

Enrique Uriburu, minister of finance, said the taxes were retroactive from January 1, and the decrees had been drafted in such a form that although the next congress might revise details, it could not rescind or change essential features of the program.

Argentina is a rich country, and a moratorium was unthinkable, he said, but a balanced budget was essential. The new tax program, he added, not only would assure this, but should yield a surplus for reduction of the floating debt.

1931 Budget Deficit.

It was understood that the 1931 budget deficit was 125,000,000 pesos —$32,000,000.

An increase of $61,000 in exports to the United States during last November as compared to those of November, 1930, was shown in a statement issued today by the Commercial Attache of the United States Embassy. The exports for November were $2,431,000.

Imports from the United States during the same month were $2,701,000, as against $8,728,000 in November, 1930.

Exports to the United States for the first eleven months of 1931 were shown, however, to be $33,294,000, as against $69,370,000 for the same period in 1930. Imports from the United States for the eleven months were $59,507,000, as compared to $120,801,000 in 1930.

Irigoyen to Face Trial Soon, Possibly Monday

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Former President Hipolito Irigoyen, who has been imprisoned on Martin Garcia Island since he was overthrown in September, 1930, will be returned to Buenos Aires soon—possibly next Monday—to face charges of malfeasance, it was semiofficially revealed today.

Sources close to the provisional government of President Jose Uriburu said he desired before relinquishing power to have his predecessor tried, but would be inclined to pardon him, if his guilt should be proved, in view of his age and his already lengthy incarceration.

The government's decision was interpreted as showing that it regards Argentina as having nearly returned to normal. Hitherto, fear of demonstrations on the part of his adherents has kept Senor Irigoyen in an old country house in the River Plata under heavy guard.

Evacuation Plan Absurd, Bolivian Minister Avers

(Associated Press.)

It appeared to observers yesterday that the Chaco nonaggression pact neutrals might soon have a chance to demonstrate what is meant by participation through good offices in the negotiations between Paraguay and Bolivia.

From Bolivian quarters came the assurance that that country would not discuss such a withdrawal of troops as that proposed Monday to Bolivia by Paraguay. Bolivian Minister Abelli characterized the Paraguayan proposal as "absurd."

From the Bolivian delegation came the estimate that compliance with the Paraguayan demand would mean evacuation of Bolivia from 100,000 square kilometers of territory. The delegation is preparing maps and data to show the neutrals just what the Paraguayans have asked of them.

GIVE MORE

The Community Chest has come to stay. We would not have it otherwise. A return to the previous methods of financing our numerous philanthropies would meet with a well-nigh unanimous veto. If the Community Chest is the finest expression of our Washington community consciousness, if it is the composite personality of our city, its past performance and its possibilities of increasing beneficence give it an element of permanence. If it is to endure as the tangible vehicle of our philanthropic and social impulses it must be elastic and readily adjustable to economic conditions of prosperity or depression.

The present crisis through which we are passing offers a painful excuse to some and a legitimate reason to others to begin their economies, unfortunately, at the wrong end. The burden of caring properly for our people calls for a greater courage and heavier sacrifices. The problem of unemployment with its consequent trail of want and privation compels an increase of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the budgets of many of our noble institutions. Can we evade this additional responsibility? Can we fail to meet the challenge? We know the facts. They are as painful to the beholding eyes as they ought to be stimulating to the open hand.

In this campaign, people of all religions and social groups are working for one commend end. Yet, I wonder if I may take upon myself the high personal privilege of appealing to our Jewish men and women, who in the past have endeavored to do their duty, to stretch the line of charitable giving a little more this year. Aside from the pride in our own seven organizations which are receiving generous support from the Community Chest budget, we have the joyous and necessary responsibility toward all the other five dozen associations which are equally worthy and serviceable. Their poor are our poor. Every cause that is noble overleaps parochial bounds. I appeal, then, to our Jewish brethren not only to appreciate the extremity of the situation with its added tax upon these budgets, but also to strain every effort to surpass their previous fine records for generous contributions.

AMOS I. DAUGHERTY, BUREAU HEAD, DIES

Noted Fingerprint Expert Had Charge of Identification in War Office.

Funeral services for Amos Irvin Daugherty, chief of the Identification Bureau of the War Department, who died yesterday at Sibley Hospital following a six-weeks' illness, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at his residence, 2229 First street northwest. Interment will be at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

One of the foremost authorities on fingerprinting in the United States, Mr. Daugherty, as head of the bureau, was in charge of one of the largest collections of fingerprints in the world—in excess of 5,000,000.

He frequently was consulted by experts here and abroad and, working behind the scenes, solved countless problems of identification for public and private police and the United States Secret Service. His fingerprint files antedated many years the present Department of Justice collection.

Born in Crisfield, Md., in 1870, Mr. Daugherty was educated there and later represented the Somerset district for two terms in the Maryland Legislature. He came to Washington in 1897 to accept appointment in the War Department, and has been with the Identification Bureau ever since.

He was a member of Hiram Masonic Lodge of the District, and the Crisfield (Md.) Blue Lodge of Masons. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Ava Daugherty, of the First street address, and one son, Walter Emory Daugherty, local band leader.

RITES FOR JESUITS.

President of Georgetown Says Mass In Dahlgren Chapel.

Final rites for Rev. George L. Coyle, S. J. and Brother Vergil Golden, S. J., both of Georgetown University, whose deaths occurred on last Saturday and Sunday, respectively, were held yesterday at Dahlgren Chapel of the University.

Rev. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of the university said the mass which was attended by members of the faculty, students and relatives of the two men.

Dr. Moulton Says Europe Needs Purchasing Power

"What is needed in this distressed world is economic stability and an expanding purchasing power in Europe," declared Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institute speaking last night over the National Broadcasting Co. net work on the "Voters Service" program sponsored by the National League of Women Voters.

"The American Congress has indicated that it is not disposed to look with favor upon any further leniency with reference to the debts owed us," Dr. Moulton said.

Chilean Loans Quiz Urged by Johnson

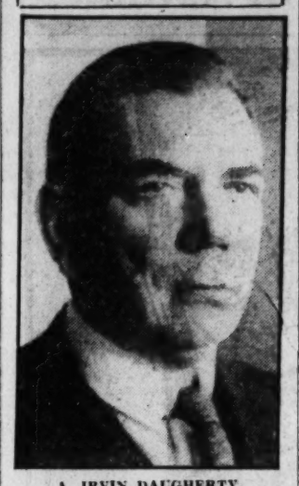
(Associated Press.)

An investigation of Chilean loans floated in this country, with particular bearing on any connection they may have with nitrate concessions, was asked of the Senate finance committee yesterday by Senator Johnson (Republican), California.

Johnson, who originated the investigation of foreign securities sold in this country, asked the committee to ascertain from the Chilean Ambassador through the State Department what loans have been extended to Chile during the past decade and the connection, if any, between the loans and the Cosach Nitrate Combine, a Guggenheim interest.

The Californian's request was in a letter to Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, pointing out that the Chilean Ambassador, Miguel Cruchagax, had asked the committee to investigate the flotation of loans to this country. "This request for an investigation of the facts," Johnson said, "does honor to the nation making it, and in my opinion it should not be ignored."

EXPERT PASSES



A. IRVIN DAUGHERTY.

OLD EDIFICE IS TOPIC OF HOT SENATE ROW

Measure Brings Debate on Art of State, War and Navy Building.

The old State, War and Navy Building, whose questionable architectural merits have been the subject of many a verbal battle in House, Senate and Washington art salons, was held up to withering scorn and glittering praise by Senate aesthetes yesterday.

It all happened before the first deficiency bill, raising House estimates $1,200,000, but leaving District estimates untouched, was passed by the Senate and sent to conference. Chairman Wesley L. Jones, of the Senate appropriations committee, sought to tighten the House prohibition against using $3,000,000 of authorized funds to remodel the old building. His amendment prohibited use "of this or any other appropriation" for that purpose.

A tilt followed in which Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), Utah, denounced the old building as a "monstrosity," declaring it full of "jim-cracks" and "spizerinktums," while Senator George W. Norris (Republican), Nebraska, defended it as "one of the finest public buildings in Washington."

"The senator from Utah must remember that when these 'jim-cracks' and 'spizerinktums' were put on they were in style," said Senator Norris, and Chairman Jones and Senator Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), Tennesse, agreed with him.

Smoot said he hoped to live long enough to see the ancient structure made to conform with the general appearance of the Treasury and more modern buildings in the Government's program. The Jones amendment was defeated.

There was a similar debate in the House when the deficiency bill was up, Representative Fiorella H. LaGuardia (Republican), New York, urging renovation of the old building, and Chairman Joseph Byrns of the House appropriations committee defending its esthetic merits.

The deficiency bill, as passed by the Senate, appropriates some $110,000 for District needs, and a total of more than $600,000 of unexpended District appropriations.

Conferees must decide what funds will go to the United States Bicentennial Commission, which received $250,000 from the House and $200,000 from the Senate, where $427,000 was requested by Associate Director Sol Bloom. They must also decide whether $33,000 of unexpended balances will be allowed for the maintenance of the Mount Vernon Memorial highway.

Added to the bill as passed by the Senate were $15,000 for investigation of crime in Hawaii, $100,000 to train Reserve Corps pilots, $450,000 for public building forces and supplies, $135,152 for acquisition of additional land at Kelly Field, $75,000 for Indian relief and $43,000 for the payment of a West Virginia claim against the Government.

Wrigley Overcoming Illness.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—William Wrigley, jr., chewing gum magnate and owner of the Chicago Cubs, was recovering at his home here today from a severe attack of indigestion. A Los Angeles physician, who flew here yesterday to attend him, returned to the Coast today.

Cold Insurance

He carries it with him, ready for just such times. That little box of Bayer Aspirin. If he catches cold, what of it? Bayer Aspirin will stop it. If his throat feels sore, he will end the soreness with one good gargle made from these tablets.

Dangerous complications can follow the neglect of "a common cold!" Every case of tonsilitis began with "just a sore throat!" It's a wise plan to take aspirin after any undue exposure to bad weather, or whenever there is any chance that you've caught cold. If it's genuine aspirin it can't possibly hurt you; and how it does banish the aches and pains caused by colds, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago, and even rheumatism.

Bayer Aspirin will insure your comfort through the worst cold season. The more susceptible you are to colds, the more you need it. Does not depress the heart.

CELEBRATIONS LAUD SOUTHERN LEADERS

Tributes Paid to Gens. Lee and Jackson in Capital and Nearby Virginia.

Seven soldiers of the Army of Northern Virginia, five in Washington and two in Alexandria, Va., survivors of the brilliant campaigns of Gens. Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, 70 years ago, last night honored their beloved commanders' birthdays.

In Alexandria, Edgar Warfield, last one of Lee Camp, which once boasted 267 members, and the sole survivor of the 700-odd Alexandrians who marched from Prince and Washington streets to join their command at Manassas, read Gen. Lee's farewell address to his troops, as has been his custom for many years.

He and Crawford Crook were the only veterans present at the annual dinner in Lee Camp Hall, given by the Daughters of the Confederacy.

After the invocation by the Rev. Dr. William B. McIlwaine, jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Mrs. George W. Klipstein, a member of the Alexandria school board, presented to Francis Coleman Rosenberger, of the Alexandria High School, a gold medal awarded by the Daughters of the Confederacy for the best essay submitted on Gen. Robert E. Lee. The medal was pinned on young Rosenberger by Adjt. Warfield, of Lee Camp.

Representatives Deliver Addresses.

Representative Robert E. Rankin, of Mississippi, then delivered an address in response to the toast "Gen. Robert E. Lee—In Devotion to Duty, Simplicity of Life, Nobility of Character, he will take the first place in the history of the Last Century."

Entertainment features were a vocal rendition of a medley of old Southern songs, by Mrs. Harry Kirk, and a tap dance by Miss Margaret Eddington, in the costume of a Confederate drummer boy.

Five gray-clad men, members of Camp 171, United Confederate Veterans, led in renewing the immortal honor of the cause for which they fought 70 years ago, when they celebrated the birthdays of Lee and Jackson last night at Confederate Memorial Hall.

Meeting with the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and Daughters of Confederacy, the tiny group heard with eager ears, their beloved Robert E. Lee and Jackson praised by Senator Cameron Morrison, of North Carolina, himself the son of a Confederate soldier.

Gen. Wilkerson Presides.

Gen. W. L. Wilkerson presided at the service. Four of his comrades, Maj. E. O. Scaggs, Col. J. W. Lockan, Robert W. Wilson and J. R. Waller, of the fifteen surviving members of the post, were at the services with him.

After invocation by the Rev. John E. Briggs, of the Fifth Baptist Church, and the singing of "How Firm a Foundation," Lee's favorite hymn, Gen. H. Oden Lake read "Order No. 9," Lee's farewell address to the Army of Northern Virginia.

All renewed devotion to the Stars and Stripes led by Marx E. Kahn. Benediction was pronounced by Dr. John C. Copenhaver, pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church.

In Clarendon, Va., at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Hatcher, the two generals were honored with Matthew Fountaine Maury, Virginia's great scientist. The three were eulogized by Lawrence W. Douglas, Commonwealth's attorney.

Invocation was delivered by the Rev. J. H. Pearson, of Clarendon Methodist Church. Mrs. Eula T. Moffett greeted the service, and following Mrs. Edna K. Woodyard sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Boy Darts in Path Of Auto; Is Killed

Fairfax Child, 5, Is Victim of Accident on Road Near Home.

Edwin Oswald Dawson, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawson, of Fairfax, Va., R. F. D. 1, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon when struck by an automobile driven by Marshall Doak, 20, of Clifton Station, Va.

According to Capt. Haywood J. Durrer, of the Fairfax County police, who investigated the accident, the boy accompanied his brother, 8 years old, across the Lee highway from his home about 1½ miles west of the town of Fairfax, to a bread truck. The boys made a purchase at the truck, then Edwin turned and darted into the path of Doak's car. According to testimony at the inquest, conducted by Coroner C. A. Ramsom, of Falls Church, Doak was driving at a moderate rate of speed. Dr. Ramsom gave a verdict of accidental death.

The boy is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Alexandria City License Deadline Is January 30

City Collector Purvis Taylor, of Alexandria, has emphasized that the deadline for payment of city licenses is January 30, an extension of 30 days having been allowed; the license fees were due January 1. This includes automobile licenses and those for business and professional men. According to Mr. Taylor, collection of license fees has been unusually slow this year.

There is a severe penalty attached to the delinquincy in payment, the failure to pay subjecting the offender to a fine of $5 to $100, or a jail sentence not to exceed 90 days, in the discretion of the court. Last year the police staged a vigorous campaign against delinquents in the payment of city automobile licenses, and those haled into police court were usually fined $10 and costs.

Arlington Board Set For Relief Campaign

Meeting last night at the Arlington County courthouse, the welfare board completed plans for its drive for funds for unemployment relief which will be added to those to be received from Federal employes.

Mrs. Mae E. Jacobs, superintendent of welfare in Arlington County, reports that she has received in pledges from Federal departments a total of $4,101.41. Total cash received is $407.90.

South Pays Tribute to Lee On 125th Birth Anniversary

Richmond Unveils Statue; Stratford Mortgage to Be Paid Off.

Richmond, a., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The new South and the old South were one today as Robert Edward Lee, the great chieftain of the Confederacy, was honored throughout the vast territory once under the Stars and Bars.

Virginia, on whose battlefields Lee waged campaigns which stand as monuments of military strategy, and for whom he labored in peace as in war, took the lead in the observance of the 125th anniversary of her famous son, but from the plains of Texas to the Capitol at Washington the day was observed by descendants of those who followed Lee in the campaigns from Bull Run to Appomattox.

The old hall of the Virginia House of Delegates at Richmond, the Confederacy's capital, was the scene for impressive ceremonies dedicating a full-length bronze statue of Lee. Robert E. Lee IV, great grandson of the general, unveiled the bronze likeness, which stands on the exact spot where Gen. Lee stood when he arose to accept the command of the armed forces of Virginia on that memorable 23d of April, 1861.

The ceremony was in the presence of a joint session of the Virginia General Assembly, nine direct descendants of Gen. Lee, a number of Confederate veterans, three former governors of Virginia, members of the Supreme Court of the State and a long list of distinguished guests.

R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, the orator of the day, reviewed the swift-moving current of events which led to the difficult decision of Virginia, and the parallel conflict in the divided allegiance of Lee which forced his decision, even more difficult than that his State had made.

"Lee's military genius," the speaker said, "shone like a sharp and shining sword" despite the handicap of the failure of Longstreet, again and again, to cooperate, "sulking in silly and stubborn pride while Southern valor drives Southern manhood to die in vain on the very fringe of victory." Even failure, he said, was powerless to make Lee blame any one but himself.

"He had led the army to defeat, but his men loved him. He had led his people to defeat, but his people adored him. He demonstrated that human virtue can be equal to human calamity, that failure can be fine enough to justify the conduct of those who fail. He died, loving the sections into peace. Lee lost, but he saved his own soul. That soul was like an Aeolian harp, delicately yet strongly strung, that was only touched to its noblest music by adverse winds."

ROBERT E. LEE IV.

Former Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, asserting that Virginia was proud of her great men, but that Robert E. Lee was the man that Virginians kept in their hearts. "He is the great Virginian we would like for our children to emulate," Mr. Byrd said.

Gov. John G. Pollard announced that through the generosity of an unnamed admirer of Gen. Lee, an advance, without interest, of $115,000 had been made to the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation to pay off the mortgage on Stratford, the Lee home in Westmoreland County. The advance means, he said, that the great estate has passed into the hands of the foundation for a shrine and without time limit as to the loan.

The nine living direct descendants of the Confederate general who attended are Dr. George Bolling Lee, a grandson, of New York City, and his two children, Mary Walker Lee and Robert E. Lee 4th; Mrs. Hansen Ely, a granddaughter, of 2023 Allen place, Washington, D. C., and her two children, Hansen Edward Ely 3d, and Anne Carter Ely, and Mrs. Hunter De Buttes, a granddaughter, of Upperville, Va., and her two children, Robert Edward De Butts and Graham Hunter De Butts.

As Virginia paid her tribute to Gen. Lee in exercises at Richmond, Alexandria, Staunton, Winchester, Lexington, Charlottesville and other cities, the anniversary was observed elsewhere throughout the territory where once fluttered the stars and bars.

Handicap of the Railroads

By H. G. WELLS

THE development of railways depended upon their capacity and speed, as compared with other forms of transport, and speed with safety depended not merely on power, but also on effective control of train movements. Traffic was at first regulated by "policemen" with flags and lamps, and later by the familiar semaphore. When these signals were worked mechanically they were "interlocked" so that a wrong signal could not be given.

The invention of telegraphy by Wheatstone and Morse permitted the movement of trains to be flashed almost instantaneously along the line and enabled the approach of a train to be anticipated with a far greater margin of time. This stage was reached in 1850.

The range of signaling was again increased when signals were operated by compressed air or by electricity, or the two in combination, and today the elimination of numan error is being achieved by the use of automatic methods, by which the train gives its own signal of approach or picks up the signal and stops of its own accord. Eleven thousand miles of road and 8,500 locomotives in the United States were provided with automatic train-control apparatus by 1928.

Meanwhile the amenities of railway traveling have been enormously improved. The open trucks for third-class passengers had a very brief existence. Seats have been upholstered, carriages warmed and facilities for eating and sleeping provided. In spite of isolated instances to the contrary, the punctuality of trains is extraordinary. The cheapness and range of railway travel have enormously enriched life for millions who, in an earlier age, would have been doomed to a narrow and monotonous existence.

ON the other hand, railway transport is inelastic in many respects. The units are large, the demand can not always be foreseen, and the fixed track limits the area from which passengers can be drawn. For this reason road transport has become a serious competitor, and it is perhaps unfortunate that the motor bus developed so much later than the steam locomotive. Instead of cooperating in the provision of a close network of economical and efficient transportation, the railways may buy up the bus services as they did the canals, solely for the sake of maintaining the returns upon lines which are, or threaten to become, unremunerative.

But it is in good traffic that railways stand in greatest need of improvement. There is, perhaps, no more uneconomical appliance than a railway truck. It has been estimated that 1 per cent of a truck's life is spent in running full, 3 per cent in running empty, and 96 per cent in standing in sidings.

• • • •

Before the war British railways were laying down sidings at a far greater rate than running tracks. They were becoming warehousemen—of empty trucks. On the continent and in America nearly all wagons belong to the railways. In Great Britain about half of the 1,280,000 belong to private owners. Railway company trucks stand empty, heavy capital expenditure is evolved in sidings, and time is lost in sorting out trucks when required. In common with many other aspects of industrial activity, transportation has grown upon altogether too narrow lines. It has neither been planned with vision nor administered with enterprise. It is burdened and cramped by tradition and routine, and each form of enterprise tends to treat an alternative form, not as a collaborator to be encouraged, but as a competitor to be crushed.

• • • •

WHY, people are asking, should the railways be cluttered up with coal trucks for the home trade in districts where canals are lying idle? Why invest capital twice for the same purpose? The annual fuel requirements of any particular area can be forecast with tolerable accuracy. Coal could be stored. A steady stream of barges would convey the requisite quantity to many districts and enable a seasonal demand to be met by uniform production at the coal face.

Transport by canal, railway and road has developed independently, and it needs now to be organized as a whole, as coordinated and cooperating rather than as competing units. And road or cross-country motor transport needs to be used to provide existing networks with a finer mesh, and to extend the systems into areas, rich in natural resources, which have not yet been able to bear the capital cost of a permanent way.

Bond Set for Trio Arrested at Still Another Freed in Marlboro Raid Was at Plant to Get Drink.

Bond for three men was set yesterday when they were arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Frank Parran in Marlboro on liquor violation charges brought by Federal dry agents operating in Southern Maryland.

Joseph Collins, Richard Butler, and Robert Butler were each held for $ 000 on charges of manufacture, possession, and possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor, following a raid on a still near their home at Brushwood, Md. William Johnson Scott, also arrested at the still, said he merely went there to get a drink, and similar charges against him were dismissed.

Francis Gross and William Briscoe, both of Charlotte Hall, Md., ere brought before Commissioner Parran yesterday on charges that they were operators of a still which was raided on December 29. Two men escaped from this plant, located near Charlotte Hall, as the agents approached it, but a third, James Jennifer, was arrested.

Magistrate Freed In Prince Georges

Charges of Malfeasance Against Downing Are Dismissed.

Charges of malfeasance in office, made against Justice of the Peace John A. Downing, were dismissed yesterday after a preliminary hearing, when Alan Bowie, State's attorney for Prince Georges County, said evidence was not sufficient to hold the magistrate.

It was charged that Downing had refused to allow either of two bondsmen to post bail for a man charged with driving while drunk. One of the bonsmen, Milton W. Brewer, was refused on the ground that he could not show proof of owning sufficient property to make good the bond. During the first part of the hearing last week Brewer was asked the amount of Maryland property he owned. The continuance was asked to allow him to collect these figures.

Yesterday he presented tax receipts for 1929 and 1930, but not those for 1931. The prisoner, arrested after an accident in which a man was seriously injured, later was released by another justice, who admitted that he had not seen the new bond law when releasing the man.

POOR ROAD TO FORT LAID TO FIGHT FANS

Board of Prince Georges County Told That Autos Ruin Highway to Post.

The bad condition of the road leading to Fort Washington, Md., is due to the number of autos using it in going to the boxing bouts at the post, Millard Thorne, chairman of the road committee, told Prince Georges County Commissioners yesterday in answering complaints made by the officer in command of the station.

Thorne, who has charge of road work in Piscataway District, said that the road to Fort Washington from the Livingston road received more than its fair share of work. In spite of this, he said, it is impossible to keep it in excellent shape, due to the heavy traffic. On the occasion of the boxing bouts, as many as 1,000 cars use it in a night, and this tears up the surface, he explained.

Last week the board of commissioners received a letter from Lieut. Col. L. A. Kunzig, who commands the post, stating that the road was nearly impassable. Thorne was directed by the board to report to them at once.

Hugh Perry Armstrong, of Meadowa, was appointed a constable for Mellwood District, and took office after he had presented his bond and an undated resignation. The commissioners also heard two delegations who asked for road work during 1932.

A committee representing the Chamber of Commerce of Hyattsville asked the paving of the road from the Baltimore boulevard to the New Cut road, if not this year, then in 1933. This committee was headed by L. L. Powers, other members being William T. Jennings, H. W. Spicknall and A. H. Seidenspinner.

A delegation of Suitland citizens asked that the Mayhew road, from Suitland to the Meadows-Camp Spring road, be improved. These representatives were led by Benjamin H. Walls, of Suitland. Both these requests for road work were filed, to be considered when the road schedule is made up in the spring.

POE'S VICTORY IN 1833 CITED TO POST ESSAY CONTESTANTS

suffice when he entered a contest. He did not try to copy from the work of others, but put himself into his stories and that is what won him the prize.

Rest assured, boys and girls in this contest, the judges will search for the essays which show the most originality, the most care in preparation, neatness in handwriting or typewriting, with correct spelling and with punctuation rules observed. Unless your essay comes in good condition into the hands of the judges your hopes are all in vain.

The $1,000 in cash prizes offers an unequaled opportunity not only to win prizes, but to accomplish in 1932 what you will remember with pride throughout the rest of your lives.

Among the new essays received yesterday were those from Gilbert Totten, 7, 2633 Sixteenth street northwest; Kathleen O'Bannon, 18, Fairfax, Va.; Elsie Hewitt, 16, 1116 Cameron street, Alexandria, Va.; Marie Atwell, 12, 2706 Good Hope road southeast, and Marie E. R. Goucher, 11 years, 1702 B street southeast.

The specimen essay selected for today's publication deals with a unique phase of Washington's colorful career. It is one on "George Washington—The Canal Builder."

"In the closing years of the eighteenth and the early years of the nineteenth centuries, Virginia and Maryland took part in planning for the colonization of the great West. There were some who felt that it was useless to talk of colonizing the West, because of the extreme difficulty of traveling; there were others that urged it on and would find their way into the broad lands of the new country. One of the most ardent of these was George Washington. The story of the Patowmac Canal tells how he faced the difficulties that so many others were afraid of.

"It was through Virginia's greatest son that the plans were made and carried out. Washington was always busying himself with maps of the development of the country. He had one great contemplation—to make a tour of the Eastern States, to Canada up the St. Lawrence, through the Lakes to Detroit, then to Lake Michigan by land or water; through the Western country by Illinois River to the Mississippi River, down the same to New Orleans, into Georgia by way of Pensacola and on through the two Carolinas.

"Washington did not make this tour, but he made a number of other journeys and learned of the numerous opportunities for developing water communications. When he returned to his Virginia home he began to think of the Potomac River and the facilities it would offer, if it were improved as a water way.

"A number of men talked things over. They came to an understanding and on May 17, 1785, in Alexandria the Patowmack Co. was organized. Washington was chairman of the meeting which was held for this purpose. Plans were made at once and before long engineers were busy at Great Falls with the work of construction.

"Those engaged in this early project had their troubles with laborers. December, 1801, the locks at Great Falls were finished. February, 1802, the locks were opened for business and were in use for 28 years. People came from far and near to see this great American engineering achievement.

"Things went very well with the Patowmack Co. They grew ambitious and began the improvement of the Shenandoah, the Monocacy and the Antietam. All at once difficulties began and soon evil days followed. Lotteries were resorted to for the raising of money and there were disputes and lawsuits over the drawings. Debts also hindered the progress of the work. Demands for the improvement of the river and the use of canals completed became greater year after year. The company was unable to meet the claims upon it.

"The end came in 1828 when the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Co. took over the property of the Patowmack Co. and continued development according to their own plans.

"The coming of the railroad made completion of the work unnecessary, and canals and locks were abandoned. If we visit Great Falls today, we can see the great masonry of the big locks overgrown by trees. These locks are so stanch that one is compelled to admire the thoroughness and skill of the early workmen.

Walter U. Varney was elected president of the Clarendon Citizens Corporation, holding company for the citizens association, at a meeting held last night at the home of Arthur J. Porter. Other officers are: L. C. McNemar, vice president; F. E. Dewey, secretary, and John F. Bushong, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Dr. Frank T. Stone, J. B. Swecker, Mrs. L. A. MacMahon, John T. Lipscomb, Walter F Sunderman, A. C. Putnam and Harry C. Saffell.

The treasurer's report showed the corporation to have total assets of $7,700 deposited at the Clarendon Trust Co.

PAY CUT ANNOUNCED BY SEARS, ROEBUCK

5-to-10 Per Cent Slash Effective Jan. 30; Company Has 5 Activities Here.

"Present economic conditions" were declared responsible for a 5 to 10 per cent wage cut of the salaries of 38,000 employes of Sears, Roebuck & Co., which was announced last night. Employes of the concern here were informed of the salary slice at the close of business yesterday when they were given a letter from the president, R. E. Wood.

The company has five activities here, the department store at 911 Bladensburg road, stores at 3140 M street northwest, and 1825 Fourteenth street northwest, the home construction division at 1106 Connecticut avenue northwest, and an art gallery.

"The average value of what we sell to our customers has declined 30 per cent in the last two years, and the margin for salaries and wages has steadily shrunk, in spite of our efforts to effect every possible economy," the nnouncement stated.

The action becomes effective January 30.

Commission Told Of Police Assault

Protest on Firing at Two Youths Made to Body in Prince Georges.

The Prince Georges County commissioners took no action yesterday on a complaint laid before them charging County Policeman Ralph Brown with firing his revolver at two young men Sunday afternoon. Brown is due to appear in Hyattsville Police Court today on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and it is understood the commissioners are awaiting the action of the court before moving.

The complaint was made by Philip W. Austin, of Washington, who is attorney for Russell Barbee and Henry Jenkins, also of Washington. Barbee swore out the warrant against Brown, which was served by a deputy sheriff. Justice of the Peace John J. Fainter, who issued the warrant, released the policeman on his personal bond for the court appearance today.

Brown and another policeman were called to a house near Takoma Park, Sunday, by neighbors who complained of the noise. The house had been raided for liquor before, it was said. The two youths were in a machine in front of the house, and started off as Brown approached. He shouted to them to halt, he said, and fired when they kept going. Neither of them was injured.

PLEA FOR FIREHOUSE ADDITIONS APPROVED

Clarendon Petition Is Upheld by Arlington Zoning Appeal Board.

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County Zoning Appeal Board meeting last night at the courthouse unanimously approved the application of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department to make necessary additions to the firehouse to provide for added equipment. The action of the board will go to the county board in the form of a recommendation that it be granted.

Efforts of the firm of Lyon & Fitch, developers of Lyon Village, to have the board recommend the rezoning of a section between Rucker avenue and Courthouse road from residential A to residential B was strongly opposed by a majority of the board members.

Upon motion of Maj. P. H. Goff a modified application was approved and its adoption will be recommended to the county board.

The board refused the application of William N. Doak to have rezoned a section in the vicinity of the Chain Bridge to commercial.

At a largely attended congregational meeting of St. George's Episcopal Church, held last night at the church, the following were elected to the vestry: D. H. Rhodes, Dr. W. C. Welburn, E. A. Meade, E. K. Kloman, George P. Taylor, sr., A. T. Stone, W. M. Stone, C. P. Oliver, P. B. Anderson, William Freiss, Frank Davis and C. J. A. Johnson.

Concluding the election, the vestry met and elected the following officers: D. H. Rhodes, senior warden; Dr. W. C. Welburn, junior warden; E. A. Meade, registrar; E. K. Kloman, treasurer, and William Freiss, assistant treasurer.

Reports were received from the following church departments, showing each to be in excellent condition and each growing rapidly: C. P. Oliver, superintendent of the church school; Mrs. E Wade Ball, Church Guild; Clifford Smith, Men's Club; Mrs. E. A. Pitkin, Altar Guild and Auxiliary; Mrs. Ruth Smith, Avelin Club.

The rector, the Rev. Henry J. Miller, in his report showed a continued growth in the membership of the church, and especially of the church school, stressing the point that the parish hall has long since been entirely inadequate to meet the needs of the church school.

George P. Taylor, sr., was elected lay delegate, who, with the rector, will attend the special meeting of the Council of Virginia, which meets in Richmond, Va., January 27.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DAWES IN COMMAND.

The choice of Charles G. Dawes to be president of the National Reconstruction Corporation is rightly hailed as an assurance that the corporation will get busy immediately and prove a mighty lever in lifting the country out of the depression. No better choice could have been made. Gen. Dawes enjoys the complete confidence of the public and the business world.

It is fitting that Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, should be chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Corporation. The operations of the corporation should be kept always in harmony with the policies and operations of the Federal Reserve system. Gov. Meyer will be in a position to harmonize the policies of these two great financial agencies.

The President will consult political leaders before appointing the remaining directors of the Reconstruction Corporation, in order to preserve the nonpartisan character of the institution. There has been a most gratifying absence of partisanship in the creation of this corporation, and it is necessary to the public welfare that politics should be excluded from its workings. Gen. Dawes, although a stalwart Republican, may be depended upon to thrust politics aside as president of the corporation, and to work solely for the public welfare. His colleagues on the board should be men of broad experience in public affairs as well as in finance and business.

The powers of the Reconstruction Corporation are extraordinary, such as would never be conferred by Congress upon any organism except in a time of emergency. Upon the fidelity and ability of the officers will depend the success or failure of this experiment. But the experience of the United States in setting up the War Finance Corporation, in which Eugene Meyer performed such valuable public service, warrants the expectation that the new corporation will be conducted with the combined courage and skill which the emergency demands. The officers must assume enormous responsibilities. They must be prepared to say Yes with patriotic moral courage when conditions call for aggressive action, and to say No with finality when impracticable or dangerous schemes are proposed.

Every consideration of national interest calls for prompt action by Congress in speeding this legislation, so that the hopes of relief now entertained shall be translated into fact. The country is waiting for the action that is to be a signal for universal recovery of confidence. The people wish to go forward. They are not wanting in courage. They know that the United States can recover its prosperity in spite of adverse world conditions if unity of purpose can be obtained.

With such a leader as Gen. Charles G. Dawes in command of the forces of reconstruction there will be an instant forming of ranks and an urge to go forward. That is all that is needed. America's welfare and prosperity are in the making of its own citizens.

THE GERMAN ELECTION.

Chancellor Bruening is very sensitive about arousing the German electorate. Apparently he does not trust the German people when they fall under the spell of Adolf Hitler's oratory or the insidious pleas of the Communists. When danger threatens he takes a larger degree of authority into his own hands, holding the radicals at bay by suspending popular government. One dictatorial act calls for another. Chancellor Bruening has at last found himself advocating an unconstitutional election to save his own regime, with Herr Hitler demanding that the constitution be respected.

Under the terms of the Weimar constitution an election would be held in March, this year, to choose a successor to President Von Hindenburg. The constitution provides that the president shall be chosen by the entire electorate. Chancellor Bruening fears that a national contest for the presidency would disrupt Germany's foreign policy and disturb conditions within the country. Hence, he urges that the term of President Hindenburg be extended by a two-thirds majority vote in the Reichstag.

Since the Hitlerites refused to join in the movement Chancellor Bruening's scheme becomes ineffective. He is placed in the light of distrusting the judgment of the German people. Having sought to violate the constitution to perpetuate his own regime, he plays into the hands of the radical elements that are trying to destroy the existing form of government. The German republic is already in a precarious condition. No far-seeing leader would seek to nullify the basic structure on which it rests for the sake of securing a temporary advantage.

What does Chancellor Bruening suppose he would gain by defeating the will of the people in order to make a new bargain with Germany's creditors? If the action to be taken by the government is not in accord with public opinion it will sooner or later be rescinded. Chancellor Bruening has only weakened his position abroad by virtually admitting that the regime for which he is spokesman does not command support from the German people. This blunder is no less serious than his declaration that Germany could pay no more reparations.

UNCLE SAM AT GENEVA.

Final instructions have been given to the American delegation to the general disarmament conference at Geneva, and Congress has appropriated $450,000 to defray its expenses. In effect, the United States is making a friendly gesture to induce the powers of Europe to disarm.

Whatever the outcome of the conference, it will doubtless have no effect upon the American Army and Navy. The London conference limited naval construction of the three foremost powers on the sea—Great Britain, the United States and Japan—until 1936. The United States Navy has not been built up to the treaty level, and indications are that it will still lag behind the prescribed strength when the treaty expires. If further naval restrictions should be imposed they would fall upon Great Britain and Japan.

The conference will be devoted, almost exclusively, to land armaments. In this field the United States is not directly interested, because this country has only the skeleton of an army. The role of Uncle Sam at Geneva will be, therefore, essentially that of adviser and mediator. This country is willing to join in the conference in the hope of inducing Europe to disarm. Europe is literally staggering under its burden of excessive armaments. A general reduction, or even an arms holiday, would be a great relief to debt-ridden governments and despairing taxpayers. It would help to lift the pall of mistrust and depression from the world. The United States stands ready to lend its good offices for that purpose.

Sentiment in Europe does not, however, encourage hope of success. Germany has declared that the payment of reparations must end, which leaves France in no mood to disarm. Soviet Russia is a constant menace to the peace of the world, having just now reached out her meddling fingers into Roumania. Japan has shocked the world by taking possession of Manchuria by military force.

The attitude of France is the keynote to the whole situation. Unless France reduces arms Italy will not. Premier Ramsay MacDonald has given warning on several occasions that Great Britain will not budge another step toward disarmament until the rest of Europe does likewise. France is willing, of course, to reduce her armies, providing she is given the right to use the American Army in time of need. But the possibility of the United States agreeing to a security pact has been eliminated from the picture. The American delegation is not going to Geneva to buy disarmament. Unless the great armed powers of Europe are willing to arrange a mutual program of limiting and scrapping arms the conference will be a flat failure.

War debts have no place on the agenda, but the outcome of the conference may have a vital bearing upon the efforts of some governments to escape payment of their obligations to the United States. If the debtor nations refuse to cut down their exorbitant expenditures for military purposes they can not consistently request help from American taxpayers. If they really discard excessive armaments they will not need help. The general effect of the conference should be to expose the schemes under which European powers are maintaining gigantic military machines while trying to shunt the cost of the last war upon American taxpayers. European militarists will be forced either to unload their excessive equipment for war or forfeit any claim to consideration by their creditors in this country.

VETERANS' PENSIONS.

Some veterans' organizations have suspended their requests to Congress for additional appropriations, because of the heavy demands upon the depleted Treasury from other sources. These organizations are to be highly commended for their patriotic action. Attempts to bring political pressure to bear upon Congress in an election year, when the revenue of the Government lags so far behind expenses, would be indefensible.

Last year veterans' organizations stampeded Congress into voting a $1,000,000,000 bonus to former soldiers in spite of the fact that the budget was unbalanced and revenue was drastically falling off. In addition, Congress voted to spend more than $20,000,000 on veterans' hospitals. Although President Hoover induced the American Legion to forego any demand for the remainder of the adjusted service compensation, demands have been put forward for a $200,000,000 pension bill for widows, orphans and dependent relatives of former service men.

The Government recognizes its obligation to its defenders. Congress has been extremely generous in caring for disabled veterans and their dependents, even in cases where their disability can not be connected with their military service. Approximately one-fourth of the entire national budget is spent for service to veterans in one form or another. In this period of depression this bounteous treatment has imposed a heavy burden upon the taxpaying public.

A few avaricious promoters in some of the veterans' organizations take no notice of the country's financial condition. They believe that by applying political pressure in an election year they can obtain appropriations in exchange for votes. But in the present Congress they will be frustrated. Patriotic veterans will not support this proposed raid upon the Treasury. Congressmen will not be able to vote for it with a clear conscience, and the administration leaders in the Senate will crush the measure as part of the irresistible demand for economy.

Those veterans' organizations that have the future welfare of their members at heart will not push for any legislation at this time. To do so would certainly arouse public indignation and might preclude the acceptance of a reasonable program later. Pensions are obnoxious when the Treasury is $2,000,000,000 in the red and when extensive new taxes are necessary to pay for extravagant benefits allowed to special classes of citizens in the past.

MEXICAN DISCOVERIES.

Archeologists throughout America are elated at the discovery of a new store of gems and relics in an ancient Indian tomb amid the ruins of Monte Alban. This find is of unusual significance because of the insight it gives into the high state of civilization existing in the interior of Mexico prior to the discovery of America by Columbus. Very little is known of the Zapotecs or the Mixtecs who inhabited this region. Undoubtedly the rich discovery of Alfonso X. Caso, the noted Mexican archeologist, will lead to a more intensive study of these ruins for further clews of ancient civilization.

Slowly but surely the secrets of the native American civilizations that preceded the advent of the white man are being revealed. Excavation of the Mayan ruins has contributed much to that end already, but the greatest mystery of the first Americans remains completely hidden from science. Investigators have not yet reached a point where they can say whence originated these strange races and their highly-developed civilization.

Dr. George Frederick Kunz, archeologist and gem expert, calls attention to the similarity between the culture of early Egypt and that of the American natives. The ancient turquoise mines of Egypt are duplicated in the Americas. Precious gems were mined in what is now New Mexico, and Dr. Kunz relates a story of how in recent years miners were requested by the Indians of that region not to disturb the ancient turquoise mines because they are sacred to the followers of Montezuma.

One other factor which seems to link the early American civilization with that of Egypt is the pyramids. Mexico has uncovered pyramids that rival the famous structures of the Pharaohs. Hieroglyphics found in the tomb near Oaxaca also may yield some clew to a connection between these two ancient peoples. Some South American excavations have brought forth relics that seem to be of Asiatic origin.

Denouement of the story of ancient America is making steady progress. It is a fascinating story, and when it is completely unfolded it may reveal that civilization flourished upon this continent before the advent of the white man to a far greater extent than has been supposed.

Alfalfa Bill's plan to put States in wet and dry zones will not work. The wet States are overpopulated already.

We shall soon be watching for the groundhog, but on account of the depression he won't see his shadow.

Gov. Murray sipped coffee while appearing before a House committee, and was quite wide awake.

WASHINGTON IN ACTION

From the Boston Transcript.

The well-known painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware," by Emanuel Leutze, is owned by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is now stored in the basement of that institution because it is too large to be conveniently hung in any of the exhibition galleries. There is a very general feeling that during this year, the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth, some way should be found to hang the picture in a conspicuous place where it can be easily seen, even by those who would not go a step out of their way to look at it under a museum roof. One suggestion which seems excellent is that it be hung in the concourse of the Grand Central or the Pennsylvania terminal, perhaps for a while in one and then in the other. In such a setting the picture would be seen by more persons of more widely scattered habitat and condition than elsewhere in the United States.

The artistic merit of the picture may be questioned, but that is true of most celebrated historical paintings. What has made it more familiar to us than any other of Washington with the exception of the Gilbert Stuart head is that it represents the general as the hero of a striking military exploit. In matters of minor detail it may lack something of photographic fidelity, but in all its essentials it depicts the true George Washington. Ideal though the artist's conception of the event may have been, it catches the imagination, and in this year, of all years, the painting should not lie in the dark of a museum cellar if any plan can be devised for bringing it into the light where it may refresh our patriotism and fix more clearly in our minds the character of whom his friend Lafayette said in his old age, "I thought then, as now, that never had I beheld so superb a man."

POST HASTE.

Hurrah for a Dawes plan for the United States!

The antideflation movement can expand credit a lot before it gets up to the foot of the inflation ladder.

Gov. Murray missed his chance. At least a bold and definite stand was expected of him. Instead he spoke of "possible changes in the light of possible eventualities." Back to the oil fields for Hypothetical Bill!

In reply to M. Laval's "feeler" we might add: As futile as a six months postponement of debt and reparation questions.

Here's hoping Mussolini does attend the Geneva disarmament session; he might start something.

Representative Ruth Bryan Owen has figured it out that the World War cost $10,000,000 a minute, and she used it to scare the House into quickly appropriating expense money for the disarmament commission.

If this cold continues Washington may see freezing weather yet this winter.

It's a hard test. Col. Theodore Roosevelt goes to make or break a reputation as Governor of the Philippines.

General world trade declined nearly 40 per cent last year, but just to spite the silverites China's commerce fell off only 13 per cent.

Another expert, all wet, has figured it out that prohibition has cost $2,000,000,000 a year. "We figure to ourselves the thing we like, and then we build it up, as chance will have it, on the rock or sand."

Speaker Garner begins to realize what an embarrassing thing it was for Woodrow Wilson to ask some enthusiastic supporters to pipe down.

Sweet are the uses of adversity, says Henry Ford. Who told him, or has Henry just been reading the old copybook again?

Naturally it was the gravity of the situation last year that pulled stocks down.

Times were so hard that postal savings more than doubled last year, and savings bank deposits gained a billion and a half in New York State alone.

A writer who should know better speaks of the danger of France withdrawing gold on deposit in New York and depleting our reserve. France's gold isn't included in our reserve, and it and all other foreign gold can be withdrawn, though it won't be, without endangering American credit or the gold standard.

And when the bankers talk about the prospect of an easy money policy now they don't mean the kind that the lambs thought they had found in Wall street during those predepression years. PAUL HUDSON.

CREED.

Lord, for the day 'tis these I ask,
The courage needed for the task;
The patience to abide delay,
The willingness the friend to play.

Lord, grant to me what strength I'll need
For every large or trivial deed.
And let me, ere the sun descends,
For all past failures make amends.

In some way when shall come the test,
Lord, let me measure to my best.
So let me live that others may
Rejoice that I have passed their way.

Lord, this my hope and this my prayer,
That in Thy purpose I may share
And by Thy mercy and Thy grace
Make this day more than commonplace.

Worth of a Filing Cabinet Depends on Your Ability to Find Contents

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN Macaulay was a boy of 12 he could read a poem of several hundred lines and repeat it from memory the next day without an error.

His was a mind of unusual brilliance, but the ability to remember is not always an evidence of intelligence. Thinkers are proverbially absent-minded, which means that they forget matters of little importance.

People whose feats of remembrance win occasional mention in the public prints usually have very ordinary minds and in some instances are illiterate.

How, then, will you explain their possession of a faculty that others covet in vain?

They are not freaks. Perhaps they alone are natural. By some means unknown to them they have bridged the gap between the conscious and subconscious mind.

The subconscious mind isn't a separate and distinct part of your mental equipment. It is merely that part of your mind which directs the muscles, organs and glands that function without waiting for orders. It is the part that records and files for future reference the knowledge acquired by your senses. It is the part that dreams, and the part that learns habits and later directs your muscles in the performance of customary duties while your thoughts are busy elsewhere.

Memory is the ability to connect the conscious and subconscious minds. If you can't remember a fact once known, it doesn't follow that the fact no longer is stored in your mind. It is there, filed in its proper place. If you can't find it, the fault is not in your filing cabinet but in your method of using it.

There is reason to believe that every fact stored in your mind remains there while you live. Learn the art of recalling items from this storehouse at will and all knowledge is yours for the asking.

How can you learn? As you learn to use every faculty you possess by exercise and practice.

As your subconscious mind can be taught to perform any habitual duty, so it can be taught to make connection with your conscious mind and habitually present stored-up facts as you need them.

Nature gave you a perfect storehouse. Your job is to keep the door open.

PRO AND CON

What Did Roosevelt Mean?

Kansas City Times.

Even if Americans are sitting up nights reading the Constitution (as we have no doubt they are), Gov. Roosevelt probably will have to be a little more specific in his discussion of the respective powers of the Federal and State governments if he expects to get their attention. They will want to know just what powers he is talking about when he says the States should give to the Federal Government "certain specified powers and reserve to themselves all other powers."

Of course, that is recognized as good Democratic doctrine, but since Al Smith and John Raskob revived it in recent years it has been understood to have particular reference to prohibition. The wets now are the most zealous States' righters the country has ever had. Their devotion in that cause would astonish Jefferson himself. He never saw such militant Democrats in his time, and would be mystified, if he didn't know the reason for it, to account for the remarkable spread of his doctrine in these days.

Three Major Achievements.

Kansas City Star.

In passing in quick succession the administration measures approving the moratorium, reinforcing the Federal land banks, and setting up the great Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Congress has shown a fine spirit. It has risen above consideration of personal or partisan politics and acted for the welfare of the country.

No Postcards.

Topeka Capital.

Congressmen may enjoy themselves at Washington, but they seldom send postcards to the constituents bearing the sentiment, "Wish you were here."

The Restoration of Confidence.

Minneapolis Journal.

Congress is making rapid and gratifying progress with the business of enacting the antidepression legislation so earnestly recommended by President Hoover.

There are, of course, many impediments shrewdly thrown in the way by self-seeking politicians. But it is greatly to the credit of the Senate and the House that the great majority of their membership are marching steadily and speedily along the path laid down by their leaders in cooperation with the President.

In the main, politics has been set aside, despite the temptations inherent in the imminence of the campaign. Visionary and destructive amendments are rejected.

In the presence of a many-phased economic crisis, Congress has developed a nonpartisan and public-spirited attitude comparable to that shown by the War Congress in Wilson's time.

Ha Ban Good Fellar.

Minneapolis Journal.

If Newton D. Baker is nominated on the Democratic ticket, Minnesota Democrats will put him on the ticket as "Knuton D. Baaker."

The Goat Turns.

Los Angeles Times.

Uncle Sam has proven to be the champion goat of all time, says Senator Howell, of Nebraska. However, he is becoming weary of being it.

Severe Strain.

Chicago Tribune.

The date set for the Democratic convention in Chicago, June 28, follows the Republican convention a trifle too closely; two weeks isn't long enough for the Democrats to get over laughing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Pinchot's Support of Gov. Roosevelt Would Turn Democrats Away—No Government Ownership.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Word comes from Philadelphia to the effect that Gov. Pinchot may back Gov. Roosevelt for President instead of Mr. Hoover. As a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, I am hopeful of being able to cast my vote for a Democrat in the 1932 election, but if my party's choice receives the indorsement of such men as Gov. Pinchot and Senator Norris, I will be forced either to go fishing on election day or else cast my vote for Mr. Hoover. And I have good reason to believe that a multitude of other Democrats will do the same thing.

This sentiment, which pervades the entire country, is well known to our Democratic leaders. They are therefore forewarned and should see to it that no candidate is named who is so "progressive" (backward) as to advocate the ownership and operation of any public utility by our Government. And an indorsement of any candidate in advance of the convention in June by either of the gentlemen named is quite sufficient reason to warrant our Democratic leaders in determining before that convention whether the indorsed candidate entertains any such views. Most assuredly no candidate who advocates Government ownership or operation of any business will stand the slightest chance of election.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Police of Washington Deserve Praise and Not the Slams They Receive From So Many People.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: From time to time there appear in our newspapers uncomplimentary statements concerning the police force of this city. It seems to me that most of these criticisms are unjust and more or less humiliating to this great body of city protectors. No other department of the Government is so necessary for our welfare. The duties of policemen are full of hazard since no one of the force is sure that he will be able to return to his home when he leaves it to go on duty.

The police are expected to look after every troublesome and unlawful thing that may occur here, including traffic troubles, robberies of all kinds, assaults on the streets, loud-barking dogs, and boisterous children playing their pranks late at night. The policeman who does his duty is certainly entitled to credit and honor from the people and to the pay that is given him for his service. Stop slamming the policemen and give them words of encouragement. JOHN R. WEATHERS.

Asks a Question Concerning the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Bill.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill provides that the corporation may grant a loan to a "bona fide financial institution" and may accept the promissory note of the institution.

Suppose that the A. B. C. Company applies to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of, say, $1,000,000, and gives the corporation its note for that amount; then suppose before the note is due the A. B. C. Corporation gets into difficulties and decides to go into bankruptcy.

What happens to its promissory note which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is holding?

Country Should Know How Statesmen (?) Propose to Appropriate Stupendous Sums.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I was interested in your compilation of the huge sums which certain of our statesmen (?) have requested the Congress to appropriate. I believe you have performed a great service for the country at large by compiling this data. The question is, how can this information be brought to the attention of the country people so that they can realize the terrific fight Mr. Hoover has on his hands to balance the budget? F. S. P.

Pleasant Adventure of a Young Fellow Hurrying to Catch a Bus.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I wonder where the patrolman of a certain beat was a few nights ago. He missed a great spectacle, which might have carried a moral.

I followed an athletic built young 6-footer, in a blue topcoat, carrying an expensive tan handbag, out of a local bus station. He put a 100 feet or so between us in no time by walking briskly. He was just about to turn a corner, when three husky brutal specimens deliberately ran into him, though he tried his best to avoid them. The biggest one, ignoring the young fellow's apology, called him a filthy name and swung at the youngster's jaw.

Then things happened so fast it took my breath away. The stranger ducked and came up with a crashing uppercut to the bully's jaw, spreading him full length on the sidewalk, cold. A second bully jumped on his back. He heaved forward and this assailant flew through the air striking the brick wall of a building. Then the stranger stopped the rush of the third one with a lightning left jab, and dropped him cold with a left and a right to the jaw.

Did it give me an elated feeling, to see these three human vultures laying there unconscious? There intended victim, with an extraordinary sense of humor propped them against the brick wall, sitting down. He picked up a package of cigarettes which fell out of one of their pockets and stuck one in each of their mouths. Then this youthful "Galahad" stood off with a wistful smile to survey his handiwork.

"Shucks," he said, pulling out his watch, "just ten minutes to change buses. So long." He picked up his bag and went out of my life.

I only wish we had some men like him on our police force.

WORLD PEACE HELD PREVALENT DESIRE

Labor Office Speaker Tells of Reaction of Nations to Manchurian War.

The present dissatisfaction with the League of Nations for not preventing the Manchurian clash is a sign of the general desire for world peace, Miss Alice S. Cheyney, of the International Labor Office, told national representatives of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs at a dinner at the Dodge Hotel last night.

Never before has there been anything like general criticism and disappointment among nations not involved in a war when that conflict broke out, she said. Miss Cheyney added that the causes of this war were already in existence when the league was formed, so that it could not be judged by its success in Manchuria. Forces working for peace can prevent war only by removing its origins, she went on.

She also explained the International Labor Organization, with offices in Geneva, whose purpose is to promote treaty agreements in regard to child labor, length of working days, minimum wage laws and abolition of forced labor.

The organization is composed of governments, all the large ones being represented except the United States and Russia, she said.

Success of this work would remove the menace of "cheap foreign labor" and allow any country to raise its standard of living without fear of economic competition from other countries, she explained. While the organization is composed of governments, representatives of labor and employers are also represented on the council.

The dinner at which Miss Cheyney spoke was given by the Washington Business and Professional Women's Club to delegates sent by the national club to the World Conference on the Cause and Cure of War.

Numerous women, prominent in national affairs and in the Government service, were present.

They included Mary Anderson, director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor; Mrs. Bessie Parker Brueggeman, chairman of the United States Employes Compensation Committee; Miss Jessie Dell, United States Civil Service Commissioner; Bertha McAfee, executive secretary of the Nurses Examining Board; Lucy Minnegerode, superintendent of nurses in the United States Public Health Service; Clara D. Noyes, director of the nursing service of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Ruth B. Shipley, chief of the passport division of the Department of State.

WOOD SAYS HOOVER AGREES ON PAY CUTS

accept a proportionate cut in his pay featured the address of Representative Wood, in the course of which several members interrupted with questions.

Mr. Wood said that he was surprised and he believed the country had been astounded by a compilation published in The Post of January 11, setting forth measures introduced in the House calling for the staggering sum of nearly $30,000,000,000. He said that those who criticize the President on grounds of extravagance are numbered among those who have introduced measures calling for large expenditures.

Accuses Senator McKellar.

Only one was named, Senator Kenneth D. McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, who had, Mr. Wood said, criticized the President in the severest possible language and had condemned his administration as most extravagant. The McKellar measures, he said, called for Federal expenditures aggregating more than $800,000,000.

Representative Wood said he had been given an estimate that a 10 per cent slash in Government salaries would man a saving of more than $100,000,000 a year, but he was caustic in criticism of other Federal expenditures. Other features of his economy program included:

Stopping of pensions or allowances from the Federal Government to persons paying an income tax, which would save $24,500,000; $12,000,000 more would be saved if no Federal employes were entitled to allowances from the Government such as now are paid to many employes of the Veterans' Administration; another $8,900,000 would be saved by charging inmates of soldiers' homes and hospitals for their keep, allowing single persons in such institutions only $10 a month and married persons $60 a month, the balance of their allowances or pensions to be deducted for their care.

In his castigation of Government employes as selfishly interested in maintaining their salaries at the expense of the depressed Nation, Mr. Wood said that every government, many of the States and cities have reduced their salaries, and Federal salaries should be no exception, in view of the decrease in the cost of living, and he cited the decline in the price of eggs to 16 cents a dozen, and added that common labor could be had for $1 a day on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Not Proper Living Wage.

Replying to Representative Harry P. Beam (Democrat), of Illinois, Mr. Wood said that he did not think that $1 a day was a proper living wage but that he thought "$3 or $4 under these conditions is a splendid wage for common labor."

Representative Claude V. Parsons (Democrat), of Illinois, questioned Representative Wood's accuracy in estimating the decline in the cost of living, saying he had not noticed such a decline in hotel prices or food prices.

"If you will investigate," Mr. Wood replied, "you will find that eggs are selling today at 16 cents a dozen and other things are selling in proportion. The gentleman will find he can buy canned goods for 5 cents that you could not buy for less than 20 cents a few years ago."

Walter Reed and the naval hospitals and the Veterans' Bureau came in for specific mention by Representative Wood in his recitation of examples of unnecessary and unjust expenditures by the Government.

Criticizes Postal Service.

Representative Wood was sharply critical of what he said was the exorbitant pay received by postal employes and the small amount of work they were required to do.

Eventual War in Far East Predicted Before Women

Representatives of Japan and China Give Conflicting Views on Cause of Manchurian Crisis at Conference of Peace Organization.

Ominous predictions of eventual war in the Sino-Japanese crisis in Manchuria yesterday disturbed the serenity of the Woman's Conference on the Cause and Cure of War when a distinguished citizen of each of the involved countries stated the probable course of his native land.

Coincident with publication of dispatches from Nanking that the severance of diplomatic relations with Japan by China is imminent, Chih Meng, associate director of the China Institute in America, avowed that the "Chinese people will not submit to foreign control and China will attempt to recover her land and her people."

On the other hand, Dr. Toyokichi Iyenaga, distinguished Japanese lecturer, trembled "at the thought of what international complications might follow if Japan decides on reprisals" for the economic boycott which has been invoked against them by the Chinese people.

Stimson's Naming Hailed.

During a period of questions which followed the addresses of the men, the atmosphere was so brittle that each appeared on the verge of indulgence in personalities. But further discussion was halted when a delegate suggested that the question period be terminated "in the interest of peace."

Earlier in the day the conference, which is meeting in the Washington Hotel, vigorously applauded the announcement of the appointment of Secretary of State Stimson as head of the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference. At the same time the conference directed a message to the American delegation asking it "to insist upon the bold reduction of every category of armament."

Though Japan insists that its acts in Manchuria were in self-defense, Mr. Meng reminded his audience that the Japanese army has advanced 370 miles from her railway and occupies all the important Chinese cities in Manchuria. Further, he said, the Japanese have established a puppet government in Manchuria and have confiscated Chinese industry, making way for permanent occupation.

The cry of Japan that it is abolishing banditry is false, he said, and attributed the uprisings to spontaneous resentment of the Chinese against Japanese occupation. "It is in the interest of the whole world," he said, "to prevent an 'Alsace-Lorraine' in the Far East."

Conceding that Japan needs the resources which Manchuria can supply, Mr. Meng declared, "need does not justify robbery, either in private law or international law. Exclusive control or seizure by force by one nation of another's land and resources will certainly lead to war."

The expositor of the Japanese viewpoint, Mr. Iyenaga, said, "whether the occupation of Manchuria by the Japanese is trespassing on the administrative integrity of China is, at best, a legal quibble. While Secretary of State Stimson blames the Japanese for chasing out bandits, not a word was said about the boycott invoked by the Chinese."

Lays Greed to Chinese.

The large profits earned by the South Manchuria Railway Co., he said, have excited the greed of Chinese leaders, and, riding on a movement of "recovery of rights" in Manchuria are robbing Japan of the fruits of her patient efforts.

China's record in the past ten years, he said, is one of "agreements violated, promises broken, pledges unredeemed and debts unpaid."

In an earlier discussion, Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, wife of Mr. Lamont, of the J. P. Morgan Co., attributed to the League of Nations the following accomplishments in the Manchurian crisis: It focussed public opinion on the crisis; it made it unnecessary for China to declare war, resting its case with the league; it caused the appointment of a commission to study the problem, and though Japan seems to have attained its objective, it has not gained legalization of its occupation.

STIMSON SELECTED TO LEAD U. S. DELEGATION AT GENEVA

ized him to reiterate the same sentiments to the French premier if he considered it expedient.

This action of the United States will not assist in the settlement of the deadlock which France and England face regarding the present economic quagmire of Europe but it is the only possible recourse for this Government in view of the very definite attitude taken by Congress.

Move Seen Aid to Accord.

The sudden decision to send Secretary Stimson to Geneva in place of Gen. Dawes fits in neatly with the general plans of President Hoover. Gen. Dawes' acknowledged reputation as a financier can best be utilized in a domestic financial emergency while the experience of Secretary Stimson in international conferences and with practically the same delegates will go far in auguring the greatest possible measure of achievement for the American delegation abroad.

However, the long-awaited lifting of the depression hangs on the result of the conferences now going on between France and England.

These conferences in turn effect the Lausanne meeting of financial experts which has been postponed and again postponed until now there seems to be less possibility of its being held than ever. Secretary Stimson has remarkable persuasive powers and while no definite understanding regarding this eventuality exists, it was envisaged in the realm of the possible that he might in an emergency be called in to break such a deadlock as often developed during the London conference.

Chance for Important Victory.

His presence in Europe at a time when the atmosphere is thick with accumulated confusion may have the necessary settling effect to enable the delegates of every country concerned to see clear.

If the Secretary of State should be able to bring about any kind of agreement on armament even on the basis of a "freezing" of present armament levels as a precursor to definite ulterior reductions, his personal success will be very great.

If in addition to this result, he can, through his personal knowledge of the men and principles involved bring France and England to an agreement on the fundamental points again at issue, which were once agreed on at Paris last July 6, he will have won abroad two of the most far-reaching diplomatic agreements which will go very far in dispelling the present international atmosphere of fear and distrust.

HOOVER PICKS DAWES TO HEAD HUGE RECONSTRUCTION FIRM

He wheeled abruptly, hit the table once more for good measure and strode belligerently back into the inner sanctum of diplomacy. Two hours later he was in the Capitol, conferring with Senator Walcott, of Connecticut, author of the Senate reconstruction bill. But he had nothing more to say. On the whole, he imparted the clear impression that we may not hear from Mr. Dawes again until he looks over the reconstruction ledgers some Saturday night and announces stoically; "Now that's done—and I'm going back to Chicago to return to private life."

Life has been like that to Gen. Dawes for more than 15 years. As long ago as 1916 he tried to go to Europe as a mere colonel. Gen. Pershing heard of his arrival the day he landed in Brest, and in ten days Dawes was a full-fledged brigadier general in charge of procuring food, clothing and shelter for the whole A. E. F.

Back in Chicago in 1921 after a postwar assignment in France, he was taking up his own affairs again when President Harding called him to Washington to make the Bureau of the Budget a living reality. Three years later the Cleveland convention drafted him for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

In 1929 he had hardly got his desk open in Chicago until President Hoover asked him to accept the key post in the new administration's diplomatic service. A month ago the White House announced his selection to head the Geneva arms delegation.

On January 8 Gen. Dawes announced he would not remain long at Geneva, but would return to Chicago after the initial sessions to take his personal affairs in hand again. Yesterday's White House announcement carries the story a year into the future.

"I have requested Gen. Dawes to accept the position of president of the new Reconstruction Corporation," Mr. Hoover said. "It is gratifying to state that he has accepted. Mr. Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will also be chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Corporation.

"In order that we may preserve the nonpartisan character of the institution, the other directors will be chosen after consultation with leaders of both political parties upon completion of the legislation.

"I announce Gen. Dawes' name at this time because of the required change in plans as to chairmanship of the delegation to the arms conference. Otherwise, Gen. Dawes would be leaving for Europe tomorrow."

Senate and House conferees on the bill creating the Reconstruction Corporation reached an agreement on four items last night.

The House conferees approved a Senate provision that obligations of the corporation shall not be eligible for rediscount in the Federal Reserve system. This was a victory for Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, one of the conferees, who argued that the debentures of the Reconstruction Corporation would hurt the lending power of the system.

For their part, the Senate conferees agreed to a House provision for loans by the corporation to insolvent banks so that these banks can pay off depositors.

The Senate conferees also agreed to two other House proposals, one providing that the bonds of the corporation be subject to income surtaxes, in addition to estate, inheritance and gift taxes, and another providing that no more than one of the corporation's directors be named from any one Federal Reserve district.

MOORE PLANS TAX CUT IN NEW JERSEY

Urges Dry Law Repeal as He Retakes State's Governorship.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—A. Harry Moore, Democrat, stepped back into the governorship of New Jersey today with a tax slashing plan, running into millions of dollars.

He asked the Legislature to sweep out 94 agencies and 35 commissions and substitute a 12-man cabinet.

"I am in favor," he said, "of passing back to the taxpayer some of the money that may be saved by postponement of all nonessential State activities."

Wants Refunds to Towns.

Then he proposed that $16,500,000 be turned back through municipalities, many of which have found it hard t omeet State tax requirements. Of this amount $13,000,000 would come from the gasoline tax and $3,500,000 from the savings on a restricted highway program.

His inaugural address, delivered amid the bunting-splashed Soldiers' and Sailors' War Memorial Building, proposed generally State reorganization and economy that could only be described as "drastic."

Back in 1925 when he defeated Senator Arthur Whitney for the governorship—in which the law forbade him to succeed himself—he stepped into the role with a mild manner.

Urges Dry Repeal.

Today he hammered down his fist and talked about "ruthless" methods for tax relief and elimination of "frills and furbelows."

He also wanted the Hobart State liquor enforcement act repealed and Congress petitioned to call a constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment. He hoped the Republicans would join the movement.

He called his program the result of the mandate the people gave him when they elected him over former United States Senator David Baird, jr., the Republican nominee, who asked for election as an indorsement of the national Republican administration.

Sergt. Messer Ends Detective Service

Is Retired by Commission After More Than 26 Years of Duty.

Detective Sergt. William Messer, of the headquarters detective bureau, was retired yesterday by the District Commissioners, effective February 1, upon recommendation of the Police and Firemen's Retiring and Relief Board and his commanding officer.

The board found that Sergt. Messer is physically incapacitated for further duty. He is 53 years old and has served 26 years and 8 months in the Police Department. Sergt. Messer was among the policemen indicted following the recent Department of Justice investigation of third degree brutality, but his case was later nolle prossed by Leo A. Rover, United States attorney.

Capt. W. M. Green, of No. 25 Engine Company, was also ordered retired yesterday because of physical disability. He is 55 years old and has been in the Fire Department more than 31 years. He was decorated for his work following the collapse of the Knickerbocker Theater roof.

Berry Will Be Speaker At Luncheon of Ad Club

"How Advertising Accelerates Employment and Profits" will be the subject of a talk by Howard W. Berry before members of the Advertising Club of Washington at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Raleigh Hotel.

Mr. Berry, who is president of the club and a member of the firm of Lansburgh & Bro., will deliver the second of a series of talks to be given before advertising clubs by the Advertising Federation of America.

Glassford Will Remain In South Another Week

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, will remain in Aiken, S. C., for at least a week longer, it was indicated yesterday in a letter from the police head received by Acting Chief E. W. Brown.

The heavy cold which prompted Gen. Glassford's physician to order him to make the trip to the more advantageous climate has not yet been shaken off, the letter said. A desire to be back at his post here was expressd by the absent police chief.

HAMILTON RENAMED BOY SCOUT LEADER

George E. Hamilton, sr., president of the District of Columbia Council of the Boy Scouts of America, yesterday was returned to his executive position for the coming year at the elections of the council held at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building, Connecticut avenue and H street northwest.

Julius Garfinckel and Samuel Kauffmann were chosen vice presidents, with George Hewitt Meyers reelected treasurer and scout commissioner. Additional members of the executive board were chosen and announced as follows: Henry P. Blair, Harry B. Caton, Karl W. Corby, Ernest H. Daniel, Isaac Gans, George E. Hamilton, jr., J. H. Hanna, Arthur J. May, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Dr. Walter H. Merrill, A. N. Miller, Dr. Camp Stanley, Charles H. Tompkins, R. A. Van Orsdel and Capt. Chester Wells.

Objectives for Year.

A report on last year was received and objectives and activities for 1932 were announced. Among the objectives for the coming year, it was stated, will be a strenuous effort toward improvement of the work of the court of honor, particularly the recruiting from troop committeemen and fathers of scouts to aid in work of courts of honor and courts of review.

The program of activities will include a George Washington pageant to be staged during the summer in cooperation with bicentennial committee. Other patriotic displays will be the annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, the placing of flags in Arlington Cemetery on the day previous to Memorial Day, and the annual pilgrimage to the Tomb of the Unknown Solder.

From February 7 to February 13 District of Columbia Scouts will celebrate the twenty-second anniversary of the organization in America. Participation in the Easter sunrise service at Walter Reed Hospital, participation in the national community Christmas tree lighting, the annual bugle contest, the annual camporee camping contest, and other similar events also are on the 1932 program.

27 New Troops Added.

In a report from Linn C. Drake, scout executive, it was brought out that the council added 27 new troops in 1931, bringing the total to 193. Other reports showed that 3,068 merit badges had been awarded in addition to 636 second class awards, 249 first class awards and 47 Eagle badges.

The Sea Scout committee, of which Capt. Chester Wells is chairman, announced an enrollment of 128 Sea Scouts, and 24 Sea Scout leaders at the close of 1931. Sea Scout equipment includes five cutters, 3 catboats, one 25-foot motor boat, and the Argo, 79-foot yawl-rigged sloop.

Bad Luck Trails Repaired Flagship of Navy in Pacific

San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The U. S. S. Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet, only a week after being overhauled, started the new year with hard luck.

The battleship arrived here last night to join the Pacific Coast Fleet for the winter cruise to Hawaii, and today a repair crew set to work on her hull to repair damage caused by heavy seas and doctors attended two of the ship's crew.

The following day, as the Pennsylvania was crossing the bar of the Golden Gate, mountainous seas piled over her bow and swept a lieutenant commander, a chief boatswain and his mate against ventilator and anchor windlass.

The officer, Lieut. Comdr. R. J. Valentine, of San Pedro, was shaken up, but escaped injury. Chief Boatswain James Roberts, 50, of Boston, received a fracture of the right leg and hip, body bruises and a scalp wound. His mate, Thomas P. Murphy, of Long Beach, suffered a fracture of the left leg and body bruises.

Repairs will be completed in time to permit a scheduled sailing to Hawaiian waters.

3 JAILED IN SEIZURE OF RUM-LADEN SHIP

Craft With $25,000 Cargo Taken by Coast Guard in 20-Mile Chase.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The rumrunning speedboat Imp, captured in the Delaware Bay after a 20-mile chase, punctuated by machine-gun fire and the roar of a Coast Guard 1-pounder, was brought back to its home port here today in tow of a Coast Guard cutter.

The craft was riddled from stem to stern by 49 1-pound shells and 700 machine-gun bullets. It was seized with its crew of three and cargo of liquor, valued at $25,000, off Ship John Light, 20 miles from Fortescue, N. J.

United States Commissioner Wynn Armstrong, in Camden, N. J., held the three prisoners in $2,500 bail each. They are James E. Hannigan, 28, of Philadelphia; Harry Thompson, 47, of Brooklyn, and Harry C. Lewis, 42, of Atlantic City. In default of bail they were committed to the Camden County Jail.

Coast guardsmen said the Imp once was owned by Sammy Grosman, slain Philadelphia gangster, and was used as the liaison between the Atlantic rum fleet and a Philadelphia distribution syndicate.

The vessel was speeding toward this city when it was sighted, running without lights. Failing to stop it with a shot across the bow, the cutter gave chase. The three aboard the Imp did not return the fire of the guardsmen, and after an hour of nautical hide-and-seek the craft was captured.

Authorities are attempting to check the present ownership of the boat as well as the report that Grossman was once its owner.

Texans Ask White House For Mixed Claims Body

(Associated Press.)

An early recreation of the Mexican mixed claims commission, was urged at the White House yesterday by Senators Connally and Sheppard, of Texas. Sheppard said the commission's life expired in August, 1931, and that negotiations looking to settlement of claims by American citizens against Mexico amounting to many millions of dollars were now at a standstill.

Both senators told Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, that a speeding up of negotiations for the fomulation of a convention between the United States and Mexico for the rectification of the Rio Grande Channel near El Paso was badly needed. A treaty is necessary to initiate actual work, Connally said.

New Trial Denied Klan Leader.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Indiana Supreme Court today refused to grant a new trial to D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Kluk Klan grand dragon, who has been in prison since November, 1925, serving a life term on a murder charge.

Senate to Receive Name Of Judgeship Nominee

(Associated Press.)

Senator Schall (Republican), Minnesota, said yesterday the name of Matthew Joyce, of St. Paul, would be sent to the Senate by President Hoover to be a Federal district judge for Minnesota.

After a call yesterday upon the Chief Executive, Schall said that when Joyce's name was submitted he would withdraw his objections to the administration's appointment of another Federal judge for his State, Gunnar Nordbye. The senator's visit to the White House apparently marked the end of a judgeship feud between himself and the administration.

Canada to Meet Obligations.

Toronto, Ontario, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Canadians will continue to meet all financial obligations in the terms of the contracts made, Prime Minister Bennett said here today. Unbounded confidence in the dominion's financial standing and the future prosperity of Canada rang through the remarks of Mr. Bennett.

Mississippi Inaugurates Governor.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Along the festooned streets of Jackson, massed with cheering citizens and echoing to the tread of soldiers and the blare of bands, smiling Mike Connor rode to the end of an eight-year quest today and was inaugurated forty-fourth Governor of Mississippi. Theodore G. Bilbo, the retiring governor and long a bitter political enemy of Connor, participated in the ceremony.

DON'T BLAME HIM···HE NEEDS THE MONEY

"Hello, dear—here's a little surprise for you."

"Money—goodness knows we need it, but where did you get it?"

"Why I earned it, of course."

"How, did you get a raise?"

"No, no—not in these days, they just started giving us PMs down at the store."

"That's a new one on me. What is a PM?"

"I thought you knew. A PM is a commission the store gives a clerk for 'switching' a customer from the 'brand' he asks for to another 'make' that couldn't be sold. This week we've had a drive on the Hokum razor blade—and here's the money I earned."

"That's grand, dear—but how do you get customers to 'switch'?"

"I hate to do it, but I have to tell them the Hokum blade is 'just as good' and that I use it myself."

"John, you'll never go to Heaven if you fib that way—but the extra money will certainly help pay the baby's doctor bill."

• • • •

The happy domestic scene shown above gives the bright side of a practice that is not so commendable in its other aspects. But we hope you share our sympathy for the clerk who augments his modest income by insisting that customers accept other "brands" than those demanded.

Don't blame the clerk—he needs the money. As a group, these young men are hard working and courteous. They have their trials and worries like the rest of us. So be fair—and judge them as generously as you would have others judge you. Remember that the commissions they make when they "switch" you from one "brand" to another help pay the doctor, the grocer and all the rest.

We're all for the family man who can make himself a little extra money. In fact, substitution as a practice interests us at this time for only one reason. Under ordinary circumstances we would not concern ourselves with the problem. But—we are determined that nothing shall stop you from trying today's Gillette blade. Therefore, we have decided to run a series of advertisements ridiculing in light humor the abuses of substitution.

Today's Gillette is of extraordinary quality—a phenomenal achievement in blade making. We state without reservation it is positively the sharpest, smoothest-shaving blade we have ever produced. We are really excited about it. Its development has been a great experience.

Please take our word for it and let nothing prevent you from giving it a trial. We don't mind if you let them sell you a substitute hot water bottle, hair tonic or pill, but this once let's insist on the Gillette blade. This suggestion is selfish on our part because we are convinced no clerk could possibly "switch" you once you've experienced the extreme satisfaction of shaving with this blade. Try it on our money-back guarantee and experience a revelation.

Watch for the advertisements to follow. We hope they will amuse you, as we had a lot of fun preparing them.

GANDHI'S YOUNGEST SON UNDER ARREST

19 Sentenced to Six-Month Prison Terms for Part in Mint Picketing.

Bombay, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Ramdas Gandhi, youngest son of the Mahatma Gandhi, was arrested today in the village of Haripura for taking part in Nationalist activities against the British government.

This put three members of the Gandhi family in jail. The mahatma was arrested January 4 and placed in prison at Poona, and his 60-year-old wife, who pleaded with the police to take her with him, was taken into custody a week later.

The principal member of the Gandhi household closely identified with Nationalist cause who remains free, is Miss Madeline Slade, the Englishwoman, who assumed the garb of India and became one of the foremost disciples of the Nationalist leader.

Women Are Convicted.

Within 22 minutes today, 19 prisoners who had been arrested for picketing at the government mint, were convicted and sentenced to six-month prison terms.

Most of them were women. They had been attempting to stop the shipment of gold from India—an activity Nationalist leaders have been attempting to halt since the outbreak of the campaign against the government.

Three spectators included in the group of picketers; the first to be held under a new ordinance against loitering, also received six-month sentences.

Shop Lockout Ends.

In New Delhi it was announced that three round table conference committees, en route from England to continue negotiations looking toward a constitution for India, will hold their first meeting there January 28.

At Matunga a lockout of men employed in the shops of Great Indian Peninsula Railway came to an end as a result of a decision by the company to continue with a schedule of one holiday a week instead of two.

On January 6 the 500 employes went on strike because working hours had been curtailed, and two days later the company declared a lockout.

Coolidge Blames Slump on Errors

No Widespread Dishonesty, He Says; Hoarders Denounced.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Calvin Coolidge says "a general lack of judgment" contributed to the present economic situation. Writing in the American Magazine, the former President discusses conditions, praises the national banking system and denounces hoarders.

"It is impossible to point out any general moral lapse, any widespread dishonesty," he says in treating the causes of the slump. "The most we can say is that there has been a general lack of judgment so widespread as to involve practically the whole country.

"We have found out that we were not so big as we thought we were. We were riding too high. We shall have to keep nearer the ground. We may not feel so elated but we shall be much safer."

Oklahoma G.O.P. Group Will Support Hoover

Oklahoma City, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—A spirited defense of President Hoover became the dominant note of the Republican party's State executive committee meeting here today, while the committee maneuvered factional differences into the background.

Those in control of the party in Oklahoma let it be known their efforts will be directed at sending a delegation to the national convention pledged to the President. They echoed the recently expressed conviction of Patrick Hurley, Secretary of War, that his home State delegation "is certain to be pledged to Mr. Hoover."

Georgia Governor Lays Slump to G. O. P. Rule

Savannah Beach, Ga., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The only communism to fear in the United States is the communism of empty stomachs and naked backs, Gov. Richard B. Russell, jr., said here today at a highway celebration.

The youthful Democratic chief executive took the Republican administration to task for present economic conditions and expressed the belief the national reconstruction program, sponsored by the administration, "can not help the poor," unless the "man at the top" is willing.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

AFTER 24 hours of contemplation it seems to be the practically unanimous opinion of those who attended Monday evening's first performance that Vincent Youmans selected the most difficult possible subject to set to music when he chose "Smilin' Through" as the basis of his operetta "Love Is All," current at the National.

The story of "Smilin' Through" is one of those semitragic sentimentalities that lends itself with scant grace to any musical treatment less involved than the complex form of legitimate light grand opera. It is well-nigh impossible to imbue it with the sprightliness requisite in musical comedy or operetta, in the accepted Broadway sense of that term. That Mr. Youmans has done as well as he has with so lachrymose a theme is greatly to his credit.

Incidentally, it is my understanding that Norma Terris will not be heard in Washington in the dual role of Kathleen-Moonyeen. Information is at hand that Lelane Rivera will sing the part—and sing it excellently, too, by the way—until Thursday night when it will be assumed by Natalie Hall.

The absence of a line that I should not have dropped—and of course it was done inadvertently in the rush of a sketchy bit of midnight writing—from yesterday morning's review of "All Is Love," defrauded Reginald Owen of a specific commendatory word for the worth of his initial performance in the role of John Carteret, the pivotal figure about whom the plot revolves.

Mr. Owen is an actor whose capabilities are known to Washington playgoers, both stage and screen. Perhaps you motion picture devotees will remember him best as the silly ass British brother of Robert Montgomery in the film version of "The Man in Possession."

Just because the first names are the same, Reginald Owen is not to be confused with Reginald Carrington who already has appeared in two fatuous productions in Washington this season—Irene Bordoni's "The Improper Duchess," and that ill-contrived caricature of "Mr. Whistler."

Since this bears all the earmarks of a strictly "All Is Love" column—so far, at least—the following note received in Tuesday afternoon's mail may stir pleasant memories in the minds of veteran lovers of the theater:

January 19, 1932.

"Dear Nelson Bell: Last night as I watched Nick Long, jr., do his bit to add some gayety to 'Love Is All,' 34 years dropped from my bald head and my mind's eye saw Nick Long, sr., and Clara Lipman going through the paces of their comic song, 'We're All the Way From Gay Paree,' in the original performances of that lively farce, 'The Girl From Paris.'

"Nick Long, sr., was about the funniest burlesque Frenchman we have had. The son gives promise of accomplishment. And his mother—Idalene Cotton—do you remember her? She was gifted as an imitator of great artists, but also had some success as a musical comedy player on her own account. The papers used to speak of her as a daughter of the famous Ben Cotton.

"At this moment, I am not just sure that I recall who Ben Cotton was—but I suppose a well-known player of the 70s and 80s. So Nick Long, jr., is a son of the stage—and maybe you would express the hope that he loom as large as his father and forefathers did.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) J. G. M'FADDEN."

After you've seen him dance, Mac, Nick, jr., needs no word from me or anybody else about that looming business!

This, unfortunately, seems to be the season of sudden changes in the local cathedrals of the cinema.

Hot on the heels of Fred Fiader's transfer to New York from the post of managing director of the Rialto Theater comes word that Colby Harriman, twice incumbent of the post of panjandrum of the Loew interests in the National Capital, has severed his connection with the Loew organization and no longer presides over the destinies of the Palace and Columbia theaters in this city.

Mr. Harriman is a man of fine achievement and background in the theater and his departure from the local field is deeply regretted by this column, which has always looked upon him as an asset to the screen's cultural as well as amusement influence.

But now that Mr. Harriman is gone, the identity of his successor becomes a matter of prime importance to both picture patrons and the press.

This department hereby votes—and will repeat as often as may be possible—for the return to his former post of M. J. ("Mike" to you and me) Cullen, whom Mr. Harriman succeeded upon Mike's assignment to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Cullen knows Washington and Washington knows Mr. Cullen and unless Loew's, Inc., is earnestly endeavoring to acquire two socks on the button instead of one, it is our unsolicited opinion that Mike is the guy upon whom the finger should be put for a resumption of his former duties.

Do I hear a "nay?" No, I do not!

So go ahead and start your chain letter and drop in and see your Congressman!

For some time Kate Smith's local booking as a vaudeville headliner hinged upon the question of who was to assume the wire charges for her commercial broadcasts during her weeks on tour. That has now been definitely settled. And how!

Kate's salary when she plays Washington the week of February 6, according to Variety, will be $6,000 per week and she will pay her own wire charges! The same terms will prevail throughout the remaining weeks of her tour of personal appearances which will carry her as far West as Chicago.

If you are still listening, the current gag is:

"Did you hear about Kate Smith's breaking her back?"

"No. How did it happen?"

"She got in a hurry and tried to lift the moon over that mountain!"

No, I didn't think so either!

Musicians' Benefit Set for January 29

Program to Be Presented in Library of Congress by Four Artists.

A benefit musical program, combining the talents of four internationally known musicians, will be held Friday night, January 29, in the auditorium of the Library of Congress. The proceeds will be used to aid unemployed musicians.

Those taking part in the program include Nina Koshetz, Russian soprano; Harold Bauer, pianist; Paul Kochanski, Polish violinist, and Hans Kindler, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra.

The program is under the auspices of the Friends of Music in the Library of Congress. Arrangements are being completed by Mrs. Tracy Dows, Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, Miss Grace Dunham Guest and Mrs. Myron W. Whitney.

Officers Chosen At Hebrew Home

Charles Goldsmith was reelected president of the Hebrew Home for the Aged at the seventeenth annual meeting of the home. He outlined work accomplished in the past.

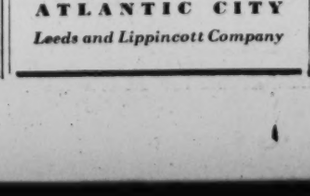
Other officers named were Morris Garfinkle, first vice president; Mrs. William Levy, second vice president; Maurice Mazo, third vice president; Simon Hirshman, secretary; M. Reichgut, treasurer; Norman Fisher, financial secretary, and Morris Stein, house chairman.

Hary Sherby, Bernard Danzansky and Dr. Harry Lewis were named trustees. Full reports from all of last year's officers were presented.

Reception Is Delayed By Illness of Pastor

The reception to the Rev. Carl C. Rasmussen, pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church and Mrs. Rasmussen, originally announced to take place this evening, at 8 o'clock, has been postponed owing to the illness of Dr. Rasmussen, and will be held next Wednesday evening.

The reception, which is tendered to the pastor and his wife in honor of the first eighteen months of his pastorate at the church, is being arranged by the church council and the congregation.



A HAPPY
harmony

ON Saturday, January 23, our rafters (so to speak) will ring with the voices of the University of Pennsylvania Glee Club. And on each Saturday after that, there will be a similar musical treat by the leading college glee clubs . . . to divert those guests who have run away from a high-tension world for relaxation by the sea.

Join them. A week-end here is a happy harmony, too . . . of health and pleasure. Get a breath of invigorating ocean air. A little exercise by the sea. . . . Riding. Golf. Squash. The deep sleep that comes with physical well-being. And the pleasure of a Chalfonte-Haddon Hall visit, with its background of comfort and service. It's not an expensive pleasure, for 1932 rates are in effect. Write or phone 4-0141.

RAIL WORKERS WANT EXPLANATION OF CUT

Presidents of Roads Asked to Give Reasons for Pay-Slash Plan.

Chicago, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Railway workers asked the employers today to explain exactly why they thought a 10 per cent wage reduction necessary.

Labor, said its spokesman at the rail wage reduction conference, was unwilling to accept as arguments for wage reductions either the claim of "inadequate return" or comparisons of the cost of living.

Instead, the union delegation suggested detailed explanation of the needs of the railroad to meet their fixed charges and to maintain credit.

Explanation Asked.

"If the railroads desire the employes to give careful consideration to the financial arguments in favor of wage reductions," David B. Robertson told the rail presidents, "it would be advisable for the railroads to present a written compilation of what they regarded as important statistics."

The argument that wages should be reduced because the cost of living was lower could not be accepted by the working man, Robertson said. The comparison made by the presidents was with living costs in 1913 and the spokesman said labor "could not permit" the standard of living of today to be compared with a time when the average rail worker had only $2 a day with which to support his family.

The presidents agreed to submit their figures possibly at 10 a. m. tomorrow, and the fifth session of the negotiations, the shortest meeting thus far, adjourned after an hour and 15 minutes.

Pay Cut Deferred.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad today said it had declined an offer, made by part of its employe personnel, to accept a 10 per cent cut in wages.

About 10,000 employes, railroad officials said, offered voluntarily to accept the cut, but the management decided to decline pending the outcome of the wage conference between railroad labor and management now going on in Chicago.

J. M. Davis, president of the Lackawanna, said the road was unwilling to accept the offer of only part of its employes until the outcome of the wage conference so that all would be treated on the same basis.

Jewels for Financing Royal Weddings Lost

Paris, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The fortune in jewels with which the Infanta Eulalia, daughter of one of the Queens of Spain, had intended to finance the marriage of her grandsons to the daughters of former King Alfonso are missing, it was learned today.

A trunk supposed to contain the gems was sent to her from Spain several days ago, but when she opened it she found only a heap of shawls and several old umbrellas. The jewels, which she had sent to Madrid from Paris when the Germans were advancing on the city during the war, were gone.

ARTISTE, 18, SHARES HONORS WITH GIGLI

Program by Operatic Tenor and Mlle. Salomons Delights Audience.

Beniamino Gigli, premier tenor of the Metropolitan, and Mlle. Jacqueline Salomons, 18-year-old French violinist, proved an irresistible combination in concert at Constitution Hall yesterday afternoon when a large audience applauded the comprehensive program to the echo.

The concert was given under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

Gigli was in his usual incomparable vocal form and sang a delightful series of compositions which ranged from Schumann's ever lovely "Du Bist Wie eine Blume" to operatic arias which displayed all the facets of his vocal genius and his beautiful mellow tones to perfection.

Mlle. Salomons plays with the skill of a master. Her tone is a broad golden one, her harmonics things of beauty and she exhibited other arts of the virtuoso as well. Her touch is delicate but virile and sure and in a Tartini-Kreisler "Variations on a Theme of Corelli" her mastery of her difficult instrument was unique.

Her main number, of course, was Handel's "Sonata in A Major" with its two exquisite movements varying in voice but equal in beauty. In this sonata her graceful fingering, the sure sweep of her bow and the velvety smoothness of her playing left the audience in a very enthusiastic mood.

Mr. Gigli began his program with the singing of an Italian song, "Intorno All'idol Mio," by A. M. Cesti. In this number the impeccable diction and the joy visible on the singer's face because he was singing in this language added to its effectiveness.

FAMOUS SEER

THE MAN WHO KNOWS

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travels, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power. Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay

Economy, Distinction and Pleasure Meet When You

SHOP on CONNECTICUT AVENUE

Connecticut Avenue Shops offer you greater value for your expenditure, whether it be large or small! You may buy superior quality for the same money or pay less for articles of similar character. This fact is often surprising to people who conceive that because Connecticut Avenue shops are patronized by the wealthy and socially prominent, prices must also be on a higher level. On the contrary, overhead expenses are lower on Connecticut Avenue than in the heart of the downtown section. Rents are lower and many other obvious circumstances effect savings that are reflected in the prices of merchandise . . . In addition, Connecticut Avenue shops offer you the advantage of a sincere personal service by the merchant, and a discriminating variety of selection. Thus you are enabled to secure distinctive merchandise and true individuality and your shopping expedition becomes an enjoyable experience rather than a disagreeable task—an impression that is further intensified by the character of people with whom you "rub elbows" in Connecticut Avenue Shops.

Culbertson on Contract

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

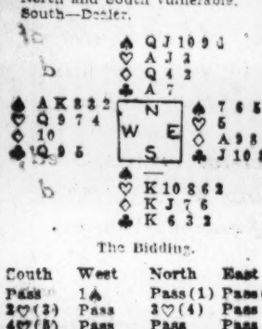
TRADING TWO FOR ONE.

EVEN a Connecticut Yankee, with his well-established reputation for finding a market for wooden nutmegs, would be delighted with the opportunity of trading one American dollar for two American dollars. In Contract Bridge the unit of value is the trick, and the Contract player who can trade one trick for two is making a bargain advantageous to his side and one that can not be arrived at every day in the year. Today's hand, however, presents one of these unusual opportunities.

North and South vulnerable.

South—Dealer.



The Bidding.

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♠	Pass (1)	Pass (2)
2♡ (3)	Pass	3♡ (4)	Pass
4♡ (5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

1. North's hand ordinarily could justify an Overcall, but his partner has passed and he is well content with West's spade. The opponents, even though not vulnerable, may be headed for disaster.

2. East probably should protect his partner's Opening bid by a show of strength. However, the hand is very weak and he feels that the safest course is to permit his partner to play it in a contract of one.

3. South correctly infers from West's bid and East's pass that North has a much stronger hand than East. Although the heart suit is weak, the bid, though daring, has a sound basis in the bidding.

4. North has substantial assistance for South's bid.

5. This bid has a twofold explanation—the excellent distribution of the hand and the fact that opponents made only one bid.

West opened with the King of spades, which South won with the trump. A heart was then led, and the Knave finessed. The Ace of hearts was led, and this disclosed that West held four hearts originally. Thus, West had a certain trick in trumps. The deuce of diamonds was led from the Dummy; and East, who felt certain that South held several diamonds, did not play the Ace. He wished to hold this card to prevent the establishment of the Queen in the Dummy. South won with the Knave and then played three rounds of clubs, ruffing the third round with Dummy's last trump. The Queen of spades was now led from the Dummy and South discarded his last club. He now had a perfect count on the West hand. West had played one diamond and three clubs. He was known to hold four hearts. Therefore, his remaining cards must be only spades and hearts, if, as seemed probable, he had held five spades originally. West won this trick with the Ace of spades and sought to exit from his hand by sacrificing his sure trump trick. He led the nine of hearts, but South, desiring to make the advantageous trade of one trick for two, took the trick with the King and forced West back in the lead with the Queen of hearts. West, now void of everything but spades, was compelled to concede the remaining tricks to the now established Dummy. If West, instead of leading the nine of hearts had led the Queen, he could have saved one trick, as South could not then have forced him into the lead.

Today's Pointer.

Question: What is an important characteristic of the Culbertson honor table?

Answer: It counts only two honor tricks in any one suit, because it counts only defensive values.

(Copyright, 1932.)

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 2-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jane Corbett INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, Jan. 19.

ONE Paris couturier offers Miladi a choice of alabastar or ochre in her complexion, and then selects the styles and color to suit her complexion. Now a famous Parisienne beauty specialist does even better, and offers Miladi artificial means for acquiring either type of complexion, giving her at the same time an opportunity for variety, since she can so easily change from one complexion to another.

Apart from these natural and artificial aids to determine our complexion tints, we are, of course, all anxious to know what the style in complexions is really to be. The habit of wearing beach pyjamas, which naturally protect the greater part of the body from the sun, as well as the habit of utilizing modes of the past that continue to delight and charm, point to the return to favor of a camella complexion—while the outdoor sports which modern woman is very reluctant to give up, insist upon a bronze complexion!

What then, what then? Well, the time may come when a woman's tastes and habits will be written on her face—when the woman who is fond of sun and wind and the great outdoors can be easily distinguished by her sun-kissed complexion, from her less hardy sister, who prefers indoor pleasures and arts.

But whether a woman prefers one or the other need not necessarily be written on her complexion, because by means of baths of blue light and some medicated jellies, as well as electric massage with metal rollers, the most weather-beaten complexion in the world can be made to make the lily blush.

On the other hand, the lovely, languorous lady, who nevertheless yearns for the warm complexion tints of the maidens who live in the sunny southlands, can darken her skin by means of certain prepared oils and the now widely known and used sun-lamp, or with the artificial darkening of the skin obtained by certain lotions, which can be removed as any face paint.

So, you see, it's all a matter of taste and appropriateness, rather than the mode, isn't it!

* * * *

And as a direct contrast to yesterday's sketched gown of black tulle in the olden manner, here in a lovely evening gown in the most modern manner. Do you need further proof of the fact that neither the modes of yesterday nor those essentially of today "are the most stylish?" It's absolutely a matter of personal choice and which type of wearnig apparel is best suited to your own personality and type.

The evening gown I sketched for you today is my selection of the most perfect example of modern elegance of line, to be seen in the collections of the Paris Haute Couture. Ardanse, that most modern of elegants herself, designed it, and had it executed in velvet in the most subtle of degrade (daygrah-day) which shaded from dark grey clear on up to white—or down rather, because 'twas at the hem that the white appeared rather than at the top!

* * * *

Dash to your hat box, drag out all of your dilapidated, antedated and antiquated felt hats, rip every speck of trimming off of them, and start cleaning them if you know how or have them cleaned! Because your Dare has a leaflet for you which absolutely guarantees to show you how to make any one of these felts into a brand new, chic and elegant hat! And not a cent of expenditure either, except the stamped self-addressed envelope which you send to the Dare Department of The Post for the leaflet. And she promises you successs with the making of this new hat, whether you have ever made a hat before in your life or not. Hurry!

Au Revoir.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

IRON AND COPPER.

A NORMAL man, under ordinary circumstances, needs about one-quarter of a grain of iron daily. If he is on an average American diet, what he eats will supply that amount of the mineral, or more. If he is on a milk diet, or any other kind of freak diet, there is a fair chance that he will need some additional iron, or that he must eat some foods that will supply the need. If he has some disease that destroys the richness of the blood he may require iron from some source.

Sherman gives the iron foods, in the order of their value as a source, as lima beans, peas, unmilled wheat, lean beef, steak, spinach, oatmeal, raisins, eggs and green vegetables.

Babies are born with a considerable amount of stored iron. Since they live for a long time on milk, a food that is poor in iron, they use up their reserve and presently they are pale and white. Among the good foods with which to supplement milk in a pale baby's diet are yellow of egg, egg soups, oatmeal, wheat germ and soups made with green vegetables and spinach.

Among the diseases which cause a considerable degree of anemia are Bright's disease, acute rheumatic fever and malaria. Among the iron-rich foods that are good for pale people, made so by these diseases, are green vegetables, spinach, good vegetable soup and pot liquors, salads, unmilled wheat, egg yellows and lean meat.

It has been established that man needs a little copper in his food in order to avail himself of the iron in his diet. Among the best copper foods, the first named being the best, are wheat germ, almonds, oats, kidney beans, rye, peas, asparagus, corn, lentils and barley. Many, though not all the, green oysters, contain more than the average amount of copper.

Actively growing children need to eat lime foods. It is thought that nervous, on-edge people and those who catch diseases easily are especially in need of lime foods. Dr. M. H. Epstein gives the richer lime foods in the following order: Milk, cheese, all other foods made from milk, carrots, cabbage, turnips, oranges, prunes, beets and apples.

Phosphorus goes hand in hand with lime. If they get out of proper relation health is hazarded. Dr. Epstein quotes Lusk as ranking the phosphorus foods in the following order: Milk, egg yolk, cheese, unmilled wheat, beans, oatmeal, lean beef, peanuts, walnuts and almonds.

In the trimming of vegetables for cooking the percentage of loss is given by McDonald as follows: String beans, 15; cabbage, 19; carrots, 17; cauliflower, 70; celery, 23; head lettuce, 41; old potatoes, 12; new potatoes, 18; spinach, 17; turnips, 16; yams, 15.

If unmilled nuts are bought, by weight the loss in reducing to nut meat is very great.

OXALIC ACID.

L. W. writes: My neighbor had a saucer of oxalic acid and water. My 4-year-old son thought it was tea and drank it. That was two weeks ago and we just found it out today. He has belched a lot, but seems to suffer no discomfort.

Is it poisonous? What effect does it have on the system if taken internally? It was a weak solution.

REPLY.

Oxalic acid is very poisonous. Your child escaped with his life because the solution was weak. Perhaps he spilled more than he drank.

PUFFINESS UNDER EYES.

H. R. writes:

1. What causes puffiness under the eyes?

2. Does this condition call for medical attention?

REPLY.

1. Among the several causes are Bright's disease, heart disease, anemia, some parasitic conditions, eyestrain and local acidosis.

2. Sometimes it does. In many cases it is not of much consequence.

HAVE EYES EXAMINED.

Mrs. R. S. B. writes: I have a girl 11 years old who has eye trouble, and I hope you can help me. The pupil of her eye is shaped wrong—like a lemon. Her eyesight is falling every year, though so far she has made her grades at school. She wears glasses. If there is anything in the world that will help my child, I would like to know about it.

REPLY.

The unusual shape of the pupil opening is in no direct way responsible for her faulty vision. At most, it is an effect and not a cause.

The eyes should be thoroughly examined to see what is the real disorder.

IT MAY TAKE YEARS.

M. E. T. writes: How long would it take for a sprained ankle to become thoroughly well again? Would it take as long as two months for the swelling to disappear? Is it always painful?

REPLY.

Probably years. Many bad sprains are really fractures of small bony processes. Others are tears of ligaments or tendons. Both tears of ligaments and tendons or fractures of bony eminences heal slowly and often heal incompletely. A milder sprain may be due to a tear in a number of muscle fibers, and this, too, may be slow in healing.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Cross Words and Happiness.

MY Dear Miss McDonald: Your plea to contented wives moves me to send you the encouragement you asked for, and perhaps in return you can give me a grain of comfort, too. Our case is so unusual that I think it shows what contentment two people can make for themselves if they will, even under circumstances absolutely the reverse of all the rules laid down as necessary for happy marriages. Sometimes I fear that I have done a great injustice to my husband, being nearly ten years older than he is, and having given to him, who would have liked children of his own, only stepchildren. Then I realize that he has had nearly ten years of the most perfect happiness and contentment, which, instead of showing any signs of waning, seems to grow deeper and stronger with the years. Do you think that, no matter what the future holds, that would make the balance even?

To make a very long story as short as possible, I was married for 21 years to a man who had every domestic fault toward his wife and children, but who was considered a model by the world outside. I admit that his reputation was greatly of my own making, as, while I was his wife and he was the father of my four children, I thought—perhaps unwisely—that my loyalty to him should cover all his sins. However, during the last three years his drunkenness, his treatment of the children and his affairs with other women became known, as he had reached the point where he even lacked the wish to conceal what he did. Of course, every one in the community finally knew a great deal about our affairs. After I was a widow (my youngest son then being 3 years old), among other friends a man 8 years younger than I, who was somewhat lavishly endowed with worldly goods, began to be very nice to me. He said that his interest had been first attracted by my attitude toward my husband during all that unbelievably terrible time. For four years I resolutely refused to consider marrying him on account of the great difference in our ages, on the wrong side of the balance; and because, after my first matrimonial experience, I was in the state of mind of the burned child who dreads the fire. Well, after four years my resistance weakened and we were married. He was 39 and I was 47! Every one we know knows just how much older I am than he is, so there are no foolish—and useless—pretenses to keep up about that. However, he is very tall and I am very small and slight. Neither of us has any gray hair yet; both of us have rather smooth skins, and even now we look about the same age. Sometimes, because I am so small and blonde I look younger than he, but we both accept the fact that that won't always be the case, and think no more about it. We have been married for eight years. He has been a wise, indulgent and devoted father to my four children, who adore him. He would have liked to have children of his own, but he willingly accepted that deprivavtion when he married so old a woman. We have absolutely identical tastes in almost everything—we like to travel, to dance, play golf and ride together; and to go to the movies, theaters and concerts and lots of things not so frivolous. We both count the evenings spent at home the best. When we were married we did not have the same circle of friends, but I welcomed all of his and he welcomed all of mine, and as we liked the same kind of people both of us gained a lot. When we do anything independently of each other, the other is pleased and interested in hearing all about the experience. If it wouldn't sound too ridiculous at our ages, and with four children, I should say that the past eight years have been just one long honeymoon.

Now comes what really is the point of it all, which I think is better expressed by the following little happening than it could be told in any other way:

I came home after a perfectly hilarious and ridiculous excursion, on which I alone had taken the children for the day—ending in a dilapidated arrival home, alarmingly late for dinner, flat tires on the automobile and all sorts of calamities. After a hilarious account of a very serious situation from all the children, I said to him, anxiously enough: "You really should be very cross at me and give me a good scolding." He answered: "Cross at you! How could I ever be cross at you when in all these years I have never heard from you a cross nor impatient nor irritable word? How could I ever be cross?" Is that the answer? Are most people too ready to be cross?

CONTENTED.

What Today Means to You

"CAPRICORN."

IF January 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:40 to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Fate will be tricky and playful January 20, and blessings will not be handed out on a silver platter. The following words may help you to find the plums of the day: "Wisdom is oftimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar." Travel only through necessity!

The child born on this January 20 will be naturally extravagant, and will need to learn wisdom in this respect. Strong currents of success and nonsuccess are shown in its astrological picture, and it will learn through experience to swim with, and not against, the current.

Born January 20, your character proves the fact that to find a warm heart and sterling qualities, it is not necessary to consider what outer garb may cover or guttural tongue distinguish the inner man. Your mannerisms are brusque, your tongue a trifle sharp, and many of your ideas unconventional. Your bark is worse than your bite, and one only needs to scratch your outer veneer to find a diamond in the rough. Duty will always be your guiding light, and without hesitation you would throw your happiness or comfort into the discard in order to fulfill its demands.

You do and see things in a big way; you are satisfied to visualize or secure results without questioning the details. You are generally too busy to indulge in the pleasures of contemplations. You are content to go straight ahead without looking down those side paths into which so many immature thinkers stray. As a rule, you are outwardly in good spirits, and the world is seldom allowed to sense that all is not well with you.

You have little use for the ornamentations of life, and only that which has immediate and visible function is tolerable to you. You feel your responsibilities, and should rise to a position in life of immense responsibility.

Successful people born January 20:
Richard Henry Lee, statesman.
Robert Morris, financier.
Mischa Elman, Russian violinist.
Josef Hofman, pianist.
David Wilmot, senator.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

PREPARING POTTING SOIL.

QUITE frequently, even in midwinter, it becomes necessary to transplant some of our house plants. Because of this it is always advisable to keep a box of workable soil on hand, for in the winter when the ground is frozen it is impossible to use the ordinary garden loam.

When mixing soil for house plants remember that sheep, hen or pigeon manures are so strong that they will burn the roots of the plants if they are used in large amounts.

It is well whenever you can obtain peat, muck or leaf mold to use it. Either of these ingredients will make the soil more friable and increase its water-holding capacity and at the same time, induce a better growth of roots.

Peat is very scarce in this country, but you can always secure it from your seed man. Leaf mold and muck from about the edges of ponds are always obtainable and cost virtually nothing but the labor of obtaining; one of these three forms of vegetable materials should be used to supply the necessary humus. After they have been incorporated with the soil it will be necessary to add some plant food in the form of what is known as a complete fertilizer. This may be bought from any dealer. Bone meal, a cupful to a large pail of soil, is always a practical and a safe form of fertilizer, especially for the amateur gardener.

We should always consider the plants in our collection when preparing potting soil. Chinese primroses and begonias demand a soil in which there is a percentage of leaf mold. All soil must have sand in sufficient quantity to perfect the drainage. Florists use potting soil which is made up of one-third sand.

If you have a plant with which you are not familiar, and, therefore, do not know just what kind of soil to use you should examine the roots. If they are like those of the rose or geranium, strong in appearance, give them a moderately heavy soil. If they are small and threadlike, and there are a great many of them, give them a spongy soil. A study of the roots of a plant will enable you to decide satisfactorily, after a little experience, the kind of soil it requires.

School Band to Play At Western Tonight

The parents of all Western High School students and all others interested in the school are invited to attend the meeting of the Home and School Association at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium. Newbold Noyes, associate editor of the Evening Star, will be one of the speakers.

William H. Rastall, chairman of the legislative committee, will give a record on the situation with reference to the proposed new Reno High School, which is expected to relieve Western High School from another congestion. Charles V. Imlay, president of the association, will preside. The school band will render selections.

The usual teacher-parent conferences will be held from 7:30 to 8:15 in rooms designated for the purpose.

Sibley Hospital Guild Will Meet Tomorrow

The Woman's Guild of Sibley Memorial Hospital will hold its first meeting of the new year tomorrow morning at 10:45 in Rust Hall, adjoining the hospital.

Dr. A. M. Brodie, of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker. Miss Pearl Morrison, superintendent of Nurses at Sibley Hospital, will tell about Christmas at Sibley, and Mrs. Louis Potter will present a group of songs. Important business will be taken up, and all members and friends are invited.

Street to Address Rotarians.

The Rotary Club will hold a meeting and dinner in the small ballroom of the Willard this evening at 6 o'clock. Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, will speak on the activities of the Community Chest. Because of the evening meeting, the usual noonday meeting will not take place.

GALLAGHER, KNOCKED DOWN, OUTPOINTS WEINER

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

STRICTLY LOCAL.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY, now involved with George Washington U. and Catholic U. in a three-cornered battle for Washington football patronage which the Hilltop once claimed as its own, holds a strong hand with first call on Griffith Stadium.

Georgetown stepped in to claim the October 8 date at Griffith Stadium, scheduling Canisius College, after learning that G. W. would meet Alabama here on that date. Coach Pixlee must take the Alabama game to other quarters or erect some goal posts on Pennsylvania avenue.

Maj. Harvey L. ("Heinie") Miller, who refereed the Gallagher-Weiner fight last night at Alexandria, was one of the Navy's greatest aft-deck poets in his sailor days. Heinie's renditions of "The Kid's Last Fight" and "Have You Got the Makin's Kid?" won him laureate honors.

Dr. George Sharpe and Angus J. McDonald, major-domos of the Downtown Coaches Association, are in a deep huddle with their plans for the annual banquet at the Columbia Country Club February 16. That is the day when Spalding's second guessers and privy councilors put the local coaches on the skillet.

Promoters of the Auditorium's marathon dance must confer with the contestants soon anent the automobile show which will take possession of the floor on January 26. The end of the dance seems to be in sight. Fallen arches can't compete with free wheeling.

The Post's District basket ball championship, dedicated to the bicentennial year, will be the first sports event on the progtam of the 1932 fete in the absence of any official announcement by the District Bicentennial Committee concerning a sports program for the year.

Joe Judge is mystified as to his status with the Washington Club on account of having been tendered no contract for 1932 despite the fact that papers were supposed to have been mailed to all members of the team last week. He is not letting the delay interfere with his daily workouts at the Jewish Community Center, where he is training under the direction of Doc Green, who has cured Joe of the frequent "charley horses" that threatened to cut short his baseball career.

The news that the White Sox have signed Sam Jones is news. Jones was always Clark Griffith's most difficult customer when contract time came along, and it was always with a deep sigh of relief that Griffith tucked Sad Sam's signed contract in the files.

Most surprising to Washington's fistic colony is the fact that two fight cards have been staged at Alexandria with none of Patsy Donovan's stable of 58 performers on the list. Unprecedented.

The Warner system of football finds a stanch supporter in Charlie Guyon, who played under Pop Warner at Carlisle and who will coach the Eastern High eleven next season. "The success of Warner has always been in knowing when to make substitutions," says Guyon. And the same argument is used to explain Notre Dame's two defeats under Heartly Anderson last season.

Washington will be the scene of the National A. A. U. swim for women this winter if $3,000 can be found to finance the event. Half of the sum is expected to be returned in admissions. Helene Madison, holder of nearly 40 records, would be the chief attraction.

Maestro Joe Turner sounded out the reaction of Washington's wrestling fans to the appearance of Leo Pinetzki, new mammoth of the mat, last week, and as a result the big Pole, most ponderous of all the pachyderms, is to be scheduled here in a feature bout in which he will be exposed to the ohs and ahs of the audience for more than the 2½ minutes of his last match. Such speedy tactics are not tolerated in the main bouts.

Lee Poe Hart's ping pong championship of the National Press Club is being challenged by Spike Collins, now in training for the match and taking a course in aerodynamics on the side to discover why the little white ball defies all the laws of gravity when hit by a racket in the hands of a man named Collins.

EASTERN HIGH WINS OVER CENTRAL FIVE IN THRILLER, 25-24

By BOB CONSIDINE.

EASTERN HIGH won the most spectacular game of the scholastic basket ball year yesterday by beating Central, 25-24, to maintain its lead in the high school series. Tech took second place in the league standings later in the day by rallying to beat Western, 41-38. Three thousand high school kids raised the sturdy Tech roof at the start of the afternoon's excitement and kept it raised for three raucous hours.

The Eastern-Central game left more weak knees in the audience than a plague of water on the knee. Not in several years have two teams been more perfectly matched than the principals in this feature contest yesterday. Never more than 5 points separated the two teams, and Central led down to the last thrill-soaked minute, when a slim young man stepped into the picture and forever endeared himself to Eastern supporters.

Bayliss Makes Good On Foul Shots.

Jack Bayliss was his name. The score was 24-23 in favor of Central. He and Bill Burke, Central's spearhead, collided and Referee Mitchell ruled that Burke had commited the foul. Bayliss stepped up to the foul line, with the insane shrieks of 3,000 blasting his ears, and as the relentless second hand on the timekeeper's watch approached the meridian, he sank two perfectly delivered foul shots, tying the score on the first and winning the game on the second.

Eastern won the game on fouls in the final summation. Thirteen times out of sixteen did Eastern capitalize on the gift line. The tide began to swing in the direction of the eventual winners when Gene Swift, of Central, the fightingest little guard in the series, went out of the game on personals, with five minutes left to play. But his work was done. He had halted every scoring attempt on the part of Barney Kane, Eastern's leading shot, whom it was his duty to guard.

Burke's Shots Give Central Lead.

Every man on the floor played the best game he has shown. The passing of both teams was hard and accurate, the alertness of both sides markedly good. Billy Burke, playing the most consistently strenuous game of all, boosted Central ahead, 24-18, with three minutes to go. Eastern, at this point dug its cleats in, held Central scoreless, while Courtney, Lieb and Bayliss, in turn, applied the grand finishing touches.

It was rough and ready play, with

"Stuffy" Stewart Sold To Knoxville by Seattle

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Sales of Charles "Stuffy" Stewart, second baseman, to Knoxville of the Southern Association, was announced today by William Klepper, president of the Seattle Club, who is attending the Pacific Coast League meeting here. No terms were made public.

Seattle purchased Stewart last year from Baltimore of the International League.

"Stuffy" Stewart received several tryouts with the Nats during Bucky Harris' career as manager. He was recognized as one of the best base runners in the league and a clever fielder but was handicapped by weak hitting.

Scoville Upsets Hall In 3-Cushion Title Play

Chicago, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Frank Scoville, of Buffalo, N. Y., today was back at his old tricks in three-cushion tournament billiards. Scoville, who defeated Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., then the defending champion, in the 1931 tournament, today defeated Allen Hall, last year's runnerup, in the second game of today's world championship tournament program, for another upset. Scoville's margin was 50 to 42, in 53 innings.

In the first match, Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, defeated J. N. Bozeman, of Vallejo, Calif., the Pacific Coast champion, 50 to 42, in 56 innings.

Augie Kieckhefer, of Chicago, had to come from behind to defeat Ua Copulos, of Eugene, Oreg., 50 to 47 in 62 innings.

G. U. BEATEN BY RALLY OF DUQUESNE

Dukes Freeze Ball as End Nears to Gain 29-27 Victory.

THE burly Dukes of Duquesne sent Georgetown skimming down the ways to its fourth straight loss last night at Tech Gym, 29 to 27, after floundering in the wake of the Hilltop crew for a full three-quarters of the game.

Trailing, 7 to 13, at the half, Duquesne began a stubborn offensive, which punctured the armor of the Hoya Team to good effect. The Pittsburghers forged abreast of Georgetown midway in the second half, when McGeever, elongated center, dropped one in from the equator of the court and McDougal sent his team ahead with a shot from the foul stripe.

Once ahead, Duquesne held on tenaciously to its lead, showing a blistering man-for-man defense despite the fact that Reiter, Feldman, and presently McGeever, had been retired to the sidelines by way of the personal foul route. McDougal boosted his side out of the immediate reach of Georgetown with two good shots, 25 to 21.

Georgetown Whittles Lead to Point.

Georgetown, with King and Carolan playing featured roles, came up to 26 to 28, and then moved to within one point of the Dukes, 27 to 28, when O'Neill dropped in a foul shot. But the Blue and White Squad on the floor could score no more, while a gallery of more than 500 became nearly wild in their exhortations for a victory. Duquesne's patched squad could not be pried loose from the ball, as it froze it with able passing and dribbling. Zerilla added the final Duquesne point with a arch from the gratis line.

Showing much of the skill their coach, Freddy Mesmer, has sought to grind into them since taking over the loose reins of the team, Georgetown packed power galore in the early stages of the game, making their own plays easily and riddling the Duquesne No. 1 team with a passing attack that sent Tom Carolan winging beneath the basket ripe for shooting.

The seasoned young Georgetown Freshman five kept clean its slate with an easy 33-13 affair with Devitt Prep. Biff Hardigan again shone, this time to the tune of 14 points.

Jamieson Declines Toledo Managership

Cleveland, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Charley Jamieson, veteran Cleveland outfielder, today declined an offer to manage the Toledo Mud Hens, recently acquired by the Indians, because he believes he is still good enough for major league baseball.

General Manager Billy Evans said Jamieson's decision to stick with Cleveland leaves the inside track at at Toledo to "Bib" Falk, another veteran fly chaser. If Falk likewise declines, then the offer will be made to Steve O'Neil, former catcher with the Indians.

Baseball Held Most Popular Of Sports

Poll by Associated Press Puts Football Next, Golf Third.

National Game's Grip in Small Towns Is Cited.

(This is the first of a series of stories reflecting the results of the Associated Press sports editor's poll among American newspaper experts on the Nation's outstanding sports fancies, facts and recollections. It is in answer to the query: "What are the three most popular sports, in order, taking into consideration playing activity as well as fan interest.)

By ALAN GOULD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Baseball in the opinion of the experts who feel and minister to the Nation's sporting pulse, still ranks as the No. 1 American game, despite the obvious inroad on its popularity by the rapid development of football and golf.

In a country-wide poll by the Associated Press among sports writers and editors, to determine the most popular sport, baseball leads by a fair-sized margin. Football is a strong second, even with the seasonal factor admitted. Golf holds third place and boxing fourth.

Basket ball, horse racing, fishing and hunting, track and field, ice hockey and tennis are the only other sports mentioned in the voting by the experts as being entitled to rank among any "first three."

38 First Choices Favor Baseball.

Here is the outcome of the balloting, counting 3 points for first choice, 2 points for second, 1 point for third.

Baseball	181	(38 first choices)
Football	163	(27 first choices)
Golf	114	(16 first choices)
Boxing	29	(2 first choices)
Basket ball	9	(1 first choice)
Horse racing	7	(1 first choice)
Fishing and Hunting	4	(1 first choice)
Track and Field	2
Ice hockey	1
Tennis	1

Although a somewhat sharp difference of opinion is manifest, as to how much baseball has declined in general interest, if any, the poll convincingly discloses the remarkable gains of football and golf in national popularity. Equally clear is the big decline in boxing, which in Jack Dempsey's heyday probably would have run 1-2 in any sector of the Nation.

Although, as one observer notes, "many minor leagues have folded up and many colleges and schools have quit playing the game," another says: "For all-around, month-in and month-out interest as well as from the standpoint of those who play it, baseball is far and away ahead."

Provinces Take Game Seriously.

"The family at the crossroads still takes its baseball seriously," writes an Iowa sports editor. "Try and leave out a box score if the edition is tight! The kids still play the game in meadow and corner lot. Baseball, in my judgment, is and will continue to be our national game."

"Baseball's tremendous fan interest overshadows golf's rapidly increasing participation," notes a Chicago observer, with whom a Philadelphian agrees and adds: "The world series is proof enough of baseball's popularity."

Although admitting, as do most observers, that no sport can compare with baseball day in and day out, a voice from the Pacific Northwest asserts: "Football has forged ahead of baseball in popularity because of the ballyhoo and thunder accompanying the sport over a short period of time and the interest Knute Rockne built up with his winning teams."

Golf Interests All Ages.

On the other hand, says a Memphis expert: "Golf is first because it can be played by all ages, requires no particular physical greatness and can be played at any pace."

Boxing's marked decline in popular interest is accounted for by a combination of mediocre talent and racketeering, although several observers consider it capable of reaching an "occasional peak," surpassing events in any other sport.

Yanks Purchase Coast Outfielder

Jesse Hill, Former Trojan Star, Bought for Cash and Players.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Jesse Hill, hard-hitting outfielder and former football and track star of the University of Southern California, has been purchased from the Hollywood Club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League "for cash and players," the New York Yankees announced today.

Hill has been with Hollywood since his graduation from U. S. C. in 1929, batting .350 in 1930 and .320 last year. He throws and bats right-handed.

Hill was a triple threat back at U. S. C. and a champion broad-jumper, winning the intercollegiate A. A. A. broad jump title with a record leap in 1929.

Several other Pacific Coast recruits have come to the Yankees of recent years, among them Lyn Lary, Jimmy Reese, Gordon Rhodes, Myrl Hoag and, this year, Frank Crosetti.

4,000 TO SEE NAVY PLAY MARYLAND

To Dedicate Coliseum Tonight With Ritchie in Attendance.

IN a setting flecked with notables of political and service circles and with two of the strongest basket ball teams of the Atlantic seaboard arrayed against each other, Maryland University will dedicate its new athletic plant, Ritchie Coliseum, tonight at College Park. The dedicatory ceremonies will precede a game between the University of Maryland and the Naval Academy, which begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, chief executive of the Free State, will be on hand to accept the handsomely outfitted building, named in his honor, and flanking him will be United States Senator Millard E. Tydings, an alumnus of Maryland, who will make the dedicatory speech; Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent of the Naval Academy, and others prominent in the governmental affairs of Maryland and in the life of the Annapolis institution.

Gymnasium Seats 4,000 Fans.

Ritchie Coliseum is one of the most complete structures of its kind in the country. A basket ball court of 90 feet in length and 45 feet in width is banked by concrete stands seating more than 4,000 persons. Numerous rooms outfitted for the use of teams in several other sports and for use as dormitories also are in the building.

The game brings together teams capable of displaying basket ball of the finest grade. Maryland holds the Southern Conference championship, while Navy, though unable to boast of a title, ranks with the leading fives of the East. Both teams will employ their strongest line-ups, each eager to win the decision. They are warm rivals and a capacity crowd is expected.

Vincent at Center For Maryland.

Maryland will start George Chalmers and Ed Ronkin, at forwards; Rufus Vincent, at center, and Bozie Berger and Bucky Buscher, at guards. Navy's opening line-up will be: Chittenden and Loughlin, forwards; Kastein, center, and Bedell and Frazer, guards.

To date this season Maryland has won from V. M. I. and Washington and Lee, while losing to Wisconsin and Loyola. Navy has dropped only one game, that to Pennsylvania, and has defeated Lafayette, Lehigh, Franklin and Marshall, Virginia and Duke.

College Rowing Course Changed

All Crews in 4-Mile Regatta to Use Same Pass Under Bridge.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—After fixing Monday, June 20, as the date for the 1932 Poughkeepsie Regatta, the stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association today decided on an important change in the course designed chiefly to equalize racing conditions in the four-mile varsity championship classic.

Heretofore, in the long pull down the Hudson River, the racing lanes have been so spaced that the varsity fleet, numbering nine crews in the past few years, has been sent through two adjoining arches of the spidery railroad bridge that spans the course at its three-mile mark.

This year all the crews will be sent through a single arch, the outer of the two previously used. The effect of this will be to reduce the variation of water and tidal conditions to a minimum.

The five members of the association, Columbia, Cornell, Navy, Pennsylvania and Syracuse, issued invitations to the regatta to as many other rowing colleges. Of these, California, Washington and Massachusetts Tech are expected to enter the Olympic tryouts, to be held on Lake Quinsigamond, near Worcester, Mass., in July. Wisconsin also may compete again Princeton, annually invited, annually declines with thanks and probably will do so again.

Ruffing Joins With Dickey As Holdout

4 Others Enter Fold; Lazzeri, Sewell Dissatisfied.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Out in the highways and byways, on fox and deer hunting fields, in fishing grounds and on golf links, the Associated Press went scouting today for New York baseball players to find out what they were doing about their 1932 contracts.

Eleven athletes of the three New York teams who had not previously expressed themselves publicly regarding their 1932 signatures were found pursuing various winter avocations. Five of them said they had signed, or would. Three were dissatisfied with the terms offered them but not belligerently so. One would make no comment and two said they had sent their contracts back unsigned.

Ruffing and Dickey Silent on Terms.

The latest "holdouts" are Charles (Red) Ruffing, burley right-handed pitcher, and Bill Dickey, the lean and lengthy first-string catcher of the Yankees. From his winter chateau at Nokomis, Ill., Ruffing sent word he fired the proferred contract back at the Yankees. The same word came from Dickey, off on a deer hunting trip near Little Rock, Ark. Neither divulged the terms offered them.

Chick Fullis, reserve outfielder of the Giants, Joie Sewell, Yankee third baseman, and Tony Lazzeri, former kingpin second sacker of the Yankees but last year a reservist, expressed themselves as not fully satisfied with the contracts offered.

Wally Gilbert, regular Brooklyn third baseman who is already getting in shape at Hot Springs, Ark., made no comment.

Pennock and Combs Out of Reach.

Two other old Yankee regulars, Squire Herbert Pennock, of Kennett Square, Pa., and Col. Earl Combs, of Richmond, Ky., could not be reached. Pennock was away with the hounds after a fox and the Kenutcky colonel was out after whatever he could shoot, in season.

Several of the athletes still had not received their 1932 documents, among these being Lefty O'Doul and Johnny Frederick, Brooklyn outfielders.

The Giants meanwhile received two signed contracts in the mails, from Johnny Vergez, third baseman, and Roy Parmalee, recruit pitcher. Vergez is supposed to have received a substantial raise over the amount he was paid as a first-year man in 1931.

William Wrigley Ill; Plane Carries Doctor

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—William Wrigley, jr., chewing gum manufacturer of Chicago and owner of the Chicago Cubs Baseball Team and the Los Angeles Team in the Pacific Coast League, is ill at his winter home here.

His illness became known publicly today with the arrival of a physician on a specially chartered plane from Los Angeles.

R. A. Kirkman, secretary to Wrigley, said Wrigley had suffered an attack of indigestion, but gave no details.

Five Successive Birdies Win Miami Golf Match

Miami, Fla., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Charlie McAllister's fifth successive birdie ended an extra hole match as the feature of first day's match play in a professional four ball tournament here today.

McAllister, from Queens Valley, N. Y., played with Jack Hagen, Salisbury, Long Island, to win one up in 19 holes from Art Millea, Conowingo, N. Y., and Marty Walsh, Chicago.

Millea and Walsh were 3 up on their opponents at the ninth hole, and held the advantage through the fourteenth, where McAllister's avalanche of birdies began. He dropped a subpar two at the fifteenth by virtue of a 12-foot putt. He won the sixteenth, halved the seventeenth on account of a birdie by Millea and won the eighteenth to square the match. A birdie four on the nineteenth brought his team's victory.

LOCAL HEAVYWEIGHT, WITH STRONG FINISH, WINS AT ALEXANDRIA

Rises After Count of 9 in Third Round to Batter Foe.

By JACK ESPEY.

FOR the second time in a month, Herman Weiner, left-hook artist from Baltimore, knocked his opponent down for a nine-count but failed to win the decision when Referee Heinie Miller awarded Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, the victory last night in the ten-round feature bout in Portner's Arena. A majority of the crowd of 2,500 who contributed a sizable "gate" for the benefit of the Alexandria Day Nursery, agreed with Miller, while the consensus of newspapermen at the ringside disagreed, favoring Weiner.

Duplicating his effort against Reds Barry, whom he floored for the same count only to finish officially with a draw, Weiner dropped the Foggy Bottom Irishman in the third round. His left hook, which has brought him several knockout triumphs during the past year, caught Gallagher on the side of the head and within a split second he followed with a right to the jaw. Gallagher crashed into the ropes and fell heavily to the canvas. Referee Miller started tolling off the count.

Ready to Resume At "Six."

But Gallagher, apparently in good condition despite the fact he carried more weight than usual—he weighed in at 207—recovered his senses rapidly and seemed fresh enough to resume fighting at "six." However, he rested himself on one knee until Miller called off "nine," and then arose to carry on.

Miller declared later to newspapermen that his judgment was swayed by what he contended were some illegal blows by Weiner. The referee charged Weiner with striking three low blows, hitting on the break and hitting before shaking hands at the opening of the tenth round.

The Washington Post score sheet favored Weiner, six rounds to four, and, in the writer's opinion, the blows called low were more of the "border-line" class than illegal. The blow most palpably low, that of the final round, which brought Miller's censure in no uncertain terms, was in our opinion due not to foul tactics by Weiner, but rather to the fact that Gallagher jumped nearly 6 inches off the floor just as the punch was delivered.

Weiner Scores in Early Rounds.

Weiner's vicious left hooks, and right crosses that found Marty's head and midsection times without number were more punishing than the many short right-hand blows Gallagher sent into Herman's face and head in the in-fighting. Weiner's face presented a gruesome appearance at the end, his left eye being entirely closed, blood flowing from his mouth and nose, and a lump the size of an egg projecting from the left side of his head. Weiner looked like the loser—that is, if one could forget the knockdown and the blazing punches that Gallagher had absorbed earlier.

Gallagher easily won the last two rounds with a two-fisted attack. In the ninth he crashed a right to the jaw which caused Weiner's knees to sag, while in the final chapter he struck the Baltimorean almost at will. The Post score sheet also credited the second and fourth rounds to Gallagher.

In addition to the third, The Post gave Weiner the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth. In the fifth he rocked Marty twice with lefts to the head from long range and forced him to give ground with short rights to the body. The sixth saw Weiner bobbing and weaving through Marty's defense to beat him to the punch. This was continued in the seventh and the next round found Weiner gaining an edge by virtue of a series of solid stomach blows after Marty had clouted him at the beginning with a right to the head.

Lawson Outpoints Schwartz.

Eric Lawson, Newport News light heavyweight, lived up to advance notices by cleverly outpointing Billy Schwartz, of Alexandria, in the semi-final of 8 rounds. The blond Virginian detracted from his otherwise brilliant performance by clowning in the last two rounds after he had piled up an insurmountable lead. Schwartz, ever courageous, won the second and fourth rounds by dint of some reckless slugging, but he was incapable of shielding himself against the well-timed blows of Lawson when the latter chose to be serious.

Patsy Lewis, 140, of Baltimore, southpawed his way to another victory in the main preliminary, winning on a technical knockout when his opponent, Roddy Davis, Eastern High School boy, failed to come out for the third round. This was four in a row for Lewis. In the other bouts Jesse Belt, 147, Warrenton, Va., defeated Babe Truehart, 154, Washington, and Marino Marini, local 135-pounder, beated Joey Schwartz, 132, Baltimore.

PARKER SHOOT WINNER.

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Samuel Parker, of Kalamazoo, Mich., today captured the doubles championship of the midwinter trap shoot here, breaking 175 of 200 targets at 16 yards.

R. C. Coffey, of Prairie City, Iowa, who broke 166, finished second. James L. Luke, of Wilmington, Del., was third with 154.

BAN ON MAX LIFTED BY NEW YORK

$25,000 Forfeit to Be Posted Friday for Sharkey Bout.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Max Schmeling made his peace today with the New York State Athletic Commission and the price he paid was adherence to a promise made almost two years ago.

The young German, crowned heavyweight champion here after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium in June, 1930, formally promised to resume his feud with the Boston sailorman before July 1, a pledge he made after their first match, but never kept.

The commission, which took away his title recognition when he failed to keep his word a year ago, immediately lifted Schmeling's suspension to the extent of permitting him to negotiate a contract for the Sharkey match. This will be done by Friday, Max promised, and a $25,000 forfeit will be posted at this time along with the legal papers.

Garden to Promote Match.

While no promoter was mentioned at the commission, the fact is that Schmeling already has settled on terms with Madison Square Garden for a fifteen-round engagement with Sharkey in one of the major league ball parks here in June.

The Boston warrior will arrive here Monday morning with his manager, Johnny Buckley, to sign their portion of the documents. The peace conference today brought to a close the feud that has raged between Schmeling and the commission ever since the night of the famous foul. Likewise, it removed all prospect of a match between Schmeling and Mickey Walker.

N. B. A. Moves to Ban Schmeling as Champion

Chicago, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing Association, today sent out ballots to members of the organization, asking them to vote on the question of vacating the world heavyweight championship, held by Max Schmeling, of Germany, because of the latter's failure to defend or sign to defend his title within the six-months time limit.

The N. B. A. requires that all champions recognized by the body defend their titles every six months. Schmeling's last defensive action occurred on July 3 at Cleveland against W. L. (Young) Stribling. The N. B. A. notified Schmeling he must sign up by January 3 and named Micky Walker, former welterweight and middleweight champion, as the logical contender.

Gill Third in Batting In International League

New York, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—Ike Boone, of Newark, outfielder obtained from the Brooklyn Robins, is the 1931 batting champion of the International League. The final official averages, released today, showed Boone in the first place with an average of .3561.

Raymond Pepper, of Rochester, was second with .3557, followed by John Gill, of Baltmore, with .344. Ken Strong, of Toronto, was next in line with .340.

Reading won the club batting championship with a mean of .287, 1 point better than the average compiled by Newark.

FIGHT AGAIN DELAYED.

Primo's Home Town Feasts As Citizenship Is Restored

SEQUALS, Italy, Jan. 19 (U.P.).—The spacious home of Santa and Giovanna Carnera glowed with lights tonight and red wine and spumoni were set out for the neighbors. Giovanna was the happiest woman in the village because her well known son, Primo Carnera, had again become a citizen of Italy.

Primo, the Italian super-heavyweight boxer, received a letter today from Udine, headquarters of the Italian boxing federation. The letter contained a 1932 membership card in the federation, and was the official recognition that he again had become a citizen of Italy.

Carnera lost his Italian citizenship a couple of years ago when he became a citizen of France. Just why he took out French papers, no one of Sequals' 1,500 population could understand. Signora Carnera was heart broken. And the act caused Primo much trouble with the French authorities, who insisted that he quit the ring to serve at least one year in the French army, as is required of every able male French citizen.

Primo avoided military service by jumping about from country to country, and finally, last autumn, the French authorities said they wouldn't need him in the army, because he was too big and had flat feet.

Paddock's Olympic Hopes Checked by Ban of A. A. U.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Once the world's fastest human runner, Charley Paddock, who has been training several months in hopes of staging a comeback by landing a place on the American Olympics team, today found himself barred from amateur competition.

The local branch of the Amateur Athletic Union voted last night to deny the famous sprinter an amateur card.

A week previous to last night's meeting, the A. A. U. registration committee had investigated Paddock's participation in athletic motion pictures and reports that he had been paid a large amount.

"We have refused Charley Paddock a registration card," said Arnold Eddy, secretary of the A. A. U. registration committee. He would not amplify the statement.

Paddock said he did not know what action he would take, if any.

"I have nothing to say at this time other than this, that I have been cleared of the motion picture charge," he said. "The real reason why I am being barred is because I have embarrassed the A. A. U., they say."

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Charley Paddock's amateur status has not yet come before the national registration committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, Secretary Dan Ferris said today; but officials here were not surprised at the action of the Southern Pacific Association of the A. A. U. in barring the former sprint champion.

ARRAS WINS THRILLING DUEL FROM HIBALA AT HIALEAH PARK

Two Leaders 8 Lengths In Van

Mike Reynolds, 33-1, Shows Way Home in Baby Event.

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—In the most exciting race of the current meeting, Arras, Mrs. H. Deture's wonderfully improved 4-year-old colt, was ridden to a thrilling victory by Apprentice Hank Mills in the featured Shenandoah Purse of one mile here this afternoon. Fred Kraft's Hibala, the favorite, was beaten a half length and took the place by eight lengths over Repentance.

Mills earned a double by this victory, by way of celebrating the signing of his contract today by the Wheatley Stable, as he rode Pop Gaffney to victory in the first race.

Arras paid $12.20 for $2 and covered the eight panels through the stop in 1:39 3-5 in a light rain. This was the first really bad track of the Florida season, heavy rains in the morning hours and subsequent showers being responsible. Considering the elements, a fairly good-sized crowd was in attendance.

Arras, Hibala Run as A Team.

Arras and Hibala, the latter ridden by the veteran Kelsay, provided a great duel all the way and the spectators got a big kick out of seeing the youngster show the way home to the older jockey. Arras broke on top but was immediately joined by Hibala. For the entire distance there never was daylight between them and Arras held his rival safe through the final stages as the crowd stood and roared approval of the apprentice despite the favorite's defeat. Repentance overtook the tiring Knowlton in the last furlong.

Mike Reynolds, a colt which displayed fairly good form at Tropical Park but performed poorly in one local attempt after getting away very poorly, was a driving winner of the baby race and paid the surprisingly good price of $68.50. The son of Hildur beat Hildur Rock, by the same sire, three parts of a length. Rome Vennie, heavily played, lost the place by a nose.

Pegg's Pride Banned by Stewards.

Parnell Bound, paying $4.70 for $2, got home a length, winner of the third race. Hamilton was second by a like margin, with Whileaway third. Plenty of excitement was caused by the 6-year-old gelding Pegg's Pride, which appears to be a "crazy horse." Prior to this race, the Mrs. E. J. Chambers' representative was either left or wheeled in five starts, and he was just as headstrong today. He held up the start more than ten minutes by runnnig away 5 furlongs. After being brought back for the start, he wheeled when the field left and ran the wrong way for another 5 furlongs or so without sustaining mishap. After the race the stewards ruled that his future entry would not be accepted.

Jack Collins Scores At Havana.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Jack Collins, a 4-year-old from H. V. Stevens' Stable, which has not finished out of the money in five starts at Oriental Park, today won his third race of the Cuban season when he led a smart field of sprinters home in the 6-furlong feature.

With the advantage of Buddy Ensor's capable ride, Jack Collins finished the journey a length in front of C. T. Grayson's Gay Party. Miss Blanche Watson's veteran campaigner, First Mission, took the short end of the purse.

Ensor got Jack Collins away on his toes and the combination was never headed, swinging into the stretch two lengths in front of First Mission, which gave way in the final strides to Gay Party in the battle for the place. Jack Collins was the odds-on favorite, paying 4 to 5. He ran the six panels in 1:14.

Lucky Tom Wins Derby Trial At New Orleans.

Jefferson Park, New Orleans, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Lucky Tom, a top-notch 2-year-old last year, qualified for the $5,000 Jefferson Park Derby as he made his 3-year-old debut with a victory in the derby trial. The derby will be run next Saturday on the closing day of the meeting.

The speedy son of Master Charlie from J. J. Robinson's Stable, winner of the Grand Union Hotel Stakes at Saratoga last summer, jumped into the lead at the half-mile post and at the end of the mile trip held a length advantage over S. W. Labrot's Springsteel. A. Pelleteri's Colonial Belle was third.

Much of the interest was taken out of the race when J. J. Coughlin scratched Camp Douglas, winner of four consecutive races and the outstanding favorite to win the derby. Lucky Tom was clocked in 1:38 4-5, and paid $54.60 for a $2 straight mutuel ticket.

Four persons coupled the second race winner, Monde, with Peasant Maid, 72-to-1 shot, winner of the third, to receive the daily double pay-off of $462.60 for $2.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PARNELL BOUND, $4.70, $2.90, out; HAMILTON, $2.90, out; WHILEAWAY, out.

PARNELL BOUND moved up with a rush after passing the half-mile pole and passed HAMILTON without effort, held latter safe remainder of journey. Latter broke fast and drew away into a long lead in furlong, but was unable to keep pace with the winner. WHILEAWAY went wide entering home stretch and swerved down to inside rail last sixteenth. PEGG'S PRIDE, a very bad actor, ran away, wheeled while at the post and went six furlongs wrong way of track. Wheeled again when break finally came and went wrong way. After the race the stewards announced that PEGG'S PRIDE was barred from further racing at the Hialeah track.

CATAWBA COLLEGE GIVEN PLACE ON G. W. GRID SCHEDULE

Tarheels Play Here on Oct. 15

Moran, Formerly of Center, Coach of Catawbans.

THE Catawba College Football Team, of Salisbury, N. C., coached by Charley Moran, mentor of the famous Centre College Praying Colonels a decade ago, will appear in Washington next October 15 to meet George Washington University, it was learned yesterday.

Catawba, under the direction of Moran, has progressed in the football world during the past two years and now is recognized as one of the strongest teams in North Carolina. It won the North Carolina Conference championship last fall, defeating among others, Elon College, which also fell victim to George Washington in a game played in Washington. Catawba rolled up 33 points against none for Elon, which bowed by 43 to 0 to George Washington.

With Catawba added to its list, George Washington now has a schedule of eight games for 1932, a schedule that in point of attractiveness and the caliber of opposition line-up far surpasses anything of its kind ever before attempted by the Colonial institution. One more game, it is understood, will be arranged for October 1.

The Colonial program is featured by the Alabama University contest, scheduled to be played here on October 8. Iowa University will appear here on October 29 in the first contest ever arranged between George Washington and a Western Conference school, and Oklahoma University will be the Buff and Blue opponent on Thanksgiving Day, November 24. Oklahoma is a member of the Missouri Valley Big Six Conference.

North Dakota State and William and Mary also are to meet the Colonials in home engagements, while Tulsa University and Washington and Lee will be opposed on foreign gridirons.

Gallagher May Fight Ruggirello in Gotham

Negotiations are under way leading to a match between Marty Gallagher, of this city, and Salvatore Ruggirello, of New York, who recently has burst into the boxing limelight through knockout victories over Walter Cobb and Stanley Poreda. Gallagher knocked out Ruggirello in 1930, but lost to both Cobb and Poreda. New York probably will be the scene of the battle.

Saks Quintet Scores In Community League

Columbus U. Boxing At Strand Theater

Columbus University has selected the Strand Theater as the scene for its four home boxing matches, the first of which is scheduled with Washington and Jefferson College on February 4. Jim McNamara, athletic director of the Jewish Community Center, has been named referee for the opening match.

Admission to the Columbus bouts will be granted only on special invitation or presentation of cards of membership in the university athletic association. Membership may be secured by purchase of athletic association privileges as represented in books now on sale at Vic's Sport Shop, Spalding's and Ahearn's, Ninth and E streets northwest.

Young Win Day Second In Miami Medal Play

Following close upon Day's heels came Celest Durand, jr., of Brooklyn, with 42—36—78. T. Phillips Perkins, British amateur, who shot 79 to qualify yesterday, stood in fourth place.

Other qualifiers today were:

C. J. Meacham, Pleasantville, N. Y., 42, 40—82; J. E. Matthews, Bethlehem, Pa., 45, 40—85; S. J. Matthews, Fort Clinton, Ohio, 50, 47—97; I. M. Herbert, New York, 45, 42—87; W. R. B. McLean, Williamstown, Mass., 45, 43—88; John D. Wallace, Pittsburgh, Pa., 49, 49—93; W. E. Wright, Chicago, 45, 51—96; Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., 41, 40—81.

Qualifying play was extended through tomorrow because of bad weather yesterday and today. Match play will start Thursday.

American U. Ready For Navy Courtmen

Eagles Hopeful of Victory Saturday, Despite Ineligibility of 3 Frosh.

Three American University basket ball players, all freshmen, will be ineligible to compete against Navy at Annapolis Saturday, when the Eagles carry their six-game winning streak to Annapolis in hopes of adding the Middies to their string and avenging a heart-breaking defeat of last year. The ineligible players are Danny Kessler, Al Buffington and Scotty Crampton, guards, who are barred by Navy's rule against the use of freshmen in varsity competition.

Fortunately for the Eagles, none of the barred trio happens to be a regular player, although Kessler has been dividing with Bill Washburn the duties of one of the guard positions. It was revealed yesterday however, that Coach Young, aware of the Navy rule against freshmen, has been using Washburn in the position as often as possible since the beginning of the season with the purpose of presenting a smooth-functioning team when the Navy clash arrives. The other positions are filled by veterans—Lionel Dick and Bobby Fuchs, forwards; Oscar Sells, center, and George Olsen, guard. The American quintet is undefeated to date.

Pro 4-Ball Golf Play At Miami March 6-10

Miami, Fla., Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Thirty-two of the country's leading professional golfers will compete in the International Four-ball tournament here March 6 to 10. The size of the field, and other tournament rules have been agreed upon by the board of governors of the Miami Country Club.

The tournament was won last year by Willie MacFarlane and Wiffy Cox, who defeated Sarazen and Johnny Farrell.

Daytona's Invitation "Delights" Campbell

London, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—Sir Malcolm Campbell, famous British racing motorist, said tonight he would be "delighted to accept" an invitation from the Mayor of Daytona Beach, Fla., to attempt to better his own world's automobile speed record there next month.

"It's the first I have heard of it," he said when informed by telephone at his country home of the invitation from Mayor Edward H. Armstrong.

"I expect the cablegram itself is waiting for me in London.

"I think it is an extremely sporting gesture on the part of the authorities at Daytona. I have not made any definite plans actually, but I shall be delighted to accept."

FRATERS TRIUMPH.

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 19.—The Fraters, crack local five, defeated the Ballston A. C. here tonight, 22-21, in the closest fray of the Armory season. The eventual winners led 22-21 at the half.

Colorful Quaker Five Skinkers' Sunday Foe

Backed by a remarkable three-year record and claiming the independent championship of Philadelphia and vicinity, the Passon professionals, one of the most colorful basket ball teams in the Quaker City's history, are to show here Sunday when Skinker Brothers' Eagles are met at Bolling Field at 3 o'clock.

In a preliminary to the big game Bolling Field Aviators oppose G. P. O. at 2 o'clock.

Newport News Five At Quantico Tonight

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., Jan. 19.—The elongated Quantico Marine Basket Ball Team will tangle with the strong Apprentice School five, of Newport News, here tomorrow in the feature game of the week for the Leathernecks. The Apprentice outfit comes to Quantico on the end of an impressive winning streak.

Friday the Marines play the Griffith-Consumers, of Washington, and Sunday the St. John's Club, leaders of the Baltimore Catholic Basket Ball League, a team composed of former Loyola, Villanova and Baltimore U. players.

Eastern-Gonzaga In School Feature

Gonzaga gets its annual chance to bump off the fast flying Eastern High Basket Ball Team today, when the two come together in the feature game on the day's scholastic card, at Eastern Gym. Gonzaga stopped the Easterners last year at this time, after the Northeast team had established a name for itself in the high school series.

Business tangles with the Catholic University freshmen in a game to be played previous to the C. U. varsity tiff tonight against Duquesne. Georgetown Prep will go over to Mount St. Joseph, in Baltimore.

The Eastern-St. John's game, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until February 11.

Emerson No Match For G. W. Frosh Five

Emerson Institute managed to hold the George Washington Freshmen to a tie through the first quarter in their meeting in the Colonials' gym yesterday, but the Frosh stepped out thereafter and were leading, 52 to 20, at the finish.

Noonan, with 18 points, easily starred, with Shirley getting 12 and Gleason 10 for the young Colonials. Rabbitt scored 10 points for the losers, exactly half of those credited Emerson.

Gallaudet Eleven To Play American

Teams to Meet November 5 Following Inability to Agree on 1931 Date.

American University and Gallaudet College will resume relations in football next fall after a year's break caused by inability to agree on dates. The game will be played November 5 on the American University Field as the feature contest on the home schedules of both teams.

Owing to the fact that its supply of material is limited, American University is considering a curtailment of its football schedule to six games.

Thus far, beside the Gallaudet game, American has scheduled Bridgewater, of Virginia; Lynchburg, Randolph-Macon and Hampden-Sidney. Coach Walter Young is negotiating with Shepherd College. Hampden-Sidney is the only opponent to be met away from Washington.

Gallaudet plans to play six games in addition to that with American. To date, the Kendall Greeners have contracted with Washington College, Juniata, La Salle of Philadelphia, Long Island of Brooklyn and Baltimore University. The first and last mentioned of this group will be engaged at Kendall Green.

Staunton Wins, 31-26, Over Va. Frosh Quintet

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 19.—After winning successive victories over Virginia Military Institute and Washington and Lee, Virginia's first-year quint, bowed to Staunton Military Academy here today, the final score standing 31 to 26.

B. FRANKLINS IN SECOND PLACE

Advance in League by Beating Strayer Five, 41 to 14.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S tossers last night gained second place in the Washington Intercollegiate Conference by routing the Strayers five, 41 to 14, in the Central High gym. As is indicated by the score, the result was never in doubt, the Bennies leading, 23 to 8, at the half.

Lester Singman, center for the winners, went on a scoring rampage and alone registered as many points as were credited to the whole Strayers team. He played one of the best games of his career.

Franklins Show Clever Passing.

So closely were the Strayers players guarded that they were forced to try numerous pot shots, and comparatively few of these hit their mark. Sterling was their high gun, with 4 points to his credit. As last night's game was played, the losers were not in the Bennies' class.

Six D. C. Boxers Seek Berths on Navy Team

W. B. Porter, formerly of Devitt Prep and P. C. Holt, who attended Central High of Kansas, are the Capital representatives in the featherweight class, while A. E. Gates, a graduate of Eastern High, is seeking the lightweight nomination. J. Rockwell, who attended Catholic University before enrolling at the Naval Academy, is trying out for the welterweight berth, and R. P. Harbold, a Central High product, is a candidate for the heavyweight position.

One-Armed Star Wins 3 Handball Matches

Giving an exhibition of sustained and brilliant handball, George Quam, 42-year-old one-armed court star, defeated three local opponents yesterday before a capacity audience at the Y. M. C. A.

His first victim was Walter Newton, secretary to the President, who is a confirmed disciple of the game, Quam won, 21 to 17. Next he trimmed Channing Walker, 21 to 19, and then finished his day against P. B. Payne, 21 to 12.

Quam opened up wide in parts of all three exhibitions, displaying a coolness and ability which won him round after round of applause from the gallery.

Earlier in the day the Minnesotan visited the White House.

V. P. I. Frosh Down Roanoke High, 28-18

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Jan. 19.—Smith, Mills and Thomas tallied four field goals in the last five minutes of play and led the V. P. I. Freshmen to a 28 to 18 win over Roanoke High School in the opening game here tonight. The Poly Cubs were clinging desperately to a bare two-point margin when their three sharpshooters went into action.

Smith sank one in midair with his back to the hoop, Mills following up with two from the court corner and Thomas getting another just before the whistle. Dave Thomas, of Washington, led the scorers with 12 points. Each team made eight out of ten tries from the foul line good. Henry Redd, freshman coach, did not make a substitution.

Lake Placid Ready as Host To Winter Olympic Throng

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Jan. 19 (A.P.). This tiny hamlet, winter's fashionable resort on the American continent, is prepared to entertain and quarter competitors and spectators who will come here for the third Olympic winter games, February 4-13.

The Olympic Stadium, where the opening and closing ceremonies, speed skating races, hockey matches and curling demonstrations will be held, will accommodate 6,000 spectators. The Intervales ski hill can be seen by 6,000 persons, and a like number can find accommodations along the Mount Van Hoevenberg bob run.

The skating rink at the Olympic Stadium, the ski jump and the bob run all were completed more than a year ago and were used last winter to test their technical correctness.

The stadium, in the heart of the village, was built at a cost of $125,000, the State of New York supplying the funds. It contains a standard 400-meter track, twin hockey boxes and seats for 5,000. Another 1,000 can find standing room. The Olympic speed races, 500, 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000 meter contests will be held here February 4, 5 and 6.

The bob sled races on Mount Van Hoevenberg, the first run of international specifications in North America, will be held February 8 to 12. The run is 2,350 meters, or 1½ miles long, and has an average drop of 10 per cent.

The run has 25 curves. The most exacting are known as "Whiteface," "Shady Corner" and "Zig Zag." During the winter about 20,000 gallons of water are sprayed on the course every day. This gives it a continuous icy surface.

Intervales hill, the ski run, is 975 feet long with a 290-foot jumping tower. Boxes for spectators are built along both the bob run and the ski hill, and at the foot of each there are seating accommodations for 4,000. There are 250 miles of ski trails through the Adirondacks for the longer ski races.

There are hotel and rooming accommodations for 10,000 in Lake Placid and nearby villages. Five hundred will find shelter in sleeping cars to be parked here. Saranac Lake, 10 miles away, and Plattsburg, 40 miles away, are larger communities. Buses will run from those two points and Montreal will send special trains making the trip in 3½ hours. Rates at hotels will vary from $4 to $15 a day. Precautions have been taken to avert profiteering.

The 250 or more contestants will have their nationalistic quarters; the United States team at the Stevens House Annex; the Norwegians at Mirror Lake Hotel; the Swedish team at Spruce Lodge; the Italians at Mapledale Cottage; the Finns at Ware Cottage, and the Japanese team at the Lattremore and Allen cottages.

Accommodations also will be provided for the Canadians, the Polish winter athletes, the Swiss, the Germans, the Czechoslovaks, the Austrians and the English.

Calza Risks Manly Beauty Against Aberg Tomorrow

Handsome George Has Prospered With Curley Troupe; Meets Finn in Bout Supporting Shikat-Szabo.

GEORGE CALZA, one of the better boys of the mat menagerie, holds one of the featured spots on tomorrow night's rassling card at the Washington Auditorium, which will be headlined by a bout between Dick Shikat, former champion, and Sandor Szabo, a young Hungarian, who has designs on the title.

Calza is doubtless the handsomest man in the bone-bending guild. He weighs 240 and is perfectly proportioned. Somehow he has escaped the derelictions of his art, and ambles about the world with a perfect set of ears.

He used to work with the Bowser boys, rivals, in other cities, of the Washington chain. He showed here last winter at the Strand on one of the flop programs that institution staged, and was held to a dreary 45-minute draw by a Russian with an unpronounceable name.

Going over to the so-called Curley wrestlers, Calza immediately began to prosper. He won 13 matches in a row, numbering among his conquests Ray Steele and Rudy Dusek. His large following in New York followed him to his match with Jim Londos two months ago, which drew a crowd of 18,000. His latest victory was at the expense of Sandor Szabo.

His opponent has never rassled here before, and few times in this country. His name is Alex Aberg, a Finlander, where men are men and athletes train on kippered herring.

Other bouts tomorrow night concern George Hagen and Herbie Freeman, Doc Wilson and Bill Lewis, Fred Grubmeyer and Matros Kirilenko.

Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

OLLIE PACINI went on the warpath at Lucky Strike last night and gave the pins plenty of punishment in a National Capital League game which saw the Rinaldi Tailors clean up for King's Palace. Pacini had games of 136, 149 and 148 for a set total of 433, the highest rolled in the league this season. Mayo, with a 142 game, and Phillips, with a 358 set, led the way for the losers.

All three of the Rinaldi's games topped the 600 mark, the figures being 608, 613 and 643.

On the same drives in the Department of Commerce League, Specht, of Supplies, had high set of 359 and high game of 138, while his team registered high in both respects with totals of 562 and 1,621. These figures gave Supplies two out of three from Airways. In other bouts, Chemistry cleaned up for Secretary's Office, while Aerial Advisors and Lighthouses took two of three from Engineers and Fisheries, respectively.

Bess Ackman and the Ruth Team, of which she is a star member, accounted for honors in the Eastern Star Ladies' League at Lucky Strike. Miss Ackman had top figures of 148 and 359, while Ruth's Team totals were 549 and 1,539. These gave this outfit a three-game sweep over Borrkland. Unity took two from Mount Pleasant, and Joseph A. Milans treated Treaty Oaks the same way in other bouts.

Catherine Fortney and Pauline Ford, both of the Columbians, did the best bowling in the Washington Ladies' League at Columbia last night. The former had high game of 137 and high set of 335, while Miss Ford's three-game total was 333. Despite the fine rolling, the Columbians dropped two games to the Beeques. In other matches, the Hilltoppers, University Parkers and Shamrocks took the odd game from Cardinals, Veterans' Bureau and Keenos, respectively.

Chaney, anchor man for Hecht's Annex, was the hero in the King Pin Business Men's League at King Pin, No. 2, last night. With his team and the Hecht Varsity tied at the end of the second game, he had to spare in the last two boxes to give Annex the decision by a single point. His total in this game was 131.

Three matches were rolled in the Ladies' Independent League on the same alleys. These resulted in clean sweeps for Lansburgh over Kann's, for Tiptops over Columbia, and for the Capitals via the forfeit route.

The Aztecs copped high team game and set honors in the Supervising Architect's Office League at Lucky Strike last night with 566 and 1,550 as the respective figures, Damuch, of this team, had high individual game of the night, 139, while Moore's 353 was high set.

Despite these fancy figures, the Aztecs were able to take but two games from the Romans. But two clean sweeps were registered, Tudors and Victorians turning in these at the expense of Orientals and Dorics, respectively. Two out of three victories were credited to Colonials over Imperials, Georgians over Estruscans, Gothics over Flamboyants, Saxtons over Modernists and Empires over Ionics.

Lewis' 346 set was high in the Insurance League on the same alleys, while he and O'Connell tied for high-game honors, with 132s. Acacia's 548 game and 1,611 set took team honors.

Four leagues did their stuff at Convention Hall last night, with Masonic turning in top figures. The Potomacs, of this circuit, had high game of 555 and high set of 1,654, with individual honors going to Custer. His best game was 149, while his set figures totaled 360.

Donaldson had a 130 game and a 367 set to top in the Odd Fellows League, while his team, Armature No. 2, took collective honors. Its respective marks were 516 and 1,528.

In the East Washington Church League, Douglass No. 2 showed the way with a 580 game and a 1,644 set. Hall had a 148 game and Kelley a 357 set.

Barracks showed the way in the Marine Corps, its high game being 504, while its three-game total was 1,482. Small, with a 120 game, and Kopanke, with a 391 set, took individual honors.

The league-leading Agates, of The Washington Post League, took it on the nose from the Pearls yesterday at Lucky, causing the Pearls to hop into a second-place tie with the Picas. The Pearls won 2-1. Other results were Picas, 2; Quads, 1; Ionics, 2; Minions, 1; Gothics, 2; Rubies, 1. Darnall, of the latter team, won individual honors with a 353 set.

Mister Paul Harrison, of the Washington Harrisons, bowled himself an ornate 162 game and a 417 set at a rendezvous of Columbia Heights League bowlers last night at Arcadia. His team, Cool Drinks, was visibly aided by their show of master maple mashing and so had team honors of 1,736. Swan's took team game, 622.

Gove's 126 game was high in the Postoffice League rollings last night, also at Arcadia. He is a part of the Raccoon team. Hartman, of the Eels, had a 326 set, and the Wrens garnered team honors of 520 and 1,469.

Morrisette, of the St. Paul team in the Men's Lutheran League, rapped out a 145 game last night, but yielded set honors to Kaufman, of Incarnation, who had a 363. The Takoma Blues took team game of 580, and St. Paul's copped team set, 1,589.

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

VERNE WICKHAM, golf editor of the Long Beach Press-Telegram and a close observer, has found that use of the new golf balls has resulted in additional work for the caddies. The professionals are carrying more clubs nowadays.

In his report, Mr. Wickham recalled that his first research efforts in 1925 showed that pros averaged 14 clubs. At the end of 1931 the average had grown to 18, with several players carrying more than 20, not including their umbrellas.

Several new clubs have been produced recently and some of the pros are carrying these, but there are more of the common or garden variety of implements, too.

Many bags contain five wood clubs. Most of the stars have two drivers, one with a loft which is a cross between that of a driver and a brassie. Bob Jones always carried two spoons, but he had only one driver.

As the crack players continue their experiments the extra clubs will be carried, but once they have found just what the new ball may be expected to do they will return to normal. The caddies will heave sighs of relief. It's bad enough to have to carry fourteen or sixteen clubs around. When four or five more are added, it is just about too much.

REPORT ON NEW BALL.

Mr. Wickham's sleuthing has extended, too, to the conduct of the new ball. He has concluded that the 1931 and 1932 balls behave differently when near the cup.

The balloon ball, he found, was apt to fold up and die within 6 inches of the cup. The latest ball does not do this, but many pros, accustomed to banging the so-called balloon ball at the back of the cup, have been doing the same thing with the 1932 ball. Much three-putting has resulted.

The jury will remain out for a time on the fate of the 1932 ball as to putting, but it seems safe to say right now that it is a harder ball to play through the fairway.

Even the most bitter enemies of the big, light ball would not say that it was not a beautiful ball to get up in the air.

Even some crack shot makers among the pros confess they have difficulty getting the big, heavy ball up in the air.

If the aces of golf can't get it up what will the deuces do? The answer may be that many of the smart ones will go on playing the 1931 ball. Certainly many pros will elect to play the lighter ball.

PERSISTENT OPPORTUNITY.

The National League again this year will prove the falsity of the old adage that opportunity knocks but once. Some good baseball players who were eased out of the majors will get a chance to come back.

To mention only a few, the Boston Braves have Arthur (the Great) Shires, Buster Chatham, Bill Akers, William McKinley Hargrave and Earl Clark.

Lefty Gudat, a pitcher with Cincinnati, may be an outfielder for the Cubs. He batted .345 in the American Association last year. Frank Henry was a pretty fair lefthander with the Chicago White Sox, New York Giants, Brooklyn and Browns and may be better with the Cubs.

Clyde Manion spent five years catching for Detroit and three with the St. Louis Browns. He had a great year with the Milwaukee club last year and the Reds drafted him.

The Giants have Sam Gibson, Hermann Bell and Eddie Moore, who have been in and out of the majors and the Phillies have Doug Taitt, Pat Crawford, who was good with the Giants and Reds, may repeat with the Cardinals.

C. U. IS HOST TONIGHT TO DUQUESNE

Cards Have Regular Line-Up Ready for Pittsburghers.

COACH FORREST COTTON intends to keep intact the same line-up which recently has been lifting Catholic University to higher levels in the local basket ball world when the Cardinals engage Duquesne University's five tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Brookland gymnasium.

With Bus Sheary and Tony Canmizzaro at forwards, Dick Galiher at center, and Ed White and Lou Spinelli at guards, the Cardinals during the past ten days have won three out of four games played. They were checked last Monday by the powerful Loyola of Baltimore quintet, but the Baltimoreans had to rally in the second half to snatch the decision.

Sheary's Regular Berth Doubtful.

There was some doubt yesterday as to whether Coach Cotton would retain Sheary as a regular following the stocky lad's poor performance against Loyola. Sheary was benched for five minutes of Monday's contest after Tanneyhill, Grayhound scoring threat, had eluded him three times for goals. However, Cotton, believing that Sheary would snap out of his slump with a little rest, justified his judgment by sending Bus back into the fray for the last three minutes when the Cardinal star came through with a pair of goals in rapid succession to all but deadlock the score.

Tonight's varsity game will be preceded by a contest between the Catholic University Freshmen and Business High School, beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

Bethesda-Chevy Chase In Two Court Victories

Bethesda-Chevy Chase basket ball teams scored a double victory over Poolesville High Schoo' yesterday, the boys winning, 40 to 12, and the girls winning, 39 to 15. Walter Johnson, jr., performed as substitute center for the boys and scored three field goals. Bradley starred in this game, registering seven fielders. Misses Hazzard and Lee led the girls to victory.

STOCK MARKET SAGS IN LIGHTER TRADINGS

Dullest Dealing in 3 Months Develops Lower Trend; Rails' Rise Cut.

New York, Jan. 19 (A.P.).—The dullest stock market in three months exhibited sagging tendencies after an early rise today and closed with a small loss for the averages. Rails contributed the only group worth mentioning, but their rise of 1 to 3 points was reduced.

The morning advance by the rails coincided with brokerage house reports that the spokesmen for road executives and labor were actually nearer an agreement than seemed probable from surface indications, but the market seemed to lose heart as the day wore along.

The close was about steady, with small net changes. Transfers amounted to only 1,090,115 shares.

Steel Loses Gain.

General Electric was a notable soft spot, easing more than a point in response to the sales report for last year. U. S. Steel got a point higher but lost all the rise. American Telephone duplicated the industrial leader's performance, both issues closing unchanged. Fractional changes, evenly distributed, occurred in Case, Woolworth, American Can, Bethlehem, Consolidated Gas, General Motors, Allied Chemical and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Santa Fe and Union Pacific held about a point of their advance. New Haven was stronger.

There were reports that the Federal Reserve Bank would make another cut in its bill-buying rate to encourage offerings in a market which had been little affected by last week's reduction. It was a little too early for gossip as to what the central bank might do to the rediscount rate on Thursday, but a downward revision rate would not be surprising unless, as was suggested in some quarters, the Reserve intends to proceed slowly with its "antideflation" program in view of the anxiety which seems to have been raised in Europe.

Steel Production Improves.

Steel production is improving slowly. There apparently has been further gain this week, although the rate of improvement has not yet come up to expectations. American Metal Market said producers were viewing the gain "through conservative glasses" and were fearful lest too much hope of business recovery be stimulated, "leading to subsequent disappointment."

Loadings of revenue freight in the week ended January 9 rose 69,179 cars over the preceding week. The gain from the New Year holiday was larger than the pick-up after Christmas week.

Cotton lost 4 to 6 points.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S "NAPOLEON."

("Charlie Chaplin is reported planning to appear in the title role of a play about Napoleon Bonaparte."—News item.)

* * * *

PART I.

NAPOLEON rescues a Corsican "drunk" from drowning and is rewarded by being sent to a military school at Brienne.

His habit of disrupting the class by smacking the professors with custard pies causes them to get him a second lieutenancy in an active regiment.

He meets Josephine Beauharnais, who, for the purpose of the Chaplin script, is a blind flower girl, living with her widowed mother in the slums of Paris.

Josephine confesses she has no money to consult eye specialists and Napoleon resolves to accomplish this. Realizing that eye specialists are pretty expensive and that it will take a lot of money, he decides to conquer a few rich countries. He pauses on the steps to throw a kiss to Josephine and steps backward into a barrel of water for comedy effect.

PART II.

HE hears of a good eye specialist in Italy and resolves to capture the country.

He routs the Italian forces after plastering the generals with cup custard and brings the best eye specialists in all Italy back to Josephine.

Josephine does not regain her sight. Napoleon chases the Italian eye specialists out of town in one of those typical street pursuits.

Josephine's mother says she once heard of a good eye doctor in Egypt, Turkey, Austria or some place. As this is pretty vague, Napoleon decides to invade them all. As he backs off the porch to blow a kiss to the blind girl he toppled into a coal hole for comedy effect.

PART III.

NAPOLEON invades Egypt, Turkey and Austria in a series of rough-house scenes. In two of the big battles he is shown leading the charge in his undershirt and shorts.

He captures all the eye specialists in those three countries, but they give Josephine no relief, and, a touching scene where she is shown groping her way through a Paris street offering flowers for sale, Napoleon reads of an eye specialist in Russia who is pretty good. He leaves for Russia.

PART IV.

NAPOLEON is exiled. He returns from Elba to discover that Josephine has recovered her eyesight by correspondence school. They meet. She does not, of course, realize that he is her benefactor of the past few years and crowns him with a bowl of soft dough.

To show that he has a big heart he takes it good-naturedly and decides to try to forget it all by starting a new war with somebody. The Battle of Waterloo is fought on a chain of department store moving stairways.

Napoleon wakes up on the island of Elba again. There is a finale scene as Napoleon is shown doing the penguin-walk off toward the horizon, twirling his cane as the orchestra plays "Hearts and Flowers."

WHY, YES, KEENE, YOUR DESCRIPTION FITS HER PERFECTLY BUT IT MIGHT ALSO FIT DOZENS OF OTHER GIRLS. WHAT'S THE IDEA?!
JUST A RANDOM SHOT, CARLTON! MAY I USE YOUR PHONE?
QUICKLY THE INSPECTOR CALLED UP THE MANAGING EDITOR OF ONE OF THE LARGE DAILIES
A HALF HOUR LATER
THE M. E. TOLD ME TO DELIVER THIS INTO YOUR HANDS, INSPECTOR!!
TELL YOUR BOSS, SON, THAT I APPRECIATE HIS PROMPTNESS!!
HE ALSO WANTED TO KNOW IF YOU HAD A STORY FOR HIM ABOUT THAT GAL. SEEMS SHE'S ALWAYS UP TO SOME WILD ESCAPADE OR OTHER?!!
NO, I HAVEN'T ANY STORY FOR HIM NOW BUT TELL HIM I MAY BE ABLE TO GIVE HIM A REAL SCOOP IN A FEW DAYS!

Baby Mine
MAW SAYS THE LADY NEXT DOOR IS WRAPPED UP IN HERSELF—GOODNESS! SHE MUST BE CHILLY THESE DAYS.
-PIM-
GOSH, I WONDER WHAT THE BOSS-ER-YOUR FATHER WILL SAY TO US FOR GOING SHOPPING YESTERDAY WITHOUT ASKING HIS PERMISSION!
DON'T YOU FRET ABOUT THAT, WINNIE! IF HE SAYS ANYTHING AT ALL, IT WILL BE AIMED AT ME, NOT YOU!!
A MEASLY $25. BUCKS A WEEK, FATHER!
YOU'RE WORKING IN THIS OFFICE TO TRY AND MAKE SOMETHING OF YOURSELF, BARBARA, AND NOT FOR YOUR OWN AMUSEMENT!!
-AND YOU, MISS WINKLE!! IT'S BAD ENOUGH TO HAVE A SAPPY DAUGHTER—BUT I WON'T HAVE A SAPPY SECRETARY!!!

When Washington Was Younger—No. 169

On the extreme right, what appears to be a sandbar, is now the speedway, or East Potomac Park. The river was dredged and that part filled in. The railroad bridge may be seen in the foreground. The picture was taken from the top of the Long Bridge.

Sailboats seemed to be the mode of water transportation in those days, judging from the number in the harbor. The Army Barracks may be seen on the neck of land stretching out into the river. Anacostia, in the background, appears to be mostly barren land.

Several larger boats may be seen and one in the harbor resembles the steamer St. John, that made daily trips to Colonial Beach.

WELFARE OFFICIALS GRILLED AT HEARING IN RILEY CHILD CASE

House Subcommittee Seeks to Pin Neglect of Duty on Capital Board.

WOMAN EMPLOYE ENDS TESTIMONY AMID TEARS

Complete Reports on Inquiry in Mistreatment of Girl to Be Submitted.

Public Welfare officials, cognizant of the Edith Riley case five years before the maltreated child was released from a closet in her parents' home, were called to account yesterday by members of the congressional subcommittee investigating local welfare methods.

George S. Wilson, director of the Board of Public Welfare, admitted the board, contacting more than 42,000 persons a year, "must make a considerable number of mistakes in a year, or over a period of five years."

Not so, Miss A. Patricia Morss, chief of the division of child welfare. She refused to concede the board was indifferent or in any way at fault in the Riley matter, though questioned closely by Representative Frank L. Bowman (Republican), West Virginia.

Leaves Stand in Tears.

"In the light of subsequent events, I know the child should have been released from her parents earlier, but I believe our case workers did all it was in their power to do," she said.

Miss Morss was in tears when she left the stand. For nearly an hour she had run through welfare board reports bearing on the Riley family, and parried Mr. Bowman's questioning, designed to uphold his charges of neglect.

"Isn't it true that for years the board has been receiving report after report on conditions that would not be tolerated in any civilized community, and nothing was done about it?" asked Mr. Bowman.

Sought Evidence Unsuccessfully.

Miss Morss replied board case workers made every effort to get evidence that would allow authorities to interfere in the Riley case, but without success.

"Yes," said Mr. Bowman, "it remained for some one outside of the board to disclose that the child had been incarcerated for years."

Three other witnesses were called, Sergt. Rhoda Milliken, of the Women's Bureau; Mrs. Mary Bayles, of the department of inquiry, Juvenile Court, and Miss Jeanette Ezekials, chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court.

Sergt. Milliken related the Women's Bureau's connection with the case. She said she first learned of it in December, 1926, and sent a policewoman with two welfare board officials to the Riley home to investigate. The matter was then left in the hands of the Welfare Board, with the understanding that Edith was to receive medical treatment at Providence Hospital, she testified.

To Suggest Law Improvements.

Mrs. Bayles and Miss Ezekials were advised to prepare a report on improvements they would suggest in the Juvenile Court law, after Mrs. Bayles testified she "was not entirely satisfied with it."

Earlier, Director Wilson told the committee the Juvenile Court law here "needs to be modernized." At the time it was drawn up an offending child was considered in the light of a criminal, while the tendency today is to look on the child as a ward of the state, he said.

He made this statement after Mr. Bowman charged "overlapping of duties" in the Juvenile Court and Board of Public Welfare.

Though Mr. Wilson declared the board would "welcome an investigation that would strengthen its weaknesses," the welfare director questioned the timeliness of the current inquiry. He advised a 60 to 90 day delay, holding the board is now catering to the heaviest demands of what may prove its heaviest year. He said the body could ill afford to spare members of its staff to testify at hearings.

Admonished by Bowman.

When he failed to respond directly to questioning by Mr. Bowman, designed to show whether children are kept in training schools without Juvenile Court commitment, Mr. Bowman told him bluntly: "If you don't know the answer to these questions, say so."

Testimony by Miss Morss developed that the Welfare Board received reports of maltreatment of the Riley child in 1925, 1926 and 1928. A field investigator, Ernest Russell, questioned a roomer at the house in the first instance, and was told there was no evidence of neglect, she said.

When the child's maternal aunt, Mrs. Lulu Reed, complained in December, 1929, Miss Morss, James Stewart, head of the welfare office, and a policewoman, went to the house and investigated. Only the policewoman was permitted to see the child and she later reported the child obviously was not normal, Miss Morss said. She added that Edith had a bruise on her body, which the girl told the policewoman she had received in a fall.

One of the case workers reported Edith's stepmother smoked, drank and maintained a still at a former residence, Miss Morss said.

Chairman Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), Maryland, asked for copies of the board's original records on the Riley case. He adjourned hearings, subject to his call.

Mr. Bowman afterward announced he intended to have case workers and stenographers who have worked on the Riley records notified to appear before the committee.

Man Injured by Auto; Driver Is Under Bond

One man was seriously injured and another was booked on a reckless driving charge last night as a result of an accident at Pennsylvania avenue and Sixth street northwest.

Charles E. Gleason, about 41 years old, who was unable to give his address, was taken to Casualty Hospital with a severe head injury. Police said he was struck by an automobile operated by Walter R. Ellis, 30 years old, of Cheltenham, Md. Ellis posted $300 bond on the reckless driving charge.

PICTURE SHOWS TAXI PROBLEM

The above photograph of the intersection of F and Seventh streets northwest has been sent to the Commissioners by Harry C. Davis, president of the Independent Taxi Owners Association, "as a gentle reminder of the haste or lack of scientific study as generally applied to the cab industry" here. Davis wants some solution of the dilemma, depicted above, which cab drivers often find themselves in because of the prohibition of taxis from Seventh street.

ROW ON NEW SCHOOL WILL GO TO CAPPER

Ire Over Erection of Building for Colored to Be Aired Before Him Today.

A delegation from the Petworth and Chillum Heights Citizens Associations will call on Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, today in an effort to enlist his aid in forestalling the erection of a school for colored children in the vicinity of Rock Creek Church road and Allison street northwest.

The announcement of the delegation was made at a meeting of the Petworth association at the Petworth School. It came after a long and heated discussion which brewed when a letter from the secretary of District Commissioners discussing a recent resolution of the association protesting such a location for the school was read.

"This matter is one in which the judgment of the Board of Education must be followed by the Commissioners," the letter said.

On motion of James G. Yaden, the secretary was instructed to write letters individually to the three commissioners inquiring whether it was really a fact that the Board of Education had the final say in the matter of location of schools.

Four provisions of the Mapes bill were reported upon by the committee on legislation. The association desires the retention of the 60-40 plan for financing the District, but in lieu of it, approved the provision for an estate tax in the District. It also indorsed the motor vehicle fuel tax provision and the plan to tax motor vehicles by weight.

A playground for the community, bounded by Upshur street, Kansas avenue, Thirteenth street and Shepherd street, was urged by the association.

G. W. Wolfe, of 4310 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was awarded the Electric League cup for the best decorated home in the Christmas lighting contest.

Change Fraud Reported By Grocer; $20 Taken

The change fraud has started again in Washington, Abe Kauffman, operator of a grocery store at 1501 T street northwest, reported to police yesterday.

He said a person who gave his name as "Van Horn," ordered groceries and $20 in change to be sent to an apartment house in the 1600 block of Sixteenth street northwest. When the delivery boy reached the neighborhood he was met at the corner of Fifteenth and R streets by a man who said he was Van Horn. He told the boy to give him the money and he would meet him in the lobby of the apartment house. The boy turned over the $20 and the man made off down the street.

Two Injured When Auto Crashes Into Parked Car

Duncan Cattener, 32, of 3729 Varney street northwest, and William Turner, 36, of 2431 Ordway street northwest, were slightly injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a parked car at Seventeenth and Monroe streets northeast.

Cattener, who police said was driving the machine, suffered a broken nose and bruises, while his companion received lacerations to his head and body. Both were treated at Casualty Hospital. The parked car which their machine struck was listed as belonging to Esther Rosen, of 1701 Monroe street northeast.

PARTS OF 8 STREETS ARE MADE ONE-WAY

Commissioners Take Action to Relieve Congested Traffic Conditions.

Certain sections of eight streets were limited to one-way traffic yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer. The streets involved are narrow, and congestion results from the two-way traffic.

One-way traffic will consequently be enforced at the end of ten days as follows: Columbia road, between Park place and Sixteenth street, westbound; Harvard street, between Fifth and Sixteenth street, eastbound; Pierce street, from North Capitol street to New Jersey avenue, eastbound; Q street, from Massachusetts to Florida avenue, eastbound; R street, from Florida to Massachusetts avenue; S street, from Florida avenue to Twentieth street; Spring place, from Sixteenth street to Spring road, eastbound; Perry place, from Spring place to Holmead place, eastbound.

"The making of Q and R streets one-way, east and west, respectively across the city from Massachusetts avenue to Florida avenue will, it is believed," Traffic Director Van Duzer said, "improve conditions for east and west traffic, relieve Dupont, Thomas and Scott circles from part of their traffic burden and make these streets much safer than they are at the present time."

Other traffic changes ordered by the Commissioners follow:

Parking banned on north side of Q street, from Connecticut to New Hampshire avenue.

Auto Misses Pedestrian, Then Hits Another Car

James Holmes, 21 years old, of 3408 Fifteenth street northeast, was taken to Sibley Hospital with cuts about the lips and right elbow. He was released after treatment.

Steps to Aid Idle Given Impetus

Mass Meeting to Be Held at Chevy Chase Church Tomorrow Night.

With impetus added by support of various churches, welfare organizations and civic bodies in the community, great accomplishments is expected at the mass meeting on unemployment at Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church tomorrow night.

The gathering, which is backed by the Men's Class of the church, will consider and formulate plans to provide work in the community's homes for those who are without jobs.

Among the groups behind the movement are the Masonic Lodge Lafayette Home and School Association. The latter is already aiding in preparing coffee at lunch time for men of the relief commission, who have obtained work in the landscaping of the Lafayette School grounds.

THREAT OF NEW TAXI RATE WAR IS SEEN IN PROSECUTION DELAY

Even Lower Charge May Be Offered in Expected Fight to Finish.

PLAN TO REPLACE CARS IS ADMITTED BY BROWN

Continues, However, to Deny That Organization Has Been Purchased.

A threatened renewal of the taxicab rate war in Washington appeared more likely yesterday with the announcement by Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, that no attempt would be made at present to prosecute the Black & White and Yellow Taxicab Co., for its defiance of the commission's order in reducing its fares to 20, 40 and 60 cents.

William J. Brown, president of the company, finally admitted that the present fleet of the Black & White and Yellow cabs will be replaced, though he continued to deny that the organization had been sold. The report is that 100 of these new and lighter cabs will arrive today.

Rumors were current in utility circles that the Brown Brothers, or their financial sponsors, are planning a fight to the finish with the proponents of the zone or flat-rate cabs. They hope by offering new cabs and perhaps even lower rates than the present basis to drive the City and the Bell Cab companies, as well as the independent operators, out of business.

Appeal Still Pending.

Gen. Patrick said that the decision to postpone, temporarily, any action against the Black & White and Yellow Co. was based on the fact that the meter order appeal is still pending in District Supreme Court.

As the commission has ten days to report on the additional testimony, which has not yet been furnished by the court, the rate war might well assume considerable proportions before the court reaches a decision on the appeals unless the utilities body changes its position. Operators of the original flat-rate cabs are said to be prepared to meet any rate-slashing competition.

A renewal of the rate war would in all probability drive hundreds of independent operators out of business, however, if it lasted any length of time.

The Diamond Cab Co. yesterday protested to the District Commissioners in a letter against the barring of taxicabs some time ago from F and G streets and part of Seventh street, unless on specific calls. The letter also placed the blame for the great number of taxicabs in the city solely on the Commissioners and accused them of working for the interest of private car owners and utilities other than taxicabs.

Statement Made by Brown.

William J. Brown issued the following statement:

"My father, brothers and I have conducted the Black & White & Yellow Cab Co. and its predecessor companies for upwards of ten years in Washington, D. C. The Black and White Taxi Co. and the Yellow Cab Co. were the first large cab companies engaged in the taxi business in Washington. We have always conducted these companies in strict compliance with the laws and have endeavored in every way to deal fairly and honorably with all persons with whom we have had business relations. Furthermore, we propose to continue to operate any public vehicles with which we are interested strictly within the law and on the same plane as operated in the past.

"Owing to frequent reports, I take this occasion to deny that any of the stock of the company has been transferred or assigned to any public utility or other cab operating company, or that anything has been done in violation of the antimerger law."

Surgeon at Freedmen's to Speak.

Dr. T. Edward Jones, assistant surgeon in chief of Freedmen's Hospital, will speak on "The Significance of Abdominal Pains" tonight at 8 o'clock at Howard University Medical School. The public is invited.

PLANS FOR TERRACE ON NAVAL HOSPITAL GROUNDS APPROVED

Sketches of New Project Are Accepted by Fine Arts Commission.

LEIF ERICSSON STATUE ALSO VOTED FAVORABLY

Models Received in Contest for Bicentennial Coin Are Inspected.

Plans for construction of a terrace on the south side of the Naval Hospital grounds were approved yesterday at the monthly meeting of the Fine Arts Commission.

Sketches of the project, designed to give the hospital an appropriate setting in relation to the Lincoln Memorial and the Arlington Memorial Bridge, were submitted by Navy Department officials and accepted by the commission.

Several suggestions for minor improvements in the plans were made by members of the commission to representatives of Allied Architects, Inc., of Washington, the company in charge of the work. It was announced that these suggestions would be embodied in the plans.

Others Are Considered.

Other projects considered included the preliminary model of a memorial to Jane A. Delano, designed by Dr. Tait McKenzie, of Philadelphia, and to be erected on the grounds of the American Red Cross. The memorial, which was approved by the commission, is in the form of a likeness of a nurse. An appropriate landscape plan for the grounds is now being designed.

Members of the commission visited the office of the Director of the Mint and inspected the models which have been submitted in the competition for the George Washington bicentennial 25-cent piece. An opinion as to which of the several models submitted is most suitable will be forwarded by the Commission to the Secretary of the Treasury.

The commission received word that a mural painting is being prepared by Gilbert White, New York painter, for the stairway of the administration building of the Department of Agriculture.

Ericsson Statue Approved.

Approval was given the bronze statue of Leif Ericsson, by A. Stirling Calder, New York sculptor, to be given by the United States Government to Iceland.

Consideration was given the model for the Harrodsburg (Ky.) memorial to the pioneers of the West, to be erected in the Pioneer Memorial State Park at Harrodsburg. Old Fort Harrod, the stockade, and the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln's parents were married are features of the park. Plans for the model were submitted by the Navy Department.

The commission conferred with Alexander B. Trowbridge, vice chairman of the committee of artists, for the exhibition of fine arts during the George Washington bicentennial celebration. Headquarters of the exhibit will be at the National Museum, where preparations are now being made for installing the exhibition.

Traffic Accident Hurts Two Women and Man

Two women and a man were injured yesterday in a crash between an automobile and a truck at Fifth and I streets northwest.

Mrs. Mary Vajquez, of 1608 M street northwest, was thrown against the winshield of the automobile driven by Mrs. James Requevert, 25 years old, of the same address. Alfred Pickney, of 804 Second street northwest, passenger on the truck, driven by William J. Simons, colored, of 1501 Fifth street northwest, was thrown from his seat. The women were treated at Emergency Hospital for shock and cuts. Pickney went to Gallinger Hospital for treatment of lacerations to his knees.

Benefit Card Party Is Tonight.

A card party for the benefit of the poor of the parish will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at St. Joseph's Parish Hall, Second and C streets northeast. Mrs. Nina Reichard is chairman of the committee in charge.

'Uncle Sam' Is Dead at 90; Missed Few Parades Here

GEORGE CAMPBELL

"Uncle Sam" is dead.

For more than twenty years, since the beginning of the present century, this picturesque figure, otherwise known as George Campbell, 90-year-old Civil War veteran of Baltimore, had strode proudly down Pennsylvania avenue at the head of nearly every parade held in Washington.

Few inaugurals were complete without Mr. Campbell as "Uncle Sam." During the World War he led parades of soldiers on their way to camps and embarkation. He became known as America's official "Uncle Sam," his right to the title being upheld by a court decision in a dispute with another claimant.

For more than fourteen years Mr. Campbell, who saw active service during the Civil War, was an inmate of the United States Soldiers' Home here. He went to Baltimore about five years ago to live with friends.

Mr. Campbell died Saturday at his home in Baltimore and was buried yesterday in Arlington National Cemetery. His wish to be buried in his favorite attire—the striped red and white trousers with the bootstrap, the starred vest and the blue tail coat, symbolic of "Uncle Sam"—was complied with. He always wore the long white hair and beard in keeping with the character he portrayed.

Funeral services began with requiem mass in St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Baltimore, and were attended by Company B, of the Twelfth Infantry, Fort Hoyle. Following the services, the body was escorted to Fort Myer, Va., where it was placed on an artillery caisson and carried to Arlington.

TOO MUCH ECONOMY HIT BY P.-T.A. HEADS

"Craze" Must Not Be Allowed to Affect Advantages of Child, View.

Carrying the "craze for economy" to the extent of depriving children of proper health and educational advantages is a possibility that must be sedulously opposed, members of the national executive committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers declared in speeches at a joint meeting with the District Congress of Parents and Teachers yesterday at the Wilson Teachers College.

Precautions against children seeing "the wrong kind of movies" is another important objective, heads of the national congress told the audience of several hundred parents and teachers.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford, of Sacramento, Calif., national president, presided.

Mrs. Joseph N. Saunders, president of the local congress, opened the meeting, and greetings from the public schools were brought by Stephen E. Kramer, first assistant superintendent of schools.

Warnings Sounded.

Miss Charl Williams, director of education for the national congress, sounded the warning against economy in education, and Mrs. Hermann Ferger, vice president of the national congress, voiced a similar warning in regard to health.

Mrs. Louis T. de Valliere, another vice president, stressed the importance of children seeing the right kind of movies. Through such precautions, juvenile delinquency could be minimized, she asserted.

Mrs. B. L. Langworthy, a vice president, spoke on the summer health roundup program. Mrs. F. M. Hosmer, a vice president, spoke on program activities. Home education was discussed by Mrs. B. C. Hopkins, a vice president.

Talks on Educational Trend.

Newell W. Edson spoke on the Child Welfare Magazine, while Joy Elmer Morgan, in discussing the "influence of the economy enthusiasts" declared that the trend of education in the States, whether it goes up or down, will be reflected in education in the Nation's Capital.

Others who spoke included Mrs. B. I. Elliott, national treasurer; Mrs. J. K. Pettingill, national secretary, and Mrs. J. Sherman Brown, third vice president. Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent of schools, and supervising principals were introduced.

The national executive committee is meeting here all this week. It recessed for two hours yesterday to attend the District Congress meeting.

Capper's Weapons Measure Favored

City Commissioners Back Bill to Control Guns Within District.

The District Commissioners yesterday reported favorably on the Capper bill "to control the possession, sale, transfer and use of pistols and other dangerous weapons" in the District.

"The bill has been gone into carefully with members of the Board of Trade, representatives of the office of the Corporation Counsel, and inspectors of the Police Department," the report stated. "All agree that the bill will serve the need felt for the control" of such dangerous weapons.

The Commissioners also reported that they would not oppose a measure to permit the construction, maintenance, and use of certain pipe lines by the Griffith-Consumers Co., for petroleum in the District.

DRIVE ON SALACIOUS MAGAZINES GAINING

Police Court Judge Sustains Arguments Against Six to Be Arraigned Today.

The campaign of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover to drive salacious magazines from the newsstands of the city was given impetus yesterday when Judge Gus H. Schuldt, in Police Court, sustained the arguments of Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh in the informations filed in six test cases and directed that the six defendants in test cases be arraigned today for a pleading.

With more than 130 defendants to be arraigned on a charge of selling, or of having in their possession, magazines of three different varieties that were deemed vulgar and indecent, Mr. Keogh chose six dealers as test cases, and the six, through their counsel, filed motions attacking the "information" papers that had been filed as the basis for the issuance of warrants against the dealers.

The information papers failed to charge the dealers with "scienter," or knowledge of the fact that the publications they were selling were violative of the police regulations.

Attorneys for the defendants asked Judge Schuldt to quash the papers because their clients were not charged with knowledge of the contents of the magazines, and the ruling of the judge affirmed the contention of Mr. Keogh that "knowledge" of the contents of the magazines did not have to be alleged in the charge.

The victory means that the dealers are to be charged for mere possession of the magazines. The six who were arbitrarily selected as test cases will be brought into court for a pleading today, and will be given jury trials one week from today.

The ruling of Judge Schuldt that the Government did not have to charge knowledge of the contents of the magazines was a sweeping victory. Many news dealers never see the contents of periodicals they sell, and they could not, therefore, be charged with knowingly selling them. Judge Schuldt held that the mere fact that the dealers had the magazines for sale was sufficient evidence upon which to base proceedings in Police Court.

All of the six defendants are expected today to demand jury trials and to plead not guilty.

Forced Testimony Bill Is Advanced

Senate Committee Votes on Measure for District Trial Boards.

Police and Fire Department trial boards would be empowered to compel testimony of witnesses by applying to the District Supreme Court for subpenas under a bill favorably voted on yesterday by Senator Robert D. Carey's police and fire subcommittee of the Senate District committee.

Under the present law both boards must apply to Police Court judges where witnesses refuse to attend. But the Police Court judges can only compel attendance, and have no authority to make witnesses testify or produce records.

Two House bills were introduced yesterday by Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, chairman of the House District committee. One authorizes appointment of a steam boiler inspector and staff for the District, and another would permit the Commissioners to settle claims of $500 and under. The House District committee will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and Friday afternoon the Senate District committee will open hearings on the Copeland bill for Sunday closing of barber shops.

CABMAN DESCRIBES POLICE BEATING AS DEFENSE PROTESTS

GOVERNMENT RESTS ITS CASE AGAINST ACCUSED

Unscheduled pyrotechnics accompanied the closing of the prosecution testimony in the trials of Policemen Charles R. Bremmerman and Hollis H. Clark yesterday in Justice F. D. Letts court.

David E. Beaver, colored taxicab operator, who testified that he was president of an organization that controlled 185 cabs, was called to the stand by the Government and launched into a recital of an alleged attack made upon him by Bremmerman in the basement of the Second Precinct station. Amidst a flurry of objections from James A. O'Shea and John H. Burnett, defense attorneys, his testimony got into the record.

Beaver said that he had been notified by Bremmerman to come to the station and once there he was struck in the side and verbally mistreated. When he said he felt sick, he claimed, Bremmerman retorted he didn't care if he died. Beaver was originally called to testify as to what he saw while in the station but he got out of hand and told of his own troubles.

Government Rests Case.

The witness said he was in the basement of the station when Thomas M. Williams and other colored boys were being beaten. He said he saw them standing on their toes with their arms pointing upward. Further, he testified, Bremmerman swore at a policeman who came into the basement with Beaver.

After the taxi operator, who said that he couldn't read and write very well, had finished, the Government attorneys, John R. Fitzpatrick and William A. Gallagher, rested their case. The defense immediately began laying the groundwork of its reply.

Only one other witness was called before court adjourned, and that was a station clerk, who identified various police record books showing the time of arrest of Williams, and tours of duty of Bremmerman and Clark, who are charged with beating Williams last summer.

Sent to Commissioners.

Eight alleged brutality cases involving twelve policemen, remnants of the Department of Justice investigation last fall, were turned over to the District Commissioners yesterday by Inspector E. W. Brown, acting superintendent of police, for examination.

Inspector Brown suggested in his report that the majority of the cases be turned over to the corporation counsel's office to determine whether or not charges should be preferred for action by the Police Trial Board. The inspector recommended that one case be dropped.

The eight cases on hand at the present time were culled from the 56 cases that the Department of Justice did not present to the grand jury because it was believed that they were in the nonindictable class.

Coat Gives Clew In Ilsley Murder

Garment Found in Woods Near Derwood, Md., Is Like Suspect's.

The ownership of an overcoat found yesterday by two young men in a patch of woods near Derwood, Md., was being traced last night by Washington police. The coat is said to answer the description of one worn by George Crawford, colored, former convict, wanted in connection with the murder of Mrs. Spencer Ilsley and her maid at Middleburg, Va., last Tuesday.

The young men were hunting in the woods when they came upon a man who was asleep beside a log and was using the overcoat for a covering. Hearing their approach, the man sprang up and ran away, leaving the overcoat.

The discovery was not reported to Montgomery County police, but to detective headquarters at Washington. Headquarters Detective Wilson was assigned to the running down of the latest clew. Montgomery County Police last night said they had not been asked to assist in making a search for the man.

Suicide Is Verdict In Death of Man

Coroner Joseph D. Rogers yesterday issued a certificate of suicide in the death of Frank Raymond Haldinger, 35, from illuminating gas in a rooming house at 211½ Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Haldinger left a note giving the names of relatives in New Jersey.

A certificate of accidental death was given in the death of Michael McGlynn, 40, 226 Massachusetts avenue. Investigation developed indications that a pot of water on a stove in the room in which McGlynn was found had boiled over, extinguishing the gas flame.

William J. Dixon, 32, 1465 Columbia road northwest, who was overcome by gas on Monday, was said at Casualty Hospital to be recovering.

Drivers Are Injured In Truck-Auto Crash

Drivers of a truck and an automobile were injured yesterday in a collision at Fourth and D streets northeast. Both were taken to Casualty Hospital for treatment.

E. W. Gill, 34 years old, of 427 Tenth street northeast, operating the automobile east on D street, suffered lacerations of the temple and abrasions of the side and arm. James P. Keyes, 20 years old, of Kensington, Md., driving the truck north on Fourth street, was lacerated about the thigh and scalp.

12 of 36 Enter Guilty Plea To U. S. Rum Plot Charges

Twelve of thirty-six men and women indicted here December 3 for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law appeared before Justice F. D. Letts in District Supreme Court yesterday, withdrew their pleas of not guilty, and entered pleas of guilty.

The twelve are Harry Zimberg, Abraham Zimberg, Joseph Zimberg, Mrs. Helen Zimberg, Mrs. Bernice Zimberg and Mrs. Connie Zimberg, Nick Macchiarella, Gus LeVigne, Louis Specter, Samuel Specter, Charles C. Maggio and Ellis Lee Morris. The Zimbergs are three brothers and their wives.

On motion of attorney Denny Hughes, representing nine of the twelve, Justice Letts ordered the cases referred to the probation officer for a report. He directed that Mr. Hughes confer with James R. Kirkland and Harold W. Orcutt, assistant United States attorneys, so that those of the twelve who are not eligible for probation because of previous offenses, will not be sent into the probation office for unnecessary work.

Twenty-four others indicted at the same time, still have pleas of not guilty entered for them. Their trials, because of the crowded docket and the illness of Justice James M. Proctor, will not come up for some time.

The conspiracy was the largest ever handled in a single indictment here. The work of Sergt. George Little, of the Police Department, and his aids, was mainly responsible for the rounding up of the group. Numerous raids, during which stills, automobiles, and much liquor was seized, led to the arrests and indictment.

2 Disbarred Lawyers Fight Confirmation of Justices

Appointment of F. Dickinson Letts and Daniel W. O'Donoghue to the District Supreme Court bench was vigorously opposed yesterday by two disbarred attorneys at hearings before Senator John J. Blaine's subcommittee of the Senate judiciary committee.

Edmond C. Fletcher, whose appeal from the District Supreme Court order disbarring him is now pending before the District Court of Appeals, opposed confirmation of Letts' appointment.

Justice Letts presided at disbarment proceedings brought against Fletcher last summer. The witness defended himself against the disbarment charges, which he declared were based on allegations of unprofessional conduct instead of actual malpractice. Challenging the scope of the order, he asked the committee not to confirm Letts' appointment.

John H. Adriaans, who objected to the part he alleged was taken by Justice O'Donoghue in disbarment proceedings against himself some years ago, appeared in opposition to O'Donoghue's appointment.

Defending qualifications of both appointees were members of the grievance committee of the District Bar Association, the Barristers Club and a delegation of attorneys, including David A. Pine, Bolitha J. Law, Richard Welford and Perry W. Howard.
